TALLINN—A CITY RUINED BY RED RULE AND WAR

Tribune Man Visits Estonian Capital.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Map on page 2.)

TALLINN, Estonia, Sept. 9 [Delayed].—THE TRIBUNE correspondent today was among the first group of foreign writers permitted to visit this capital. For 15 months it was in Russian hands. It was captured by the Germans in battles of Aug. 28 and 29. These were among the things I saw and discovered:

A city of 150,000 population with its entire merchant class exterminated.

Its industries ruined and the men who owned and operated them shot.

Its stores boarded up and empty of goods.

Its educated class decimated by mass deportation which separated husbands from wives and mothers from children.

One-third of its male inhabitants mobilized, regardless of class or occupation, and taken into soviet Russia.

Acquaintances Missing.

During my 21 years of watching Baltic developments I had made many acquaintances in Tallinn. So had some of the other correspondents in our group. We compared notes after a few hours of trying to locate old acquaintances. Ninety per cent of the people we jointly knew either had been executed or exiled.

Their fate is almost unbelievable, but it was the same as that of the classes destroyed during the soviet revolution. Sections of Tallinn frequently were cordoned by the police at night. House to house searches were made. Entire families were arrested. The men were loaded into one row of freight cars and the women in another. They were sent into Russia, generally the women to northern districts and the men to the south.

Wreckage in the Harbor.

As we approached Tallinn in a Finnish transport plane the pilot dipped near the water so we could see a large merchant ship with its bow sticking up 50 feet from the water. It was near where a minefield and a combined Finnish-German naval and air attack sank the greater part of the 76 warships and steamers which attempted to flee from Tallinn.

After landing we found that the great conflagration we had seen across the Gulf of Finland during the days of the battle was caused by burning harbor oil tanks, the shipbuilding yards, warehouses, electrical stations and mills.

The damage amounts to tens of millions of dollars, for all the harbor installations and the naval base, built by the czarist government and enlarged by the soviets, were razed.

Public Utilities Blasted.

The Russians dynamited the great modern filtering plant which furnished the city with water. Germans and Estonians restored the water supply in two days, but the water still has to be boiled. The great electric power plant was reduced by explosives to a heap of scraps. Tallinn has electricity today, but the Germans will not tell from where it comes.

The suburbs were shattered when soviet artillery, supplemented by coastal batteries and guns of the Baltic fleet, had an artillery duel with the Germans. The center of the city and the main residential part are not destroyed.

That is how this former prosperous, productive little capital of Estonia appears today. The remaining inhabitants have not lost their courage, but they must stand in long rows and wait for their daily rations of one pound of bread and one pint of milk.

The women, after 15 months of conforming to the soviet style of wearing berets and kerchiefs, suddenly brought out hats from hiding places.

Outside the city, along the Narva road to the east, many farm houses were shattered where they stood near the primitive, jagged defense line. The ditches contained much infantry equipment which the Russians had tossed aside.

The defense of Tallinn was bitter, a member of the German staff told us. He said that if we multiplied the number of captured Russians [15,000] by 1½ we would get the total casualties.

75,000 GERMANS FALL IN BATTLE, MOSCOW CLAIMS

German losses in the 26 day battle of Yelnya, 200 miles west of Moscow, today were estimated by the Russians at 75,000 to 80,000 killed or wounded. The Reds said another 4,000 were drowned attempting to retreat across a river. In a third area of counterattacks, a German infantry division was routed. The Russians said 31 German planes were shot down in attempts to raid Leningrad.

The Germans claimed dive bombers had destroyed a number of field fortifications blocking the German advance on Leningrad and said the city's waterworks received several direct hits. The Germans admitted, however, that Leningrad was putting up a bitter defense, and intimated that they would rely on bombs and shells in a siege to starve the city into surrender.

BLAZE ENGULFS BUILDING NEAR MICHIGAN AVE.

Warehouse Smoke Visible for Miles.

A spectacular fire swept a huge warehouse at 120 East South Water street, below the Michigan avenue bridge, soon after the rush hour last night. Thousands of spectators rushed to the river banks and vantage points in nearby skyscrapers to watch as flames burst from the windows and great clouds of smoke billowed skyward far above the tower of the neighboring 33 story 333 building.

The warehouse is owned by the Michigan Central railroad and used both by that company and the Universal Carloading and Distributing company, a subsidiary of the United States Freight company. Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan estimated the damage at between $200,000 and $250,000. Officials and employés of the carloading company, however, said the total damage might be much higher.

Nine Employés Escape.

The building, a brick structure four stories in height, sprawls for about 600 feet from a point near the river bank to East South Water street. Nine employés were in the building when the fire was discovered by two warehouse workers on the second floor.

"Flames came out of the elevator shaft," one said. "I just had time to say, 'Look,' and we ran down the stairs and the building went up like tinder."

The first alarm was sounded at 6:33 p. m., and before the fire was brought under control, 59 pieces of apparatus and about 350 firemen were rushed to the scene, including the fire boat Fred Busse.

The engines which arrived at the scene first were hampered by lack of hydrants and low pressure, and Chief Deputy Fire Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney said iron railings, intended to block public parking on warehouse property, had to be cut in some places to let the fire equipment thru.

Smoke Visible for Miles.

The climbing columns of smoke were visible for miles. They increased in volume until after the arrival of the Fred Busse, when water from the river was thrown into the fiercely blazing building. Many watchers thought the 333 building itself was on fire, as the smoke rolled up the east side of that building.

Windows of the skyscraper were broken by heat and water. Firemen ran hoses thru the upper corridors of the 333 and 323 North Michigan avenue buildings and poured water into the warehouse from office windows.

Howard W. Montgomery, terminal superintendent for the Universal company, said that a "conservative" estimate of the amount of freight destroyed in the portion of the building rented by his firm alone was $250,000 and that actually the loss was probably much higher. He said the Michigan Central also had a large quantity of freight destroyed.

Truck Trailers Burn.

Montgomery said that 35 truck trailers, many of them loaded, were burned at their loading docks. Merchandise destroyed, he said, ranged from clothing to armament equipment.

No one was hurt during the fire, and the only near casualty was a cat, rescued from a second floor window by Fireman Charles Ranker of Engine company No. 6 a few minutes before flames filled the window. The battery of searchlights which illuminate the Wrigley Building towers blazed atop the warehouse roof an hour and a half after the fire began, but finally went out. The Michigan avenue bridge, closed to auto traffic, was opened three times during the blaze for boats to pass.

Police Ban Churchgoers' Map as 'Aid to Enemy'

Priorities Put 200 Cleaning Plants in Peril

More than 200 small dry cleaning establishments in Chicago may be forced to close their doors within the next few months because of the government's corner on chlorine and chlorine products, a survey of the industry revealed yesterday.

Chlorine, the principal ingredient of synthetic cleaning solvents, is the lifeblood of the small cleaning shop. Every day the flow of chlorinated solvents to small neighborhood cleaners decreases as the war department buys huge stores of the chemical.

Fear Small Shop Doomed.

Unless the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply grants the cleaners a priority rating, the small cleaning shop is doomed, business leaders said yesterday.

Already the small retailer is feeling the shortage. He is forced to run his business with 50 per cent less solvent than before. He must farm out some of his garments to the large petroleum solvent plants, thus all but eliminating his small profit margin. If the trickle gets smaller, he must shut down entirely.

Chlorinated solvents, first marketed in 1928, revolutionized the cleaning industry. The small cleaner could buy a machine for as little as $1,600 [the largest sells for $8,500] and install it in any storeroom or building free from the usual industry fire hazards. Users of petroleum solvents, highly inflammable, must operate far from congested areas.

Compete with Big Firms.

The new machines enable the small cleaner to compete on an equal basis with the large petroleum solvent cleaners, but they become useless if the supply of chlorinated solvents is cut off.

"Not many of us can stay in business much longer," Albert Fisher, president of the Cleaners' guild of Chicago, said yesterday. "We can't make a profit if we act as a middleman and send the garments to the big petroleum solvent plants."

Lawrence Admire, secretary of the Cleaners' guild, predicted the chlorine shortage would bring an increase in retail cleaning prices.

The government uses chlorine in the manufacture of poison gas and high octane gasoline, and to make water safe in army camps.

ROOSEVELT SAID:

(Jan. 3, 1936)

"Peace is threatened by those who seek selfish power. The world has witnessed similar eras—as in the days when petty kings and feudal barons were changing the map of Europe every fortnight, or when great emperors and great kings were engaged in a mad scramble for colonial empire.

"We hope we are not again at the threshold of such an era. But if face it we must, then the United States and the rest of the Americas can play but one role:

"Thru a well ordered neutrality to do naught to encourage the contest, thru adequate defense to save ourselves from embroilment and attack, and thru example and all legitimate encouragement to persuade other nations to return to the ways of peace and good will."

F. D. R.-CHURCHILL 'CHARTER' FACES BRITISH STORMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Stormy weather for the Roosevelt-Churchill Atlantic charter [eight point agreement] was predicted today by Lieut. G. Grey, newly elected member of parliament for Berwick, at a council meeting of the Liberal party organization in London.

"When the war is over," he said, discussing signs of opposition, "the prime minister will need every ounce of support to put the charter into practice."

Sir Percy Harris said he had been amazed to hear that two prominent members of the house of commons were actively opposing a large part of the charter.

Altho Prime Minister Winston Churchill told commons yesterday the declaration did not qualify various statements of government policy regarding India, Burma, and other parts of the British empire, Lord Meston, presiding at the Liberal council meeting, said: "I do not think there is the slightest doubt that the charter is of universal application and if India is left out it would be futile."

The meeting unanimously passed a resolution welcoming the charter and pledging the full support of the Liberal party "in all measures which will enable the British commonwealth to achieve those ends."

Black Silk Hose Is 'the Thing' Today, We See

New York, Sept. 10 [Special].—Feminine notables of stage and society have sounded a new style note—black silk hosiery. Manufacturers expect more black sheer stockings will be sold this fall than in many years. They will be worn for informal as well as formal occasions.

Lillian Gish, one of the theater's first ladies, is among the first to anticipate the black silk fad. She has seen at first hand the effective use made of them on the stage and has made black silk an important part of her wardrobe.

Gloria Vanderbilt, heiress debutante and a current glamor girl, recently appeared in a striking sleek black dress set off by sheer black silk stockings.

Emphasized in Fall Styles.

These women and others agree that black hose, in keeping with the tendency to emphasize black shades and tones in other autumnal and winter styles, are one of the most pleasing aspects of the newest what-to-wear catalogs.

Manufacturers said this is the first time a definite demand for black has developed since volume production of the present two and three thread sheer hosiery began five years ago. The stockings will be mainly silk, with some popularity for nylon creations and the delicately designed mesh or fishnet cottons which have risen in favor because of the restrictions on silk imports from Japan.

A survey of fashion shops indicated that the scarcity of Japanese silk probably will not be a serious factor until after the first of next year. Use of cotton and rayon in tops and heels is expected to help in stretching available supplies of silk.

The Thing for Special Occasions.

"Very sheer, very high styled black hosiery seems to be the thing for special occasions," said a spokesman for a large department store. "Such stockings will be particularly popular at afternoon and evening formal and semiformal gatherings. Women with nice legs will probably take to the black sheers quickly.

"A new hosiery note this fall is the featuring of colors to make ensembles complete—dark hose being used with suits, dresses, shoes, hats, and handbags of like color."

War Oligarchy Rules Movies, Senate Is Told

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on back page.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] told a senate interstate commerce subcommittee today that motion pictures and radio are the two "most deadly and insidious" of all war propaganda agencies in the United States.

Both industries, he charged, are controled by a small oligarchy which exercises monopolistic power to inflict war propaganda upon audiences numbering 100 million or more persons a week.

Senator Clark was the second witness to testify in support of a resolution introduced by himself and Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], which calls for a senate investigation of war propaganda in motion pictures and radio. The subcommittee is conducting a preliminary investigation on the resolution.

Willkie Interrupts Hearing.

Today's hearing was interrupted again by frequent efforts of Wendell L. Willkie, counsel for the motion picture industry, to obtain the privilege of cross-examining witnesses. Congressional procedure does not provide for cross-examining of witnesses by outsiders. In moments between these insistent efforts Willkie busied himself laying down a barrage of "releases" upon newspaper reporters, reiterating his charge that proponents of the investigation are motivated by anti-Semitism and pro-Nazilism.

Willkie insisted that it was unfair and un-American for the subcommittee not to permit him to cross-examine witnesses. However, he made it quite plain that he himself had no intention of being cross-examined. When Chairman D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho] told him he could have all the time he wanted on the witness stand he did not reply.

It's a Disappointment.

Members of the subcommittee said they were disappointed. Among other things, they wanted to ask the 1940 Republican Presidential candidate what the film companies are paying him.

Variety, trade weekly of the theatrical and amusement world, reports in its current issue that Willkie will receive a fee of $100,000 as counsel for the movie industry.

"He turned down offers of larger fees from the radio industry, but that was probably for political reasons because of anti-administration angles," the Variety article added.

The committee also wished to question Willkie on the number of directorships he has accepted in munitions, financial, and marine insurance enterprises, and whether his testimony as a motion picture expert should receive any more consideration than his campaign pledges or his testimony as a military and naval expert.

Just "Campaign Oratory."

In testifying before the senate foreign relations committee on the lend-lease bill last Feb. 11 he repudiated his anti-war campaign pledges and his attacks on the Roosevelt foreign policy as so much "campaign oratory." At the same time he proposed turning over 5 to 10 destroyers a month to Britain, saying the United States soon would be turning out 15 to 20 a month. Records of the navy department disclosed that a total of 17—not quite 1½ a month—will be completed this year.

Both Chairman Clark and Senator Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] assured the

GIVE HENDERSON VAST POWERS IN CAPITAL SETUP

Rules Autos, Other Vital Industry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—The growing demands for an inventory of the country's complicated rearmament effort finally impelled the Supply Priorities and Allocations board tonight to order a complete survey of the nation's military and civilian requirements.

Donald M. Nelson.

SPAB, President Roosevelt's newest and most potent arms production unit, instructed its executive director, Donald M. Nelson, to compile the schedule. The board cited the need for one authority to solve the problems of shortages of materials and expansion of production facilities.

The far reaching action calls for a compilation of specific requirements of raw materials for both military and civilian uses as far in advance as possible. It follows the campaign which has been conducted by THE TRIBUNE to save small manufacturers and the jobs of their employés.

Linked to Other Developments.

The decision to take stock of the country's major problems topped off a series of developments during the day in connection with the arms program. Among them were the following:

1. Leon Henderson, price and civilian supply commissar, whose removal Representative Martin Dies demanded because of previous connections with communist front organizations, was given authority to dictate production quantities and allocation of materials for automotive and transportation equipment, paper and pulp, printing and publishing, lumber and building materials, plumbing and heating, electrical products and consumer's goods, industrial machinery and rubber products.

2. SPAB froze civilian plant capacity at present levels by barring them from expanding for the "duration of the emergency." The board ruled that plant expansions to increase productive capacity of civilian goods would hamper the nation's rearmament drive and must be sidetracked until the "emergency" is over.

3. A regulation promulgated by SPAB Director Nelson put teeth into priorities supervision by making preference ratings mandatory instead of voluntary.

4. Acting Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal created a new naval construction division in the undersecretary's office to expand subcontracting activities in order to speed production by using facilities of small plants which otherwise might be forced to close.

Two Goals in Survey.

The vast survey of rearmament needs, SPAB announced, will call for action on two levels. The first will be a detailed outline of both civilian and military needs, including procurement schedules for army, navy, and air force items, and goods sent abroad under lend-lease and economic warfare programs.

Parallel action calls for the breaking down of military production figures and statements of civilian requirements into schedules of the raw materials, labor, and machinery needed for their production.

"In calling for this long range, all inclusive survey of the nation's total needs under the defense program," a statement said, "SPAB followed the view that there must be one authority to develop the official requirement figures on both levels, holding that there would be confusion otherwise, because the several parts of the requirement picture must be developed by separate agencies."

Plastics Plant Forbidden.

The policy of freezing civilian plant capacity was put forward in denying a proposal by the Tennessee Eastman corporation of Kingsport, Tenn., to construct a plant for the manufacture of plastics. Altho the plant would provide plastics to replace strategic materials, the board held that the expansion process would require large amounts of critical materials.

The board announced that hundreds of similar applications are on hand and no single one properly

OSLO PATROLED BY NAZIS UNDER STATE OF SIEGE

All Radio Sets in Capital of Norway Seized.

OSLO, Norway, Sept. 10 (AP).—Steel-helmeted police patroled the streets of Oslo tonight as a state of civil siege decreed by Joseph Terboven, the German commissioner for Norway, was imposed on this German occupied capital and its environs.

Sweeping regulations which went into effect at 5 a. m. applied to Oslo and the Aker police district, including the localities of Aker and Berun.

A stringent curfew barred Norwegians from the streets between 8 p. m. and 5 a. m., forbade the sale of alcohol, banned dancing, shut down movies and theaters.

Take Over Radio Sets.

The decree compelled Norwegians in Oslo, Aker, and Berun to surrender their radio sets immediately, ordered all communications suspended nightly at 7:30, and restaurants closed at 7 o'clock, and prohibited gatherings in public places or the streets.

Authorities said no disorders were reported and that all was quiet in the city. Terboven's decree warned that any resistance would be crushed with weapons and that violators would face military trial.

The Oslo newspaper Aftenposten said the state of siege was imposed because of "irresponsible elements working among the people." The newspaper Frittfolk said "friends of England" had brought the order down on all classes.

Provide Death Penalty.

Like a previous edict invoked in certain Norwegian coastal areas Aug. 2 with the official explanation that the war had reached "a decisive stage for Norway," the new decree authorized German officials to conduct summary executions.

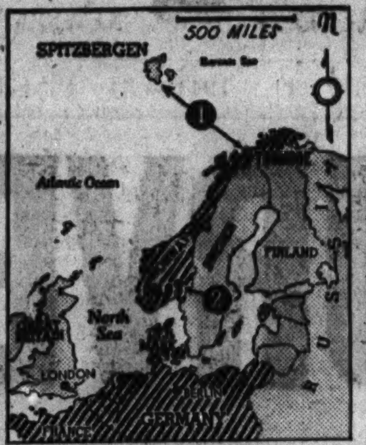
The previous decree made sharp the distinction between a civil state of siege—which is iron-clad rule by civil authorities—and a military state of siege which, in effect, is the status of all occupied regions.

[A British radio announcement of the decree said the Norwegian press reported "complete chaos" developing in the Norwegian civil service administration because of a German attempt to remove all anti-Nazis from office.]

British Ship Sank with All Hands, Say Berlin Reports

New York, Sept. 10 (AP).—Shipping sources today said Berlin advices reported the sinking of the 8,651 ton British motorship freighter Malaya II., with all hands. There was no indication where or how the 20 year old vessel was lost.

Norway in News



War action affecting Norway. 1. British reveal raid on Spitzbergen was aided by fake weather reports given by radio to German forces at Tromsoe. 2. Oslo, which was patroled by steel helmeted police after a state of siege was declared for the city by the German commissioner. Diagonally lined area is German occupied.

SAY RADIO RUSE KEPT NAZIS OUT OF SPITZBERGEN

British Tell How Trick Shields Raid.

LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP).—The Canadian-Norwegian-British expedition to Spitzbergen kept up constant wireless communication with German forces in Norway, sending false weather reports and information, and the Germans never discovered the deception until the raid was over, Canadians said today.

False messages to Tromsoe, Norway, told of misty, cloudy weather and zero ceiling to keep Nazi planes from making their regular flights to the islands, the Canadians said.

Several days after the radio stations were destroyed, frantic messages from the Nazis at Tromsoe were picked up by wireless men on one of the expedition's returning warships. The Nazis were trying to find out what had silenced Spitzbergen.

Tell of Bribing Nazis.

French soldiers and officers, 199 of them, brought here by the Spitzbergen expedition told thrilling stories of escapes from German prison camps, internment in Russia and removal to the Arctic islands, which was negotiated by the British embassy after Hitler attacked the soviet. Now they are off to a "Free French" training camp.

Their escapes from Germany, some said, were effected by making "arrangements" with their captors.

"Don't ask us how we got civilian clothes, and so forth," one added, "but remember that I say for French chocolate you can buy any Nazi conscience. We had chocolate—and some money."

1,800 Reds Also Evacuated.

What happened to 1,800 Russians withdrawn from Spitzbergen after the allied occupation went unanswered today. The soviet embassy spokesman here said he knew nothing of the present movements or whereabouts of the evacuated Russian colony.

[This was the first intimation that the Russian colony had been removed from the Norwegian arctic archipelago after Canadian led allied forces landed to destroy the productive coal mines and took most of the Norwegian population to England. It also supports advices reaching New York Tuesday that some French refugee soldiers found in the far northern islands had been taken to Russia rather than to England. However, there has been no official acknowledgment in London that Russian forces coöperated in the expedition.]

PAY OFF DRAFTEE TROOPS OVER 28 AT CAMP CALLAN

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 10 (AP).—Twenty-five conscripts, led by W. Houston Wolfe, 34, Atmore, Ala., butcher, lined up today at the Camp Callan finance office, their last stop in the army.

The 25 represented the first soldiers in the nation to be affected by last month's legislation permitting release of men over 28 years of age and those whose retention would work a hardship on dependents.

First in the payoff line was Wolfe, who was inducted June 4.

"I rented my shop out when the army got me, and I'm going back to take over again."

Most of the men said they hoped the army would not call them back.

TAYLOR, F. D. R.'S ENVOY, CONFERS WITH POPE PIUS

President's View of Reds Reported Explained.

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 10 (AP).—Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal emissary, began an important exchange of views between the President and the Vatican today in private audiences with Pope Pius XII. and Cardinal Luigi Maglione, papal secretary of state. There were indications that war and peace aims figured in the talks.

Myron C. Taylor.

The President's envoy was understood in circles usually well informed to have told the pope that in so far as Russia was concerned Mr. Roosevelt was more interested in the welfare of the world's peoples than in the form of government as such.

Briton Also Visits Pontiff.

The British minister, Sir Francis d'Arcy Godolphin Osborne, had an earlier private audience with the pope. The subject of the discussion was not disclosed.

The urgency of Taylor's mission was indicated when the pope received him within 24 hours after his arrival by plane. They talked alone for 1 hour and 10 minutes in the pontiff's private library.

Taylor declined to disclose what was said. From other sources, however, it was learned that "the welfare of the peoples of various countries" was the keynote of the talks.

Cardinal Halts Vacation.

Cardinal Maglione interrupted a vacation in southern Italy and returned to the Vatican to talk with Taylor. Their conference lasted more than two hours and was said to have been a general discussion of the war and the European situation.

The talks today were only the beginning. Taylor will see Cardinal Maglione again tomorrow and the pope next week. The President's envoy, who flew to Rome with his wife, intends to return to Washington, D. C., to report more fully to the President than he can by cable.

W-G-N Broadcasts Fire in Downtown Warehouse

Three broadcasts of the blaze which caused at least a half million dollars damage in the warehouse at 120 East South Water street were put on the air last night by station W-G-N while the fire was raging. The first, from the 11th floor of Tribune Tower, was from 7 to 7:15 o'clock. Quin Ryan described it during his 15 minute news show from 8:15 to 8:30, and the final roundup was given from 8:45 to 8:50, again from the 11th floor vantage point.

OUST NAZI ENVOY, ARGENTINE 'DIES' PROBE DEMANDS

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 10 (AP).—Expulsion of German Ambassador Edmund von Thermann was recommended today by Argentina's congressional "Dies committee" on the grounds that he had "overstepped his functions and abused his diplomatic privileges."

When the presentment of the committee investigating anti-Argentine activities was placed before the house of deputies a leading member of congress predicted privately that the house would vote tomorrow for Von Thermann's ouster.

The committee reported it had documentary proof that Von Thermann was directing Nazi political organizations in violation of Argentine law. The investigators earlier had decided to summon Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, Hitler's World war commander and former consul general at San Francisco, on his arrival in Buenos Aires on an unexplained mission.

Meanwhile, Wiedemann announced in Rio de Janeiro that he would remain there two or three weeks awaiting the arrival of his wife from Europe by boat.

75,000 GERMANS FALL IN 26 DAY BATTLE: MOSCOW

Claims 3 Prong Offensive Rolls Back Nazis.

MOSCOW, Sept. 11 [Thursday] (AP). —The Red army is rolling back the German lines with a three point counterattack on the central front and standing fast under fierce German fire at the approaches of Leningrad, Kiev, and Odessa, Russian front dispatches said early today.

German troops defeated in the battle of Yelnya, 40 miles east of Smolensk and 200 miles west of Moscow, are still in flight, abandoning their arms and munitions, soviet war correspondents said. They estimated the Germans lost 75,000 to 80,000 dead or wounded in the battle which reached a climax on Sept. 8 after 26 days of fighting.

In the Gomel area, midway between Kiev and Smolensk, the 29th German infantry division was said to have been routed, leaving thousands of dead on the battlefield.

Tell of Five Day Tank Battle.

The third prong of Red counter-assaults was said to have driven the Germans back across the river "N" after a five day tank battle.

[Another dispatch identified river "N" as the Dnieper and said Russians had reached Rjabcevo, only 12 miles from Smolensk.]

The battle of Yelnya was fought along a 38 mile front, the Russians said. The Germans concentrated their heaviest artillery fire of the war along both sides of a bottleneck thru which the German troops retreated from Yelnya.

The Red army, however, was said to have closed the gap, catching many Germans in a trap. It was believed these were a part of the eight divisions which the Russians said on Monday had been routed.

4,000 Germans Drown.

The army newspaper Red Star said in its report of the counterattack across the river "N" that "almost 4,000 German soldiers and officers found their graves in the waters of the river."

Several German divisions retreating across the river were said to have lost 238 tanks, 50 planes, 486 trucks, and 135 guns.

The morning communique told only of continuing fierce fighting along the entire front and of repeated German air attacks on Leningrad.

Some German bombers broke thru Leningrad's defenses on Tuesday and dropped explosive and incendiary bombs, but 31 planes were shot down, the communique said. On Monday 59 German planes compared to 27 Russian were shot down, it was added.

Kiev Schools Stay Open.

At Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, dispatches reported, schools all remained opened, theaters were crowded, and 60 per cent of the Kiev province wheat crop was stored.

The siege of Odessa went into its second month with sailors of the Black sea fleet reporting continued counterattacks against the Rumanian besiegers.

The publication Red Fleet reported that the Russian navy had successfully escorted a large convoy into port after an encounter with German bombers in "one of the greatest" air versus sea battles of the war.

[Three out of 10 Italian planes fighting their first air battle since arriving on the Russian front were reported brought down in the Dnieper river area of the southern front.]

FARLEY SEES NO CAUSE FOR WAR IN SHIP SINKINGS

San Pedro, Cal., Sept. 10 (AP).—Former Postmaster General James A. Farley returned from a Honolulu vacation today and remarked that recent United States ship sinkings are "not in my opinion sufficient cause for war."

"Ship operators and the public concur in this opinion," he went on. "People are cognizant of the danger in sending our ships with supplies to Britain; they expect to lose some ships."

The former Democratic national chairman added:

"You can ask me, 'Do you think Roosevelt is going to run for a fourth term?' and I will reply, '——, I didn't think he was going to run for a third term'."

LENINGRAD OUTER FORTS DESTROYED BY BOMBS—NAZIS

Report Direct Hits Made on Waterworks.

BERLIN, Sept. 11 [Thursday] (AP).—German military reports said today that a number of soviet field fortifications blocking the German advance on Leningrad had been destroyed in terrific dive bombing raids. The raids also were said to have silenced a number of soviet antiaircraft and artillery positions about Leningrad.

Leningrad's water works received several direct bomb hits and large fires resulted, the dispatches said.

The reports of intensified air force activity came as Germans described Leningrad as "still shooting from all barrels" in a red hot defense.

There were intimations that to avoid a costly storming operation the Nazi high command might try to starve, shell, and bomb the city to surrender.

Still Has Access to Lake.

Authorized sources acknowledged that Leningrad still had access to Lake Ladoga, but declared that the value of this route was diminishing rapidly and that all land approaches were cut off, with German forces within 15 miles of the city at the nearest point.

Dienst aus Deutschland, an authoritative commentary, asserted that there would be no unnecessary sacrifices of lives to gain a swift triumph.

"The fate of Leningrad, with 3,000,000 inhabitants and about 1,000,000 soviet troops encircled within it, undoubtedly will be considerably influenced by the food problem," Dienst stated.

A military spokesman said the Leningrad operations had trapped a number of Russian warships in the Baltic by blocking the Stalin canal route to the Arctic. He gave the strength of the soviet Baltic fleet as two battleships, six cruisers, 30 destroyers, 100 submarines, 50 minesweepers, 12 torpedo boats, and numerous minelayers and auxiliary vessels.

Repeated Raids on Odessa.

From the far southern front came reports of continuing air raids on besieged Odessa. Several thousand additional Russians have been taken prisoner, and German artillery has sunk a transport loaded with Russian troops on the lower Dnieper river east of Kherson.

On the central front DNB, the official news service, said the soviets supported by tanks attacked German positions 37 miles northeast of Smolensk thruout Monday and Tuesday but were routed "with bloody losses."

There was scanty news from the central area, but the Berlin radio quoted "competent quarters" as claiming capture of Vyazma, 90 miles east of Smolensk, 130 miles west of Moscow, and 60 miles northeast of Yelnya.

BERLIN PHONE LINKS WITH BUDAPEST ARE CUT MYSTERIOUSLY

BERLIN, Sept. 11 [Thursday]—(AP). —Budapest, capital of Hungary, was cut off by telephone from Berlin early today. Operators declared Budapest morning newspapers, which are continually manned, would not answer and that it also was impossible to contact the American legation.

German authorized sources said they knew of no startling political developments in Hungary.

The Associated Press bureau in Berne, Switzerland, also was unable to contact correspondents in Budapest and representatives of the Havas [French] news agency and of the New York Times had their connections severed while dictating stories relating to Regent Admiral Nicholas Horthy of Hungary.

RAP NAVY'S HUGE NEW FLYING BOAT AS 'EASY TARGET'

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10 (AP).—On the eve of initial tests of the navy's new mammoth flying boat, high-ranking naval flyers criticized the craft today as representing "too many eggs in one basket."

The plane, which weighs about 80 tons and rivals the army's new B-19 bomber, the world's largest land plane, is to be given its first tests at the Glenn Martin company plant at Baltimore, Md., tomorrow.

Behind a cloak of secrecy which even prevented many of the company's employés from seeing it, the plane is understood to incorporate a number of revolutionary developments. Strictly an experimental model, it has not been accepted by the navy and some informed sources expressed doubt that it would be.

Critics of the big ship said that its size so limits its speed that it would be an easy target for fighter planes, and that escort planes do not have sufficient range to accompany it and protect it.

ALLIES TO SPEED 275 'DANGEROUS' NAZIS FROM IRAN

British Will Send 225 to Camps in India.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Iran, Sept. 10.—The British and Russian governments moved swiftly today to remove from Iran [Persia] the first Germans who will be interned under the allied peace treaty with Iran.

Embassy representatives presented to four agents of Iran a list of 275 German men "dangerous" to allied interests here. The British list included 225 names.

The Germans will be rounded up by Iranian police and turned over to the British, who will send them by special train to Ahwaz, near the Persian gulf, probably tomorrow night. From there they will be sent to internment camps in India.

Fifty on Reds' List.

The Reds asked for 50 Germans, alleged heads of a fifth column, who will be sent to Kazvin and presumably from there to Russia. The demanded men were those named in leaflets the Russians dropped during the invasion.

[Another Teheran dispatch said the German legation declared the men probably will be executed by the Reds.]

The British will decide what to do with the remainder of the Germans.

[Nine hundred Germans, including 300 women and 100 children, were reported in another dispatch to be in the German legation compound at Teheran. Most of the 2,000 Germans in Iran, it was said, were believed to have been trapped in the Russian occupied zone and probably have been sent to Siberia.]

London to Rule on Women.

The British are awaiting instructions from London concerning the German women and children. Some Germans, including Jews, will be permitted to remain, British circles said.

Allied and Iranian representatives discussed an allied demand that the Germans and other axis missions be deprived of the right to send code messages pending the closing of their legations. Axis journalists also will be denied telegraph privileges.

Allied diplomats are interested in the Iranian crown jewels, which were taken to Kerman, in southeastern Iran during hostilities. The jewels are security for an Iran note issue and the allies want them well guarded.

Bare Appeal to Roosevelt.

Riza Khan Pahlevi, the shah, appealed to President Roosevelt to bring about a cessation of the hostilities the day the British and Russians invaded Iran, it was revealed.

Mr. Roosevelt's reply stated that the United States was watching the situation with interest and that he hoped a satisfactory solution would soon be found.

The shah personally thanked the United States minister, Louis G. Dreyfus Jr., for the President's message and assured the United States of Iran's friendship.

It was revealed that Iran found it more difficult to come to terms with the Russians than with the British. The Russians refused to pay for lives and property lost in the invasion, while Britain agreed to consider the request. The Russians also declined to try to minimize its army's contact with the Iranians, and some Teheran quarters saw in this a threat to propagandize the occupied zone.

Iran agreed to further development of fishing in the Caspian sea, to exploration for oil near Khorian, and to facilitate the passage of war supplies over her railways.

The invaders agreed to pay the costs of occupation.

Envoy Biddle Injured Watching Dutch War Games

LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP).—Anthony J. Biddle, United States ambassador to the governments in exile here, was struck in the left hand by "a splinter" today while watching maneuvers of the Royal Netherlands army, the British Broadcasting corporation said. No further explanation was given.

NORTHERN ITALY GETS FIRST RAF BOMBS IN 8 MOS.

LONDON, Sept. 11 [Thursday] (AP).—Royal air force bombers attacked tarkets in northern Italy during the night, authorized British agencies said today.

This marked the first operation against Italy by bombers direct from Britain since the night of Jan. 12-13, when Turin was bombed for the 15th time.

Turin and other northern Italian industrial centers which were attacked last winter by the RAF are about the same distance from airdromes in Britain as Berlin—roughly 1,200 miles for the round trip.

[Geneva, Switzerland, heard airplane engines overhead three times during the night.]

Turin, Genoa, Milan, and Marghera, near Venice, were bombed in last winter's operations.

Corinth Canal Bombed.

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 10 (AP).—British air raids on axis-conquered Greece and the island of Crete were reported by the RAF middle east headquarters today. Considerable damage was caused Monday night on both banks of the Corinth hotel. The Candia airport on German held Crete was bombed.

Nazis Bomb Suez Airport.

BERLIN, Sept. 10 (AP).—The airport at Ismailia, on the Suez canal, was bombed with several tons of explosives and hundreds of incendiaries last night by the German air force, DNB, official German news agency, reported tonight.

LA GUARDIA TALKS AT 'DEFENSE DAY' PRO-WAR RALLY

Devotes Much Time to Attacking Tribune.

What had been advertised as a loyalty defense meeting was attended by approximately 12,000 persons in the main hall of the Coliseum last night.

Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, who also is national director of the office of civilian defense, made the chief address, devoting many of his remarks to attacks upon THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. These attacks caused La Guardia to prolong his speech beyond the half hour which the program allotted him.

The New York interventionist leader demanded that the thousands of millions of dollars worth of goods going to England be delivered on British docks by America. Any one who favors the gifts remaining on an f. o. b. New York basis is a friend of the Boche, he said. La Guardia insisted Hitler must be "destroyed" and said he used the word with complete authority of the government.

Mayor Kelly Presides.

Mayor Kelly, who presided at the meeting, said those assembled were not there as racial, religious, or political groups. At the same time, he appealed to them not to be "half over there and half over here" in their sympathy for European nations.

Maj. Gen. J. M. Cummins, commandant of the 6th corps area, brought loud applause when he said the nation is not building an army for war or aggression. He said the present national plan is to create a force that will cause aggressors to pause and reflect before violating any American rights. But time is limited, he added.

Rear Admiral John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district was represented by Capt. E. A. Lofquist, chief of staff, who expressed gratitude that the people are willing to pay the high price of having a great navy.

Byrd Pleads Illness.

Gov. Dwight Green was represented by Murray M. Baker, vice chairman of the state council on national defense, who described the activities of this body in coördinating the program thruout the state. He said preparedness is the keynote as it was in the critical times of 24 years ago.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, a scheduled speaker, sent word that he could not come because of illness. Miriam Hopkins, movie actress, did not appear, but the stage was represented by the actor, Burgess Meredith.

The presence of Hollywood stars and the two bands and chorus girls had been advertised for a week before the meeting.

Other attractions were a 100 piece navy band, a 50 piece union band, which Mayor Kelly "persuaded" James Petrillo, head of the Musicians union, to donate, and a bevy of chorus girls. The 18 girls strutted up and down specially built stairs on the platform, concluding their act by seizing hold of stripes of cloth and unrolling them to form the American flag.

Ordered to Get Crowd.

Many thousands of tickets for the event were not used. Democratic ward committeemen said "the city hall" had given each of them 400 tickets—a total of 20,000—with orders to hold ward meetings and tell precinct captains to distribute them. Some did, others balked.

Large blocks of tickets went to such "war now" organizations as the Fight for Freedom committee. Several CIO unions with members employed in defense industries arranged motorcades to bring them to the hall en masse.

Communists were prominent on the scene, selling the Daily Worker and other publications. Several nationality group organizations had called upon all members to attend, and drums with the lettering of nationalistic groups on them accompanied a parade of flags to the stage. A sizable cluster of Chinese entered the hall in a body.

Photographers Chased.

La Guardia, who has had two New York newspaper reporters fired because he didn't like their writing, ordered news photographers off the stage before he began to speak.

"I like Chicago, I like the stockyards, the loop, the parks, the people," he said. "There's only one thing you need—that's a real, truthful, sincere, morning newspaper. And I am hopeful that you are going to get one before long."

La Guardia Speaks

Three speaking poses of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York as he addressed a meeting in the Coliseum last night that was described as a loyalty defense rally.

NORMAN THOMAS AND ALD. DOUGLAS ARGUE WAR ISSUE

An audience of 400 persons listened last night in Orchestra hall to a debate between Norman Thomas, perennial Socialist party candidate for President, and Ald. Paul Douglas [5th], a University of Chicago professor. The topic was: "Resolved that the United States should do whatever is necessary to defeat Hitler." The debate was sponsored by the Chicago Institute for Public Debate.

Ald. Douglas termed Great Britain "our first line of defense"—a phrase which was booed—and added that whatever her faults Great Britain, next to this country, "is far and away the most decent country in the world." He urged also that American ships should fire on any submarine that fires at the American flag, and said we should not put too much faith in Russia, which might sign a peace treaty without warning. Communists in this country he termed "political and moral lepers."

Thomas said doing everything necessary to beat Hitler means war and that war means possible dictatorship here and certain chaos since, he said, 80 per cent of the people oppose war. True democracy, he said, calls for a referendum before war is declared.

Berlin Silent on Sinking of U. S. Operated Ship

Seven army planes returned to McChord field air base just in time to miss a terrific thunderstorm. Land parties also returned from the Cascade mountain area east of Seattle.

Nothing was sighted and no reports found on the bomber which vanished yesterday morning while on a routine training flight.

BAPTISTS DECRY TREATMENT OF NEGRO SOLDIERS

Draft Resolution Asking for Peace Move.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 10 [Special].—A resolution calling on the United States to "lead the way to world peace" is under preparation for submission to the 61st annual national Baptist convention which opened today. The resolution will come before the session Saturday.

Gathered here for the meeting are nearly 7,000 delegates and visitors representing 4,000,000 Negro Baptist church members.

Other resolutions will ask the delegates to:

Urge the establishment of training camps for Negro officers.

Get behind the movement for the employment of a greater number of Negroes in rearmament industries.

Discrimination Is Charged.

Call upon the government to halt the discrimination against Negro conscripts and other soldiers in southern training camps.

Announcement of the proposed resolutions was made by Dr. D. V. Jemison, who is considered almost certain to be reëlected president of the convention which is being held in Cleveland's public hall.

T. O. Fuller, last Negro to be elected to the North Carolina senate and one of the outstanding convention leaders, was named by Dr. Jemison to frame the peace resolution.

For "Honorable Peace."

"In my resolution," Fuller said, "I shall call for an honorable peace based on the principles of justice, democracy, and the self determination of all peoples. Peace is essential to the spread of the Christian religion, but we can only urge a peace that will be in keeping with the ideals of the democracies."

Each of the resolutions Fuller added, will be presented to the resolutions committee, shortly to be appointed.

ARMY EXPECTS 236 TO DIE IN FALL WAR GAMES

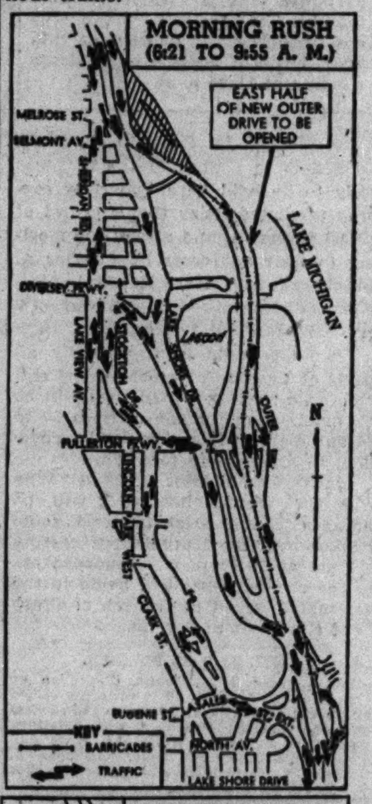
Washington, D. C., Sept. 10 [Special].—The war department expects more than 70,000 casualties in war maneuvers this fall. The department estimated that 236 men will be killed or die of disease, and some 70,000 will be casualties of one sort or another in the maneuvers involving 752,000 troops.

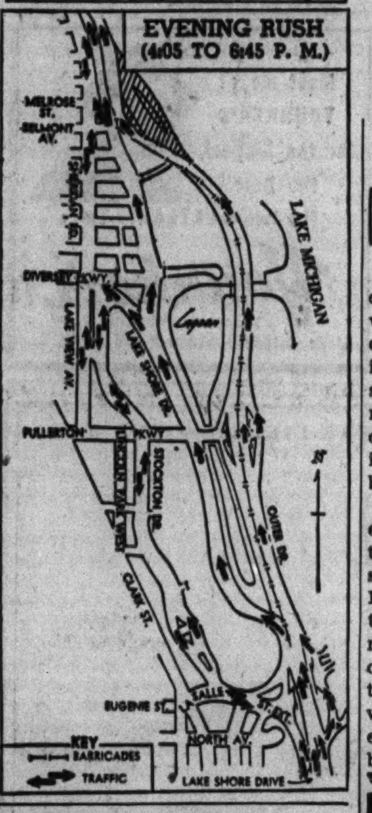
The estimates were made by Maj. Gen. James C. Magee, surgeon general of the army.

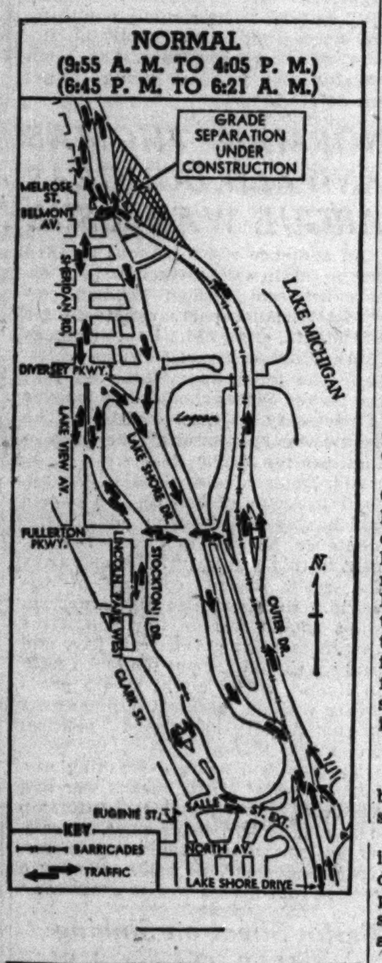
"Despite the rigors of field maneuvers this fall, it is anticipated that the accident and death rate will be considerably lower than corresponding rates for civilians," the war department said.

New Traffic Scheme for Lincoln Park

Traffic scheme for drives in Lincoln park and the streets in that vicinity that goes into effect today when the eastern half of the outer drive between Fullerton avenue and Belmont avenue is opened to traffic. Maps show schemes for normal, morning rush hour, and evening rush hour traffic.







Partially Complete

A new section of the north side outer drive, between Fullerton parkway and Belmont avenue, will be opened to traffic this morning. Pending completion this year of a grade separation at Belmont avenue, the new section will be used by traffic in one direction only, south bound during morning rush hours and north bound at all other times.

This development is expected to end the serious congestion encountered by counter rush movements for several months in being detoured to Broadway, Sheridan road, and Stockton drive, the innermost drive, and are reverting to two way operation thruout the 24 hours. Lake Shore drive, the middle drive thru Lincoln park, will serve north bound traffic during evening rush and will serve south bound traffic at all other times.

COURT UPSETS HANDBILL LAW; STRIKER FREED

A city ordinance limiting the size of handbills to 4½x6 inches was held unconstitutional yesterday by Judge Cecil Smith in Municipal court. The judge dismissed charges against William Rogers, 23 years old, colored, 6026 St. Lawrence avenue, a member of the Porters' union, who was arrested Tuesday for passing out strike handbills 7x7 inches in size.

Members of the union, which is affiliated with the Building Service Employé' International [AFL] are on strike for higher wages and shorter hours at the Walgreen company stores. Daniel D. Carmell, attorney for the union, argued that the handbill ordinance abridged the right of free speech.

Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes agreed with Judge Smith's decision. He said the police have no rights to make arrests under the ordinance, regardless of the size of the handbill, if the writing thereon expresses a political, social, or economic view.

PROBE SOLDIER'S DEATH AT HANDS OF POLICE VISITOR

Judge Denounces Act in Charging Grand Jury.

Mount Holly, N. J., Sept. 10 [Special].—Investigation of the fatal shooting of Private Theodore Mazur, who was killed Aug. 22 by a civilian police officer on vacation after Mazur's escape from the guardhouse at Fort Dix, was launched today by the Burlington county grand jury after hearing a scathing review of the case from Judge Joseph B. Persakie of the county Supreme court.

Mazur, a 23 year old National Guardsman, had fled from the disciplinary barracks at the fort, with six other soldiers. John McHugh, a policeman from Lansdowne, Pa., joined military police in the chase. Near Browns Mills, McHugh encountered three of the fugitives. He captured two of them, but the third—Mazur—fled into the underbrush. McHugh fired three shots. Next morning searchers found the body of Mazur in a thicket, shot thru the heart.

Killer Free on Bail.

McHugh is at liberty under $1,000 bond, charged with involuntary manslaughter.

The case has attracted widespread interest because it poses the unprecedented question of whether a civilian police officer has the legal right to shoot a soldier wanted by military authorities for desertion.

Judge Persakie today ordered the grand jury to conduct a thoro inquiry into all angles of the case, and denounced the Pennsylvania policeman for the killing in New Jersey.

"You are not concerned whether Mazur was right or wrong in being where he was on that day," Persakie informed the jury. "This carrying of guns and shootings by private citizens must stop. It is serious enough when our sons are called into the service of their country. We do not send them away from home to be shot down by private citizens."

Prosecutor Mum on Problem.

County Prosecutor Daniel Lichtenthal has refused to express any legal opinion, leaving it to the grand jury whether an indictment should be returned.

A military investigation of the shooting has been concluded by a board of Fort Dix officers headed by Maj. William A. Sexton. Its findings have been forwarded to headquarters of the 1st army. This report has not been made public.

SEEK TO PERFECT TROOP-AIR FORCE COMMUNICATIONS

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

Winnfield, La., Sept. 10.—Maj. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commander of the 2d army air task force, today gave an outline of the part the air corps will take in the approaching maneuvers of the combined 2d and 3d armies.

Approximately 375 of the newest type planes will be used by the 2d army, and the 3d army will have still more. An objective of the exercises will be to improve communications, particularly between ground and air forces.

"Direct communication from front line to air force has not been perfected in the American army," commented Gen. Harmon. "A request for air support now has to be relayed thru various headquarters, a system not as good as that of the Germans. We propose during the exercises to exert maximum effort to improve our technique in this department."

PRESIDENT GETS BULK OF ESTATE LEFT BY MOTHER

Trust Funds Bequeathed to Roosevelt Children.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 10 [Special].—President Roosevelt will receive the bulk of the fortune left by his mother, Sara Delano Roosevelt, under the terms of her will filed today for probate in the office of Surrogate Daniel J. Gleason.

The will, filed four days after the elder Mrs. Roosevelt's death, was admitted to probate within a few hours after filing.

Only formal listings of the valuation of the estate at "more than $5,000 in personal property" and "more than $5,000 in real estate" were included in the proceedings, but Mrs. Sara Roosevelt, widow of James Roosevelt, who died 40 years ago, reputedly was a woman of considerable wealth. She inherited more than a quarter of a million dollars from her husband, and reputedly was wealthy in her own right.

Under the will of his father [James Roosevelt] the President inherited the 900 acre historic old farm estate at Hyde Park "forever," at the death of his mother.

Adjacent to President's Property.

Mrs. Roosevelt's extensive property adjoins the more than 1,000 acres of property which the President has been acquiring for a number of years in the Hyde Park area.

Mrs. Roosevelt bequeathed $5,000 to St. James' church at Hyde Park, directing that the money go into a trust fund, the income to be used for repairing and improving the church.

She directed that one-tenth of the residue of her estate be set aside for division into six trust funds, each for one-sixtieth of the estate which she bequeathed to Mrs. Anne Eleanor Roosevelt, the President's wife, and to each of her five grandchildren, the children of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Provision for Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt.

The will provides the trust fund established for the President's wife shall remain in trust until her death, the income to be paid to the beneficiary quarterly. At the death of the President's wife the fund will pass to the President, or in the event of his prior death, to their children.

Mrs. Sara Roosevelt directed that each of her five grandchildren should receive the accumulated income from his or her trust fund when he or she becomes 21 years of age, and that the beneficiary receive the income thereafter until age 30. She specified that at the age of 30, each of the grandchildren should receive his one-sixtieth share of the estate.

Three Get Shares Now.

Trusts for three of the President's children, Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, James Roosevelt, and Elliott Roosevelt, become payable as to the principal and income immediately. Trust funds for Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and John A. Roosevelt, youngest children of the President, each of whom is still under 30 years of age, will be established and administered until they become 30 years old.

In a concluding paragraph Mrs. Roosevelt bequeathed the entire residue of nine-tenths of the estate "outright" to her son, the President. The President is listed as the only heir at law in the probate proceedings.

Mrs. Roosevelt's will was dated Sept. 20, 1928, and witnessed by Henry T. Hackett, attorney of record, and Ralph R. Butts, former mayor of Poughkeepsie.

ORDERS DAIRY HEAD TO PAY WIFE PENDING DIVORCE SETTLEMENT

Mrs. Suzanne Geiss.

Frederic Geiss, 50 years old, president of the Cremix corporation, ice cream manufacturers, and of the Forest Milk company, a dairy, was ordered yesterday to pay his estranged wife, Suzanne, $300 by next Tuesday. At that time Judge Joseph Sabath will consider a report by Master in Chancery Henry Burman recommending that Geiss pay $250 a month as alimony and support for his daughter, Beverly, 1 year old.

Geiss is now ill in West Suburban hospital and Mrs. Geiss said she faced eviction from her home at 506 South Austin boulevard, Oak Park, unless she received funds before next week's hearing. Her attorney, Samuel A. Rinella, said that Geiss' companies have assets of more than $500,000 and that Geiss earns $35,000 a year. Mrs. Geiss, who is 36, has a divorce suit pending, charging cruelty.

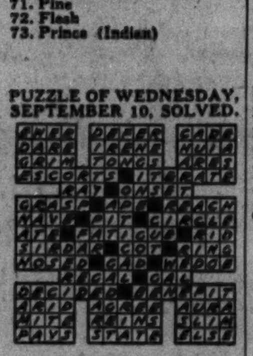
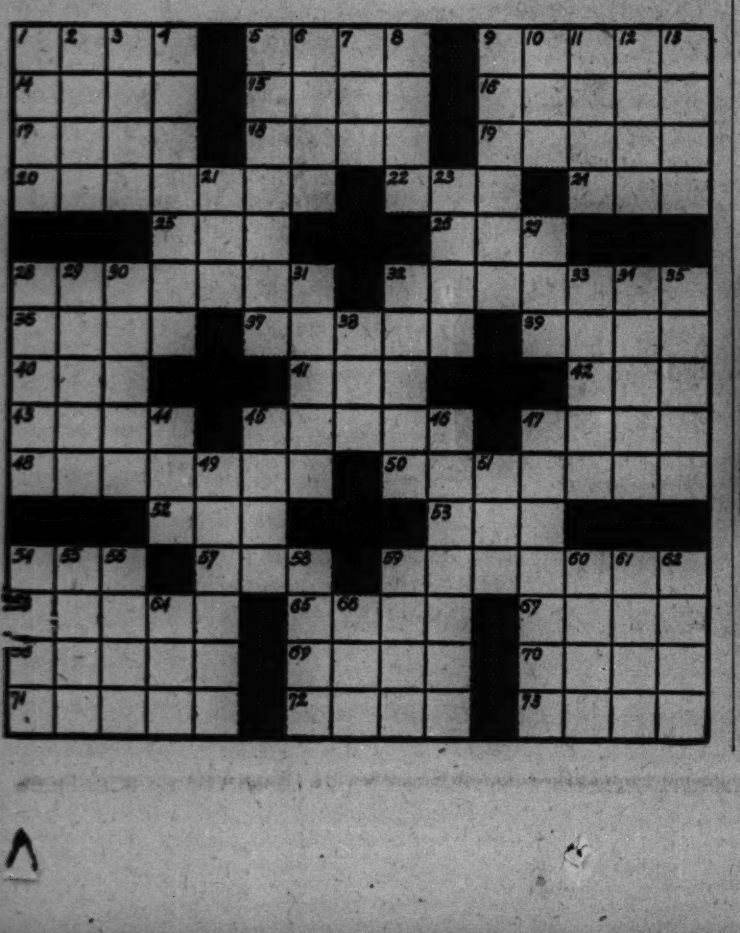
PUZZLE OF WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, SOLVED.





MOVIES BRANDED DEADLY WEAPON OF PROPAGANDA

Rule by "Oligarchy" Told at Senate Inquiry.

motion picture representatives that they would have an opportunity to present any number of witnesses. It was explained, however, that, in keeping with congressional practice, the committee and not Willkie would ask the questions.

Scriptures Cited.

Answering Senator Ernest W. McFarland's argument that there is nothing to investigate, Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] quoted Scripture: "He that doeth evil feareth the light."

Senator Clark, a World war officer with a distinguished combat record, mentioned briefly his fight against the Ku Klux Klan in Missouri. He said he would waste no more time refuting "such utterly insincere and ungrounded charges" as those made by Willkie about anti-Semitism.

It is equally insincere and impudent, Senator Clark said, for Willkie and the other motion picture representatives to come here with their pious professions of solicitude for the constitution and freedom of expression.

"When the Oklahoma City council refuses to allow Senator Wheeler and Charles Lindbergh to talk in the city auditorium because it doesn't agree with them, that is an outrageous performance," Senator Clark said.

"I must say it is something new in this country to have the owners of halls closing their doors to American citizens with whom they do not agree. I do not want to minimize the gravity of this phenomenon in which men who have the brass to talk about bringing freedom of speech to Russia, China, Japan, Germany, and Addis Ababa think they can do it by closing the halls of America to distinguished American citizens who want to stay out of this war.

Power to Bar on Radio.

"But, bad as that is—damnable as it is—the aggrieved victim of these repressions can usually find a hall some place else or go on the street corners and talk. But when a few men can get possession of the radio and the moving picture and shut me off from that vast audience, while opening it up to the man who opposes me in public life, how can that man be so foolish as to say there is freedom of speech?

"There are 17,000 moving picture theaters in the United States. They do not belong to a handful of men, of course, but the pictures that appear on the screens of those theaters are produced by a handful of men and that handful of men can open or close those 17,000 theaters to ideas at their own sweet will.

"At the present time they have opened those 17,000 theaters to the idea of war, to the glorification of war, to the glorification of England's imperialism, to the creation of hatred of the people of Germany and now of France, to the hatred of those in America who disagree with them. Does any one see a pictorial representation of life in Russia under 'Bloody Joe' Stalin? They do not. In other words, they are turning these 17,000 theaters into 17,000 daily and nightly massmeetings for war.

"Even tho the New York Times and the New York Herald-Tribune may be in favor of getting the country into war, nevertheless, if some of our leading anti-war speakers address crowds in New York, the New York Times and the New York Herald-Tribune will sometimes print their speeches," he said.

Air 'Hot With Propaganda.'

The radio stations, Senator Clark said, usually give equal time to pro-war and anti-war speakers, but "the great radio chains keep the air hot with propaganda for war in their sponsored programs and their sustaining programs almost every hour of the day."

In the motion pictures, he said, "we [the anti-war side] do not get a foot of film or a syllable of sound anywhere, any day, in any of the 17,000 theaters in this country."

"That," he continued, "is because the moving picture industry is a monopoly controled by half a dozen men and because those men are dominated by hatreds and are determined, in order to wreak vengeance on Adolf Hitler, a ferocious beast, to plunge this nation into war on behalf of another ferocious beast [Josef Stalin]."

Eight Companies Named.

Clark identified the eight major picture companies which, he said, dominate the industry from the inception of an idea for a film to its showing on a screen, as Paramount, Loew's, Inc. [dominating Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer], R. K. O., Warner Bros., 20th Century-Fox, Columbia Pictures, Universal Pictures, and United Artists.

"Up near the top of the list" of the men responsible for war propaganda in motion pictures Clark put "the men who control Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer company."

"They are the men," he said, "who control Loew's, Inc., which is headed by Nicholas Schenck in New York, who have made one propaganda film after another to rouse the hatreds of the people of America. Next to them I will put Warner Brothers, who probably have made more of these hate producing films than any other company in America. Next to them I will put 20th Century-Fox of which Joseph M. Schenck was chairman until he was sent to the penitentiary, and of which Mr. Darryl Zanuck is now head.

[Senator Clark accepted a "correction" of the record when Wendell Willkie made the objection that Schenck is not in the penitentiary but is free on bond pending an appeal following his sentence for income tax fraud. Clark smilingly said he meant to say "sentenced" instead of "sent."]

Controlled by Two Aliens.

"I should say, next to them, tho some might dispute their claim to this distinction, is the United Artists, which Alexander Korda now heads—a Hungarian who is a British subject and which company is dominated by two British subjects—Alexander Korda and Charlie Chaplin, who has lived in this country for 30 years and made a great fortune here, and never has thought well enough of the United States to become a citizen.

"Both of them are using the instruments of the screen which they have in their possession to poison the minds of the American people to go to war for their respective native countries. And high on the list, of course, must go the March of Time and the men who control that, chiefly Henry Luce who dominates that and a group of publications which are plugging not merely for American entry into the war, but for American abdication of her independence to form a union with Great Britain."

New York, Sept. 10 [Special].—Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.], today was in New York making a war propaganda movie. The movie is a two-reeler entitled "Victory from the West."

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 10 [Special].—Barbara Golding, 18 years old, a blonde from Houston, Tex., walked into 20th Century-Fox studio today wearing a big square cut diamond she said was given her by John Kimbrough, the football player. Miss Golding arrived today for a week's visit with Kimbrough, who is here to make a picture, and other friends. She plans to return Sunday to Houston, then go to New York to start her sophomore year at Marymount college, Tarrytown. She said no date had been set for the wedding, but intimated it might be about Christmas time.

could be granted until it is known how much of a drain on scarce materials would be involved in granting all of them.

The order marked the second time in two days that the board, which was created only 10 days ago, has denied expansion plans. The board yesterday refused the request of a group of oil companies for materials to build a 1,500 mile pipeline from east Texas to New York.

Nelson's order on mandatory preference ratings was made in an effort to strengthen enforcement of government priority rules and regulations. Mandatory priority orders have been issued before on some government purchases, but the ratings issued for civilian contracts, for foreign governments, and for some other United States governmental contracts were based on the voluntary coöperation of the persons concerned.

Henderson's added authority gives him complete victory over William S. Knudsen, director general of the Office of Production Management, concerning automobile production.

A dispute recently arose when Knudsen recommended a gradual cut in output and Henderson wanted a flat 50 per cent reduction effective Nov. 1. An initial cut of 26⅛ per cent has been instituted for the four months beginning with August. From now on, Henderson alone will make the recommendations.

Henderson established ceiling prices for all types of Douglas fir lumber, leaving common grades unchanged, but reducing higher grades by an average of $10 for each thousand board feet. Prices of the latter for "ship decking, flooring, and box car materials have reached exhorbitant levels," he said.

EIGHT MEN WANT JOB AS LEGION'S NEW COMMANDER

Milwaukee Receives More Convention Guests.

BY THOMAS MORROW.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 10.—Names of eight candidates for the post of national commander of the American Legion were made public today as the vanguard of the great body of Legionnaires continued to drift into Milwaukee for the opening of the convention on Monday. The candidates follow:

Paul G. Armstrong, Chicago paper company executive, selective service director for Illinois and past Illinois state commander of the Legion.

Lynn U. Stambaugh, attorney, Fargo, N. D.

Edward N. Scheiberling, attorney, Albany, N. Y.

Raymond Fields, newspaper publisher, Guthrie, Okla.

Roane Waring, attorney, Memphis, Tenn.

Warren H. Atherton, attorney, Stockton, Cal.

Jack Crowley, attorney, Rutland, Vt.

Charles W. Crush, attorney, Christiansburg, Va.

Stand on War Unknown.

Early arrivals in Milwaukee were not aware of the stand these candidates will take upon the most important question expected to confront the Legion convention—that of this country's policy toward the European war.

Opponents of a strong prowar resolution by the Legion awaited eagerly the arrival of the New York delegation. This department, which has 104 votes on the convention floor, is on record as against any aid to Russia.

Milo F. Warner, national commander of the Legion, reiterated his statement that the convention will be free and open. He said all delegates will have a chance to speak. State Senator Nicholas Hubbard of Illinois had charged that administration pay roll money had been used for the purpose of helping to railroad a strong prowar resolution thru the convention.

Increase in Membership.

"I am here to be presiding officer and see that the Legion rules are enforced," Warner said. "I would like to call your attention to the fact that our first increase in membership came after the mission to England to study war conditions."

At the same time Warner asserted that he favors protection of American shipping "wherever our government feels our ships should be sent." He denied that the resolution to this effect passed by the executive committee in Indianapolis last May 2 was dictated by Legion "higher ups." He said the sentiment expressed in the resolution came from the rank and file.

Communists May Demonstrate.

Lansing Hoyt, chairman of the Milwaukee America First committee, said he had been told that a communist demonstration is planned for Saturday night at the Milwaukee auditorium, where an America First rally will be held. Hoyt said that he had asked adequate police protection.

Petitions proposing formation of a new veterans' organization are being circulated in the Fox river valley of Wisconsin. Attorney Walter Melcher of Appleton, leader of the movement, said it had been started at the request of members of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars who do not like the strong war stand taken by national leaders of those organizations.

WOMAN KILLED IN MYSTERIOUS FALL OFF TRAIN

A woman identified thru papers in her purse as Miss Eva Landgrebe, 26 years old, of Rockford, Ill., was killed in mysterious circumstances early today when she jumped or fell from an eastbound Pennsylvania railroad passenger train as it passed 103d street and Indianapolis boulevard.

Apparently she had no ticket, but a baggage check in her purse indicated she may have been going to Lima, O. The conductor of the train, reached in Fort Wayne, Ind., told Pennsylvania railroad officials that he was unaware the woman had fallen from the train.

In Rockford, where Miss Landgrebe had a room in a private residence, it was said that she was a clerk for a personal loan company, and was believed to have relatives in Ohio. She had been in Rockford only a few months.

INDIANA LEGION DELEGATES WILL FIGHT WAR BLOC

Indiana Legionnaires, feeling that they were tricked at last year's national convention, will move on Milwaukee Monday determined to keep a boss ruled meeting from pushing thru a prowar resolution.

Norman Coulon, past Americanism officer of the 12th Indiana district, charged that last year's convention was stacked for the Atlantic seaboard attitude by Legion politicians. He said that many Indiana leaders, aroused by their experience in Boston, are going to Milwaukee prepared to fight all the way against any steam roller methods for war pronouncements.

John Samulowitz, chairman of the Legion hospital committee in the Indianapolis district, said Milo J. Warner, national commander, does not express the feelings of the rank and file and Kurt Schmidt, former district commander in Indianapolis, said the Legion has fallen into the hands of a few politicians.

OPEN GRAND JURY QUIZ ON INDIANA LAWYER SLAYING

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 10 [Special].—The state will seek to prove that jealousy prompted Mrs. Caroline Payne to kill her former lover, Charles O. Mattingly, utility lawyer and chief legal counsel of the Indiana Public Service commission, Prosecutor Floyd F. Cook said today as the Monroe county grand jury opened an inquiry into the slaying.

Mrs. Caroline Payne.

Cook said that he expects to bring out thru the testimony that Mrs. Payne, 43 years old, former Bloomington newspaper executive, often displayed extreme jealousy during her 18 years' association with Mattingly and that this jealousy eventually took a violent turn.

Cook said that Mrs. Payne, who is in jail on a coroner's writ charging her with murder, will not be called to testify before the grand jury. However, Mattingly's bride of a year, Lurayne Oberholzer Mattingly, who was seated beside him when he was shot, will be a witness, probably on Friday. She expects the birth of a child in December.

U. S. Treasurer Is Silent on Caddy's $10,000 Suit

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10 (AP).—W. A. Julian, treasurer of the United States, declined to comment today on a suit for $10,000 brought against him by Theodore Leombruno, 18-year-old caddy at the Sagamore Golf club, Bolton Landing, N. Y. Leombruno accused the government official of striking him with a golf club last month.

Save Our Republic

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Policies of the Fathers.

I do not mean to say we are bound to follow implicitly in whatever our fathers did. To do so would be to discard all the lights of current experience—to reject all progress, all improvement. What I do say is that if we would supplant the opinions and policy of our fathers in any case, we should do so upon evidence so conclusive, and argument so clear, that even their great authority, fairly considered and weighed, cannot stand.

A. Lincoln

New York, Feb. 27, 1860.

BRITAIN DOESN'T NEED OUR ARMY.

The nations which are exhausting themselves in war are not England and Germany, as many commentators had expected, but Germany and Russia. Already it can be said with some confidence that, should the war end tomorrow, communist Russia would be of no great consequence as a world power for many years to come. Even if Kiev, Leningrad, and Odessa are not captured or destroyed, it will take many—perhaps even ten—five year plans to bring her back to even her prewar position.

So far as Germany is concerned, the outlook is scarcely less gloomy. Her losses in man power have been very heavy. Tho the news from the front is unreliable, there is little doubt that many of Germany's best divisions have been knocked out. Hitler has used up huge stores of war materials, including tanks, guns, ammunition, gasoline, trucks, and airplanes. He has involved himself in a war which isn't likely to end soon, even if he takes many more cities. The Russians continue to resist and they can retreat a long way before their fighting power will be broken. A generation may pass before Germany recovers from this exhausting campaign.

Today Britain is sitting pretty while the Germans and Russians wear themselves out. In the circumstances it is absurd to speak of Britain as being in grave danger. Germany's attention is now concentrated on the other side of the continent. While Germany's reserves of men and materials are being depleted, Britain's continue to grow. Mr. Churchill says that in recent months the British have done far more damage to axis shipping than the axis has done to the British.

The war mongers in Washington say we must go to the defense of Britain and the British navy to save them from conquest, but the development of the Russian war has shown that our participation as a combatant for this purpose is not needed. Whatever plausibility the interventionists' argument may once have had, there is no color of reason in it now. Britain is in no danger.

Only Mr. Roosevelt's ambition to be a world figure can account for the continuing pressure in Washington for our entrance into the war. If we get into the war he will—or thinks he will—sit at the head of the table at the peace conference. To gratify this ambition will cost a million American lives. It hardly seems worth the price.

A KID GLOVE LAW FOR GOONS.

William Bibby, a goon employed as business agent for a union of garage employés, committed a brutal assault on a garage worker on May 14. After police had located him, and after some subsequent delays, he was brought to trial. The jury disagreed after a hearing at which there were indications that one of the prosecution witnesses had been threatened. A second trial resulted in a conviction. Judge Justin F. McCarthy overruled a motion for a third trial and pronounced the maximum sentence permitted by law.

That sentence was a fine of $100. The fact that Bibby had previously been convicted of a similar assault made no difference. Neither did the fact that he may, from his record, be expected to commit the same crime again, altho Judge McCarthy sought to guard against that by placing him under a peace bond.

So long as a goon does not use a deadly weapon the only charge that can be made against him is assault and battery. That was the charge placed against the goons who assaulted a dairyman recently in Will county. They got the same penalty as Bibby, a $100 fine. In all probability the fines were paid out of the union treasuries. As the statutes now stand the situation amounts to selling a goon a license for $100 whenever he feels called upon to practice his brutal art.

The assault and battery statute is a perfectly good one for the purpose for which it was originally passed, which was to deal with fisticuffs and street brawls entered into in the heat of anger. It was not intended to deal with such coldly premeditated attacks as were committed by Bibby and the Will county goons, but it is the only weapon that the law makes available.

Judge McCarthy called attention to this deficiency in the statutes, with the recommendation that Gov. Green and the legislature give it their attention at the next session. This is a proper recommendation. There is a sufficient record of labor violence in Chicago and other Illinois cities to justify special recognition of such circumstances by the law. The penalty for an assault in a labor dispute or in connection with the affairs of any labor union should be punishment by a jail or penitentiary sentence.

A NEW JOB FOR THE CCC.

At the time that conscription was being debated in congress the proposal to induct the members of the Civilian Conservation corps into the army was made and rejected, not without reason. The members of the CCC had not had military service in mind when they joined that organization, they are drawn from a single economic class, and most important, a high percentage of them are below draft age.

However, there is little excuse for continuing to spend hundreds of millions of dollars annually on CCC projects which have little, if any, relation to national defense. Some of the projects are, no doubt, useful, but they can be deferred to some future date without injury to the country or the defense program.

Meanwhile the training of the conscripts and regular army is slowed down by the fact that heavy details have to be made at the camps to perform the innumerable duties of army housekeeping. Soldiers are not trained by kitchen police, leveling and landscaping drill fields and the numerous other nonmilitary chores of a peacetime army that are at present a hangover in a military establishment struggling for wartime efficiency.

The Germans recognized this fact in the training of their army. Their recruits were worked at top speed, but on military training projects only. All of the housekeeping at the camps was and is done by civilian employés.

The CCC should be assigned these duties in the American training camps. The work is not much different from that now being done by the corps. By such a transfer of activity the expenditure on the CCC would be justified, in part at least, and the soldiers would be left to devote their full time to learning the fighting trade.

IT IS THE POLITICIANS' TURN.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau told a Boston audience on Tuesday that unless steps were taken the country faced a drastic inflation. If there is to be shortly a drastic rise in prices the war and national defense are not the originating causes. If we have inflation in the very near future it will come as an end result of the financial practices which have been followed thruout the eight years Mr. Morgenthau has been secretary of the treasury. There hasn't been a year since he took over the management of our public finances that the nation's credit has not been inflated. Mr. Morgenthau declared in one of his public addresses that the policy he followed was deliberate.

Inflation results from an artificial increase in the money which can be used to buy goods. The most obvious way to inflate is to use the treasury printing presses to grind out bills. Germany did that right after the world war. The method was used to finance the American Revolution. The French used the printing press during their revolution, and during the Civil war both the south and north put out fiat currency. If the American treasury had ground out paper money to pay its deficits during the last eight years, it would have been clear to every one what Mr. Morgenthau was up to.

He did something else, but it amounted to the same thing. He printed bonds instead of dollar, five dollar, and ten dollar bills, and turned them over to the banks, which gave the treasury credit on their books. When the treasury had completed one of its billion dollar operations it had created a billion dollars' worth of money indirectly by using the printing press. But instead of paying its bills with currency it paid them with checks drawn on its balances at the banks—balances which resulted from a printing press operation.

The treasury drew against these bank balances to meet pay rolls, pay contractors, and provide for the unemployed. But whatever the money went for, the operation was inflationary, unless the bonds given the banks were paid off when they were due. They were not paid, and there was no expectation that they would be, but were reissued with a later maturity date. When the government's deposits at the banks ran low some more bonds were run off the press to be turned over to the banks. And another billion dollars was credited to the government by the banks. This billion in turn passed into circulation and added to the amount of money which individuals, institutions, and corporations were able to spend.

The printing press operation was repeated by Mr. Morgenthau time after time. In his term of office, Mr. Morgenthau has inflated to the extent of 27 billion dollars. The public debt is now 27 billion dollars more than it was when he took office, and there is 27 billion dollars more in spending money to the credit of individual depositors at the banks.

The greatest inflation threat which confronts the country lies in the possibility that the people who have the extra 27 billions on deposit in their accounts as a result of Mr. Morgenthau's past financial operations may decide that their money is unsafe and try to convert the money at one time into material things. This year's deficit of 7 to 10 billion dollars will inflate the credit that much. But why is Mr. Morgenthau so frightened about this additional amount when he put out the larger aggregate with such self-assurance? Is it that he doesn't like the look of some of the chickens which show signs of returning to the home roost?

One of the suggestions Mr. Morgenthau made on Tuesday may not be taken kindly by the rank and file of American workmen. The bill has not yet been finally acted upon which drastically raises the income tax rate and imposes an income tax upon those who were formerly regarded as too poor to be assessed. Now the secretary proposes that in addition the social security taxes be increased so as to take away from the workingman money which he might spend and put up prices.

How much can Mr. Morgenthau drain off from the pool of spending money in this way? If he doubled the rate he would get only about 700 million dollars, judged by last year's collections. But at least 3 billion dollars is being fed by the government into the income stream this year in paying for nonessential, nondefense expenditures. The outgo of the government for other than military and naval purposes has gone up more than 3 billion dollars since Mr. Roosevelt took office. By cutting out the political pelf, the government can do four times as much to prevent inflation as can be accomplished by raising the social security taxes. Before asking for any more sacrifices from the people, the politicians should make some sacrifices themselves.

SPEAKING OF HOAXES.

Since this column has fallen for H. L. Mencken's aged hoax about anti-bathtub laws in the United States [Sept. 6], its editor is taking steps to protect himself. He is now reasonably sure that he will not reprint Edgar Allan Poe's trans-Atlantic balloon hoax of 1844. [See Poe's collected works.]

* * *

Mencken's dead-pan satire upon the American habit of passing laws against anything and everything was first published in the New York Evening Mail on Dec. 28, 1917. It was widely accepted as a statement of fact, and has been published in many works of scholarly intent. It crops up in the most unexpected places; for example, Mencken's own newspaper, the Baltimore Sun, has reprinted it twice.

* * *

When the Sage of Baltimore realized that his cheerful lie was passing into history as truth, he repented bitterly, and publicly beat his breast. All to no avail.

* * *

If you happen to see a statement in print that Millard Fillmore was the first President to use a bathtub in the White House, you may give a loud horse laugh and write a letter to the editor. That was one of the items in the Mencken hoax.

* * *

Poe's balloon hoax was published as news in the New York Sun on April 13, 1844, and it made the circulation manager happy. This trick was sprung with the connivance of the editor. The article was embellished with a woodcut of the "Steering Balloon, Victoria," which had carried eight persons, including Harrison Ainsworth, the novelist, across the Atlantic in three days.

* * *

Vincent Starrett's "Books Alive" contains a chapter on these and other famous literary hoaxes. He says, "A large volume would be too small to hold the stories of all the ingenious fooling in this field." . . . A minor hoax, upon which Starrett does not touch, was the forging of a poem alleged to be by Poe, in which James Whitcomb Riley had a hand. Some Poe "experts" still believe in it.

WHATSOEVER THINGS ARE LOVELY.

Red and yellow apples are ripening aloft,
Just enough to store in cellar or croft;
Blackbirds, congregating in the windy dawn,
Fill the air with clamor and then are gone;
Goldenrod nodding in feathery sprays
Mingles with the asters' purple haze.
Orange colored grasses lie flat in the swale,
The cunning resort of jacksnipe and quail;
Ruby red fruit of the thorn apple tree
Lies in the scuffed grass for all to see;
Down in the wood lot black walnuts are falling
And in dead treetops raucous crows are calling.
These are the things the heart will remember
With the gentian blue skies of September.

Sharpshooter on the Rialto.

Your "Ten Best in Musical Shows" [Sept. 6] calls for at least five corrections:

1. Montgomery and Stone did not sing "Good-by, Girls, I'm Thru" in "Chin-Chin." This number was handled by Douglas Stevenson, the leading juvenile, with the Blossom Girls chorus.

2. "Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway," with Fay Templeton and Victor Moore, appeared at the Colonial in 1905, not 1912.

3. Frank Moulan and Lillian Berri did not sing "Cuddle Up a Little Closer, Lovey Mine" in "The Grand Mogul." Their song was "Nestle by My Side."

4. The date for "It Happened in Nordland" at the Grand Opera House was 1905, not 1904.

5. Annabelle Whitford's song in "Follies of 1907" was "The Gibson Bathing Girl," not "Why Do They Call Me a Gibson Girl."

More About the Woodbine Bard.

Septimus Winner's pseudonym for "Listen to the Mocking Bird" was Alice Hawthorne. It is still carried on the "Mocking Bird" song-sheets, with the author's right name in parenthesis marks. He is said to have written the song after listening to the performance of a colored man named Richard Milburn, commonly called "The Whistling Duck." Other pseudonyms used by Winner, in addition to Apsley Street for his "Woodbine Twineth," were Percy Guyer, Mark Mason, and Paul Stenton.

FAMILY ON HOLIDAY.

Pop has a holiday; now for some fun!
Gaily we're finding our seats in the car;
All of us smiling. Pop gives 'er the gun—
We'll have an outing that nothing can mar!
After a mile or so Mom has a hunch—
"Take us back, please; we've forgotten the lunch."

Out on our way again, trees gliding by,
Silos and cattle, and clothes on the line,
Feathery clouds in an O-so-blue sky—
"Let's get this picture; the view is so fine!"
Reach for the camera. Boy full of gloom—
"Left it upon the bed, back in my room."

Swift over bridges and slowly thru towns,
Laughing adventures unfold as we travel;
Swinging 'round bends, over gay ups and downs,
Leaving the concrete, we take to the gravel;
Miles from a station the car dies. Alas!
Pop has forgotten to fill up with gas!

HEADING OFF VARICOSE VEINS.

WATER will run only in the direction that gravity dictates—namely, from a higher to a lower level. But when we stand erect the blood is obliged to travel from the extremities up a very steep hill—almost perpendicular—to the heart. This means that numerous forces must come into play to propel the vital fluid back to the pumping organ.

As we can well understand, the cardiac apparatus exerts very little power of suction. It remains, therefore, for the muscles to squeeze the veins, emptying them toward the body. Thus we rely upon activity for the drive upward and onward.

True enough, nature has provided some assistance. Valves, which are situated at intervals along the course of one of these vessels, are designed to hold the blood once it has passed. They are free and open from the extremity toward the head, and close with the weight of the column above them. We can look upon the return circulation, then, as a series of steps, in which movements push the liquid from the leg toward the body—step by step. It is scarcely a continuous stream, although it seems so when one is exercising.

If one is on his feet constantly for many hours each day, or if there is the slightest backflow because of an injured valve, the conduits beneath the skin may dilate and finally become overstretched. Thus thin-walled, tortuous channels may appear—varicose veins. As time goes on nutrition of the tissues will suffer and an ulcer appear.

The question then comes—what can be done? It has long been considered sound practice to obliterate the superficial ducts, because the back flow can be cared for by the deeper structures. This second set of tributaries is protected by firm tissues which render distention impossible. For this purpose a sclerosing or hardening preparation is utilized.

There are relatively few individuals who cannot receive this type of treatment. As a rule, something should be done because if ulcers have not formed, they will probably do so sooner or later. Furthermore, when neglected, a very definite sense of fatigue, and puffing of the extremities, is encountered. Of course, one would not advocate these injections in the presence of an infection anywhere in the system. During pregnancy, however, the plan may be followed, because the condition itself is likely to make the veins larger.

The general régime is to heal the ulcer and give the patient all the rest possible—with the legs higher than the trunk for a good part of the day. This will eliminate most of the swelling and make the process easy. Now and then it may be wise to tie a vein and, by this means, the pathway is rendered useless below the point where the ligature is applied.

The injections are usually given with the patient seated. After introducing the solution an elastic bandage is used, which may be removed at bedtime. This compresses the parts snugly. What substance is employed? As a rule, some form of soap. That which is derived from castor oil [sodium ricinoleate] is preferred by many. Only a small amount is needed unless the conduit is sizable.

What happens? The channel is blocked completely because enough irritation is set up to produce a firm, fiberlike cord. In time the duct becomes a slender bit of inert tissue. There is then no danger that ulcers or further dilatation will ensue.

There is no value in attempting a half job. The patient must decide to go thru with the complete program, otherwise disappointment may result. For those who are disinclined to the experience an elastic stocking or bandage will be helpful. Such a device will offer comfort for years, if properly adjusted and worn constantly.

THE CASE OF ECUADOR.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 8.—The charge is made that many of the small countries of Europe, devastated and bled white in their heroic but futile resistance to unprovoked aggression, might have spared themselves the ordeal but for so-called reckless, empty promises made them by our country.

The charge is, of course, false. Implied promises, read into lofty expressions of friendship, cannot be construed as definite commitments on our part.

But what would we say today if the American people raised the same charge, and not on vague, general statements, but on the basis of definite pledges and commitments made by us?

I refer, naturally, to the Ecuador-Peru situation within our hemisphere. Here we have a smaller, unarmed country, already partly victimized by the aggression of a larger, fully armed country, and living under the threat of an outrageous mutilation of its territory if present American indifference continues.

This American victim of aggression, Ecuador [I have it on good authority], is resolved to face annihilation rather than betray American tradition and pledges and bow to aggression and violence thru the acceptance of an un-American, Munich-style solution to the problem. Such resolve can be based only on Ecuador's faith in the validity of our pledged word to oppose "territorial aggrandizement, use of force, and armed aggression" wherever these be found.

Highland Park, Ill., Sept. 9.—Over the radio I heard last night some eulogistic comments on the President's veto of a road building appropriation of some 350 million dollars; true spirit of economy, etc. But then I thought of the St. Lawrence waterway and the Florida ship canal grab which Mr. Roosevelt is forcing on congress. The cost of those two crazy projects will be at least twice the saving effected by the veto.

RIPE IN YEARS; SAYS NO WAR!

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Bless your hearts. You are a fine paper. [I have] read you ever since I could read. I came to Chicago 80 years ago. You are right—no war. That is that. I have prognosticated from the first. People laugh at the old woman of 85. But I am an American from my toes up and I know Americans say no war. What did Gen. Washington and Paul Revere fight for, and all the fine men of their day? And all the fine men of today; all the America Firsts? Remember the people rule this country, not the Presidents, congressmen, or senators. We put them there, but sometimes we do not wisely choose. But when we use our reason we know what war is and how dreadful for those who do the fighting. Murdering our fine young men, ruining our business, causing no end of misery.

What did we gain with our war in 1917 and '18? We learned we were a pack of fools; we should have minded our own business and looked after our own country. Which was good advice, don't you think? And now the trouble is we didn't. At last we have come to our senses, thanks to America First. No war with the foreign elements. Three cheers for THE TRIBUNE.

BONED CHICKEN FOR EUROPE.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—I was interested in a news story in one of today's papers to the effect that the FSCC is asking for bids on boned chicken.

The money to pay for this chicken will be taken from lease-lend funds. Speaking as one of millions of Americans who will pay for this luxury, it occurred to me that after we pay our 1941 income taxes, the average American will be indeed fortunate if he has pork and beans—perhaps just beans.

But while eating this simple food, he can have the consoling thought that he is at least paying for a delicious chicken dinner for some one in Europe.

It seems to me that the men who have our destiny in their charge should concern themselves with the millions of undernourished children in America, and take care of them before they send boned chicken to Europe.

SMOKERS ON THE BUS.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Wright's experience of having a lighted cigaret fall into her lap while riding on the lower deck of a bus is not an unusual one. I know of several cases of similar incidents, and the bus company refuses to do anything about it. The other evening there was a small panic on our bus when a newspaper went ablaze after a lighted cigaret, thrown out of an upper deck window, landed on it. Putting up a sign requesting that cigarets must be put out before they are discarded, would not do much good, as the type of person who would do such a thing in the first place is not the type that plays according to the rules.

BONNIE.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Wright is right [no pun intended] about the smokers who throw lighted cigarets from the upper deck of a bus. Last summer my sister was severely burned on the arm while riding on the lower deck of a Sheridan road bus. She had several visits to the doctor and a very sore arm, but the bus company would do nothing about it—of course, the driver cannot be upstairs watching to see who the offenders are—but since the habits of smokers are so atrocious, the practice of smoking on the buses should be stopped entirely. Even tho it may cost the company a few dimes, it would seem that the rest of us are entitled to a little consideration.

F. D. R. EXPECTED TO TELL NAVY TO 'SHOOT ON SIGHT'

Reveals Course of Action on Radio Tonight.

President Roosevelt's address will be broadcast over W-G-N, Mutual, and other major networks at 9 o'clock, Chicago daylight time, tonight.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—President Roosevelt returned to the capital tonight prepared to announce a course of resolute action against the axis in a radio address tomorrow night to the nation, which is to be carried to the world by short wave radio in 14 languages.

Mr. Roosevelt's speech, originally scheduled for last Monday night, was postponed because of the death of his mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Sources close to the White House expect the President to extend the operation of the American naval patrol, which has been conducted so as to constitute virtual convoy of merchantmen, into the seven seas with orders to "shoot on sight" any air, surface, or undersea raiders.

Convoy Declaration Foreseen.

Some congressional leaders expect Mr. Roosevelt in discussing freedom of the seas to declare for outright convoys. Still others believe he may ask for repeal of the neutrality law to permit American vessels to carry war supplies to Britain under escort of American warships.

If repeal of the neutrality act, which has been limping along since the adoption of the lend-lease law and the patrol system, is asked, it is believed Mr. Roosevelt may ask that American merchantmen be armed. The navy has plans for such arming and has had each year since the last war, the President disclosed recently.

Mr. Roosevelt faces an international situation complicated by three recent sea incidents involving an American warship, an American merchantman, and a freighter flying the flag of Panama under American operation.

Met by Hull at Station.

On his arrival in the capital the President was met at the railroad station by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who drove with him to the White House, where Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox were called for conferences tonight. Mr. Roosevelt also arranged to meet with congressional leaders tomorrow morning.

Invited to the congressional conference were Republican as well as Democratic leaders. Invitations went to Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr. [R., Mass.], house minority leader, and Senator Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], senate minority leader.

Wallace Also Invited.

Other invitations for tomorrow went to Vice President Henry A. Wallace, Senator Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], senate majority leader; Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.], senate foreign relations committee chairman, and Representatives Clifton A. Woodrum [D., Va.], house speaker pro tem; Sol Bloom [D., N. Y.], house foreign affairs committee chairman, and John W. MacCormack [D., Mass.], house majority leader.

At both tonight's and tomorrow morning's conferences it was believed the principal topic would be the President's address and the means of implementing the course of action it will set forth.

The speech, according to White House aids, has been almost doubled in length since it was first prepared. The address was to have run 15 minutes, but delivery time has been lengthened to 25 minutes.

Ghost Writers on Train.

Two of the President's principal ghost writers boarded his special train at New York on his way to the capital this afternoon. They are Harry L. Hopkins, head of the administration's program of aid to foreign countries, and Samuel I. Rosenman, who recently reorganized the armaments production administrative setup at the President's request.

Altho White House aids have insisted that the President planned to deliver his radio address before he had any knowledge of the recent sea incidents, administration leaders were convinced the address was inspired by what they termed German depredations against the American flag.

The recent sea incidents involved the United States destroyer Greer, reported by the navy last Thursday night to have been the target of torpedoes from an unnamed submarine [later identified as German] off the coast of Iceland; the American freighter Steel Seafarer, which the state department said Monday night was sunk by a bomber in the Red sea, and the freighter Sessa, one of several Danish ships seized in American ports and being operated under the Panamanian flag, whose sinking off Iceland was made public Tuesday night.

In Leading Role

BETTY WINKLER.

Betty Winkler is the new leading lady of the Great Gunns starting tonight. She replaces Barbara Luddy who will concentrate on her duties on the First Nighter program on which she is the leading lady. The Gunns' show is aired over W-G-N-Mutual at 9:30 p. m. Miss Winkler plays the part of Veronica Gunn, wife of Chris Gunn, portrayed by Bret Morrison. Miss Winkler has been featured in many network shows. Last year she appeared in several of the Chicago Theater of the Air productions. William A. Bacher produces the Great Gunns, which chronicles the adventures of America's No. 1 theatrical family.

YANKEES TO QUIT BRITAIN ON SHIPS OF BELLIGERENTS

Restrictions on Travel Eased by Washington.

LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP).—American citizens in Britain may now embark for home on belligerent ships if they desire, Glen Abbey, acting United States consul, announced today in disclosing a relaxation of previous state department regulations against such travel.

Glen Abbey.

"You are advised," said the announcement, "that the department of state has now given permission for the passports of American citizens to be validated for return to the United States either direct or via Canada, as well as via Lisbon. Such a journey would be entirely at the traveler's own risk."

[In Washington, D. C., Secretary of State Cordell Hull said the ruling was not a blanket authorization for American travel on belligerent ships or planes, but would be limited to provide a way home for Americans who have been marooned abroad for a long time.]

In the past the only means for most Americans in Britain to get home was to take a plane to Lisbon, Portugal, and then cross the Atlantic on American or other nonbelligerent ships or by Clipper plane. Many have thus been prevented from leaving, for plane seats to Lisbon have often not been available because of the demands of officials and others holding priority, and space on ships has been far short of demand.

Some 5,000 Americans are understood to be in the United Kingdom.

FBI SPY NOTES KEPT SECRET AT ESPIONAGE TRIAL

New York, Sept. 10 (AP).—The government today won at least a temporary triumph in keeping secret nine precious pages detailing the findings of a Federal Bureau of Investigation employé who was trained in espionage by the German gestapo.

Federal Judge Mortimer W. Byers, presiding in Brooklyn at a trial of 16 men on espionage charges which named the German government as a co-conspirator, denied a defense motion for permission to examine the private notes which the witness, William G. Sebold, surrendered to the FBI on his return from Germany. Introduction as evidence would make the papers a privileged public document.

Sebold disclosed yesterday that he had turned over a gestapo espionage assignment to the FBI itself which built a secret radio station on Long Island and transmitted misleading reports to gestapo headquarters in Hamburg.

JUDGE FISHER HEADS BENCH ADVISORY BODY

Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit court yesterday was elected chairman of the judicial advisory committee at the first meeting of the organization since the fall court term opened. Others elected were Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington, secretary; Attorney John J. Healy, vice chairman, and Attorney Amos C. Miller, treasurer.

HOUSE LEADERS PLAN VOTE ON TAX BILL BY TUESDAY

Conferees Expected to Reach Accord Quickly.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10 (AP).—House leaders today began efforts to have all members back on the job by Tuesday to expedite final congressional action on the $3,583,900,000 new tax bill.

Acting Speaker Clifton A. Woodrum [D., Va.] said Speaker Sam Rayburn had telegraphed from Texas a suggestion that if the joint senate-house conference report on the bill can be ready next week, it can be acted upon immediately.

Representative Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, Republican house leader, said he is preparing to ask members of his party to be back not later than Tuesday on the assumption that the tax conferees will have reached an agreement by that time.

The conferees, attempting to reconcile differing versions of the tax measure passed by the house and senate, reached agreements on several technical points, at a morning session.

Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.], one of the group, said minor points had been settled. Others reported after their first meeting that nothing was done on the question of lowering individual income tax exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single persons.

Altho the senate bill called for $3,538,900,000 in new revenue—$367,500,000 more than provided by the house—leaders in both chambers expressed optimism that the conferees will be able to agree on a compromise version by the end of the week.

Seeks Boy's Custody

Mrs. Lillian Argo (left), mother of boy found wandering in Brookfield zoo, with Mrs. Vivian Wagner of Chicago Legal Aid society after hearing before Judge Bicek.

Tommy Argo, the little lost boy who was identified Aug. 2 as the 3½ year old child of Walter and Lillian Argo of Detroit, Mich., remained in the custody of the Juvenile court at the close of the first hearing of his case yesterday. Judge Frank Bicek ruled that the court will not consider releasing the child until it is assured that the Detroit Juvenile court will assume complete jurisdiction.

Mrs. Argo asked that Tommy be returned to her and her husband in Detroit. She told Judge Bicek that Walter abandoned Tommy in Brookfield zoo on July 13, but that she thought Tommy was in a boarding home.

Her husband did not come to Chicago for the hearing. Among witnesses who did appear were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trosky of Detroit, in whose home Tommy had been boarded for two years. They offered to take him back without charge. Edward H. Bean, director of Brookfield zoo, told of finding Tommy.

5,000 ACOLYTES AT REHEARSAL FOR HOLY HOUR

Five thousand acolytes paraded last night in Soldiers' field in rehearsal for the holy hour to be held Sunday evening. Twelve bands from Catholic high schools also took part.

Prior to the holy hour there will be a patriotic program and a sacred concert starting at 7 o'clock. Four hundred men from Fort Sheridan, Great Lakes Naval Training station, and the state militia will lead the solemn procession that will begin the holy hour proper at 8 o'clock. Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch will be the main speaker.

The holy hour is sponsored by the Holy Name society.

PRESIDENT Roosevelt SAYS:

"We must have well-educated and intelligent citizens who have sound judgment in dealing with the difficult problems of today. We must also have scientists, engineers, economists, and other people with specialized knowledge, to plan and to build for national defense as well as for social and economic progress. Young people should be advised that it is their patriotic duty to continue the normal course of their education, unless and until they are called, so that they will be well prepared for greatest usefulness to their country. They will be promptly notified if they are needed for other patriotic services."*

CIO WALKS OUT AGAIN AT THREE PACKING PLANTS

Demands Illegal Strike Sponsors Be Rehired.

A strike affecting 1,400 workers in three Chicago meat packing plants was begun at midnight last night by members of the Packing House Workers' Organizing committee [CIO]. The strike was called because the companies refused to rehire 12 unionists who allegedly inspired a strike at the three plants a week ago. Union officials admitted that the previous strike was unauthorized, but they refused to lay the blame on the 12 men—or any one else.

The companies involved are the Agar Packing and Provision company, the P. Brennan company, and the Illinois Meat company. Lewis F. Jacobson, attorney and spokesman for the packers, said the companies will remain open for any employés who wish to work today.

Meat May Be Spoiled.

"The union refused to allow the question of rehiring the 12 men to be submitted to a grievance committee," Jacobson said. "If the plants are completely shut down a million pounds of meat will be spoiled. We have already brought suit against the union for $50,000 for the illegal strike last week and we have notified the union it will be held accountable for any further loss thru another illegal strike."

Earlier the companies had refused a recommendation of Circuit Judge George Fred Rush, mediator, to rehire the 12 men. More than 700 union members met in PWOC headquarters, 4758 South Marshfield avenue, last night and approved the new strike. Picket lines were thrown around the plants at midnight, even tho the bulk of the production workers were not to report until 6 a. m.

The union agreed to permit maintenance men to enter the plants during the strike.

Police to Patrol Area.

Capt. John Prendergast, chief of uniformed police, ordered 468 policemen to patrol the strike areas in three shifts to prevent violence.

Last week's unauthorized strike was called because the Illinois Meat company refused to deduct union imposed fines from the pay of four workmen who refused to wear "We Want More Money" buttons. J. C. Lewis, national chairman of the PWOC, denounced the strike as unjustified and the men returned to work last Thursday.

ATTORNEY TO GET FEE, SUPERVISORS WILL AVOID JAIL

The Kane county board of supervisors, by making provision yesterday for payment of $1,665 to Attorney Maurice Lord of Aurora, saved all its 38 members from going to jail. The board, in adopting its annual operating budget, included an appropriation of $2,000 for judgments, out of which Lord will be paid.

Lord served as a special prosecutor for the county in the trial of former officials of the W. W. Armstrong investment company of Aurora, which collapsed in 1936. The officials were indicted for embezzlement but were acquitted. Lord was paid $4,000, asked for $1,665 more and was refused.

He then obtained a judgment for that amount against the board and the commissioners faced jail terms for contempt of court unless they paid. Lord may not actually get the money, however, until next year when taxes are collected for budget appropriations.

G.O.P. QUESTIONS MORE ASPIRANTS FOR JUDGE SLATE

Fifteen more aspirants for Republican candidacies for the Superior and Municipal courts were interviewed yesterday by a G. O. P. committee which on Monday will offer a ticket to the Republican judicial convention. John T. Dempsey, chairman of the county Republican central committee, said the only certainty thus far is that Superior Judge Edgar A. Jones will lead the slate. Jonas was appointed by Gov. Green ten days ago to fill a death vacancy. The G. O. P. ticket of 21 Superior court candidates and two Municipal court nominees will oppose a bipartisan slate under the Democratic banner.

FEDERAL DAIRY MARKET CHIEF BUSY IN CHICAGO

O. M. Reed, chief of the dairy division of the federal surplus marketing administration, was in town yesterday conferring with officials of cheese processing companies and condensery officials.

Reed refused to comment on the purpose of his meetings, but dairy officials reported that he was concerned with the large stocks of cheese and canned milk various companies are piling up.

Bride Collapses in Loop Store; Dead Hour Later

Mrs. Dorothy Pletke, 21 years old, 3221 Pierce avenue, a bride of three weeks, collapsed yesterday when talking with her husband, Paul A. Pletke Jr., in a drug store at 102 South Dearborn street. Apparently a victim of heart disease, she was pronounced dead in a physician's office after a fire department rescue squad had worked over her for nearly an hour.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline [non-acid] powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" [denture breath]. Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

CITY PRECINCTS INCREASE; NOW NUMBER 3,790

As a result of the heavy vote cast in the Presidential election last November, 160 new precincts have been added to the territory under the Chicago board of election commissioners, John S. Rusch, chief clerk, announced yesterday. However, the 1st and 27th wards each lost a precinct, making the net total increase 158.

In Chicago the number of precincts has been increased from 3,648 to 3,790. In the country towns of Cook county which are under election board jurisdiction the number of precincts has been increased from 200 to 216. This redistricting will be in effect at the November judicial election.

The aim of the board is to have all precincts contain about 400 votes. Wards gaining the most precincts are: 2d, 11 precincts; 13th, 10 precincts; 19th, 8 precincts, and 38th, 10 precincts. Among the country towns the largest gains were in Harvey and Elmwood Park, which get three additional precincts each.

FUNERAL TODAY FOR DOCTOR IN DEATH MYSTERY

St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 10 [Special].—Funeral services for Dr. John A. Schram, whose strange death in his office has puzzled authorities, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Congregational church.

Dr. Schram, 38 years old, a former Chicagoan, was found dead in his office early yesterday when police smashed down the door at the behest of his wife, Cecilia Eisenhart Schram, Michigan blossom festival queen of 1930. His nude body lay on a laboratory table in his X-ray room.

Diathermy pads were attached to the body, but the machine was not connected to the supply outlet. Death was believed due to asphyxiation from ethyl chloride, a tube of which was in his hand. Authorities ruled out of consideration the possibility of murder, but would not say whether they believed the case an accident or a suicide.

G. O. P. REGULARS LOSE PITTSBURGH MAYOR PRIMARY

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 10 [Special].—Harmar D. Denny Jr., Republican, and Mayor Cornelius D. Scully, Democrat, were selected as nominees in the Pittsburgh mayoralty race in yesterday's state primary. Denny, an independent running against George D. Wick, had the support of Senator James J. Davis and the young Republicans. Scully was backed by Democratic national committeeman David L. Lawrence against John M. Huston.

In Philadelphia, the regular Republican organization overwhelmed an insurgent group in selecting nominees for city and county offices. Regular slates, both Republican and Democratic, won in the supreme court and superior court contests.

The turnout at the polls represented only one-fourth of the state's total registration.

FIND NEW CLEW TO IDENTITY OF SLAIN WOMAN

Albert Hamilton, a fish butcher who is believed to be the husband of the young woman found strangled to death Aug. 21 near the North Western railroad tracks at Greenleaf avenue in Rogers Park, will be sought for questioning by Coroner A. L. Brodie today.

His name was disclosed by two women who said the picture of the dead woman resembled closely Gladys Hamilton, a housemaid, 25 years old. Three other women, who knew Gladys Hamilton, also said the picture resembled her.

The two women who mention Hamilton as a friend of the housemaid were Mrs. H. H. Patterson, 509 North Wellington street, a housewife who employed her until two years ago, and Mrs. Binnie Lilly, 445 East 45th place, a laundress in the Patterson household. Mrs. Lilly's description of her co-worker corresponded identically with that of the dead woman.

The three other women, who believed the picture to be that of their friend, are Miss Selma Hendrickson, employed as a maid at 442 Wellington street; Miss Muriel Wells, 933 Belmont avenue, a nurse, and Mrs. Mary Wurtz, 422 North Wellington street, a janitress.

MEN 28 STILL MUST ANSWER AND RETURN DRAFT QUESTIONNAIRE

Draft registrants 28 years old or over, altho entitled to automatic deferment from selective service, still must fill out and return draft questionnaires in exactly the same manner as younger men.

This ruling was contained in a bulletin sent to draft boards yesterday by national selective service headquarters in Washington, D. C.

"The age of a registrant is not taken into consideration until it is determined upon the basis of his questionnaire whether or not he is to be deferred on other grounds," the bulletin stated. "Registrants 28 years old or over still have obligations under the act, and their failure to fulfill them is a criminal offense."

MYSTERY BLAST KILLS WORKER IN FLAVOR FACTORY

One man was killed and three others were burned by a mysterious explosion of a large vacuum dryer yesterday in the plant of the William J. Stange company, manufacturers of food flavorings, at 2536 Monroe street. A quantity of sodium nitrite, used in the making of food tablets, was in the dryer, which is 7 feet high and 4 feet square.

The blast occurred as the men opened the door of the dryer. Guiseppe Caruso, 48 years old, 1940 Polk street, died some hours later. The other victims are Peter Piranio, 26, of 2533 Flournoy street; Ivor Williams, 31, of 405 South Campbell avenue, and George Hills, 49, of 2718 Frances place. All were taken to Washington Boulevard hospital.

W. B. Durling, president of the company, said he was puzzled as to the cause of the blast. Sodium nitrite is frequently placed under high pressure and is not explosive, he said.

When your Stomach is UPSET

Stomach distress from over-fullness should not be aggravated by overdoses of antacids or by drastic, irritating physics or purgatives.

Take soothing Pepto-Bismol! It is not an antacid. It has no laxative action. Pepto-Bismol helps to quiet the upset, to soothe the irritated intestinal walls, to retard intestinal fermentation, gas formation and to relieve simple diarrhea. This soothing remedy is pleasant—you'll like the taste.

In two sizes—at all druggists. Or by the dose at drug store fountains.

Small Squirrel Causes Large Stir in Evanston

A small gray squirrel tumbled down the chimney of the O. S. Wernecke home at 2500 Lawndale avenue, Evanston, yesterday, alarming Mrs. Wernecke and her three daughters, Emily, 3 weeks old; Linda, 9, and Mary, 5, until Policeman Chester Nichols, the dog warden, was called to the rescue. Nichols fished the little fellow out of a water pan behind a radiator and turned him loose.

TWO POLICEMEN HELD IN SHOOTING OF A PHEASANT

Two state highway policemen have been arrested for shooting a pheasant while patroling the highways near Palatine. They are Lawrence Bardel and Marvin Carlson, assigned to the station at Irving Park road and Harlem avenue.

Bardel, who has been with the department for three years, was one of 22 policemen dismissed by Chief Leo Carr Tuesday. Carlson, one of the new policemen to join a month ago, was suspended from the force pending an investigation.

John Havelka, state game warden, who made the arrest, said he saw the two fire their revolvers from the police squad car and kill a pheasant. Bardel and Carlson will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace E. P. Steinbrinck in Palatine on Sept. 19 on the following charges: hunting game out of season, shooting game from a public highway, shooting game from a motor vehicle, shooting game not from the shoulder, using a weapon other than a shotgun, and using a gun which holds more than three shells.

ALDERMEN VOTE $12,142 MORE TO COVER BACK PAY

The city council voted yesterday to pay two former aldermen and the estates of two former aldermen a total of $12,142 for back pay lost thru pay deductions voted by the council from 1932 to 1936. Ald. James Bowler [25th], finance committee chairman, said the payments were in accordance with a recent court decision which awarded $53,600 in back pay to 16 ex-aldermen who sued the city.

The estates which benefited are those of John Coughlin, for many years 1st ward alderman, and B. A. Cronson, former 4th ward alderman. Each received $5,051. Former Aldermen Robert R. Jackson [3d] and John A. Massen [48th] each received $1,000 "on account."

City Will Spend $60,000 to Remodel Navy Pier

The city council yesterday authorized Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, to spend $60,000 to remodel Navy pier to meet requirements of the United States navy.

What makes a Radio-Phonograph worth $375?

IT IS THE TREMENDOUS DIFFERENCE IN WHAT YOU HEAR
The reason: A Stromberg-Carlson has the widest range of natural tone.

IT IS THE TREMENDOUS DIFFERENCE IN HOW YOU HEAR IT
The reason: A Stromberg-Carlson has an exclusive Acoustical Labyrinth that ends "radio-set boom" . . . and an exclusive "full-floating," tone-true Speaker that prevents tone distortion at any usable volume.

IT IS THE TREMENDOUS DIFFERENCE IN FM RECEPTION
The reason: Stromberg-Carlson, pioneer in FM, gives you not only Frequency Modulation under the Armstrong system, with virtual freedom from static and interference—but also the matchless tone range and quality of FM that is lost in ordinary FM sets.

IT IS THE TREMENDOUS DIFFERENCE IN CONSTRUCTION
The reason: Each Stromberg-Carlson is built to last. Every operating part is designed, tested, and checked in production for the ability to operate many thousands of times. Result: Brilliant performance throughout a long life.

Hear the Igor Stravinsky "Autograph Model"* (below) on standard broadcasts, FM, short wave, or records, and you will agree, "There is nothing finer than a Stromberg-Carlson!"

Mouth Should Be Made Up to Suit Your Face

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The cry now is not for large mouths, nor for small ones, but for more carefully shaped mouths, "sculping" your mouth to meet your very own facial requirements!

Linda Darnell, we are told, has one of the best mouths in Hollywood. It is perfectly proportioned and in perfect keeping with the contours of her face. So, we are told by a studio makeup expert, there's little trouble "sculping" Linda's mouth. But hours upon hours are put in on other Hollywood mouths, not all stars having natural perfection.

Walter Pearce, Hollywood makeup expert referred to, thinks that in all makeup departments the mouth comes off the least well in the average woman's hands. First, she does not view her mouth as part of her individual face, to be treated as part of that face. Secondly, she does not do enough experimenting to achieve the best results. Most women, he thinks, err in concentrating on the lower lip and over thickening and widening it with lip salve. The effect sometimes gained is that of a protruding lower jaw. Perhaps, it is suggested, women who do this aim for a "sultry" mouth.

The upper part of the mouth should be treated first. Outline the upper part first, the lower lip second. If the upper lip is long and the cheekbones high, for instance, the upper lip may take heavier color filling than if it is short.

The hairdo, the eye makeup, and the powdering theme, while important in their own department to build lure, it is the mouth which is so important in impression making. It should be given more attention, study, experimentation.

The lipstick brush is something with which we are urged to become more adept. At first, it may be a bit unwieldy, but we are promised, with its technique mastered, that we cannot only eliminate smudge and smear, but do an infinitely better job of mouth sculpture.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

The trouble with many otherwise excellent opening leads is that they shout certain information, not only to partner, but to declarer as well. This, of course, is an unavoidable evil. It is far better to make the one opening lead that has a chance to defeat the contract, even tho that chance depends on declarer's "deafness" and "blindness," than to make a more subtle lead that has no chance at all.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

After pessimistically appraising his hand, West decided that only a surprise attack would have a chance against the game contract which had been reached by strong bidding. To that end he selected the diamond queen. Declarer pounced with his ace and, apparently in a frenzy to get out the trumps, laid down the ace and led a second round. East, in with the king, noted the fall of West's jack and realized that he could not give West a diamond ruff. There was no sense in cashing the king, since that would be only a second defensive trick. If declarer had the heart ace, East saw that the contract never could be defeated. If West had that valuable card, however, there was a distinct chance. Acting on this proper analysis, East returned his fourth best heart. West captured the queen and promptly shifted back to his original lead, diamonds. East gobbled up the 10 and king, defeating the contract.

Altho I have said that East defeated the contract, it was really the declarer who defeated himself. The opening lead carried a strident warning. Surely the declarer should have realized that such a lead was almost certainly the top of a doubleton; that it was out of the question that West could be leading the queen from the queen and two or three small cards, or that, in this particular case, he would have guessed the diamond situation so clairvoyantly that he would have led the queen, holding the king as well. The crux, therefore, was to hold up the diamond ace at the first trick in the hope that the heart ace was in West's hand, and that communication between East and West could be broken.

Obviously, the holdup play would work beautifully. West's continuation of a diamond would be won by the ace and the heart queen laid down. Nothing could prevent declarer from discarding his third diamond on an established heart, and his total loss would be only one spade, one heart, and one diamond.

Job Clinic to Show Opportunities for Girls in Insurance

Any girl interested in job possibilities in the insurance field will be welcomed at a free job clinic to be held from 2 to 4 o'clock today in the Merchants and Manufacturers' club of the Merchandise Mart under the auspices of the Women's Executive committee.

A survey of all jobs available to women, together with qualifications and training required for them, will be presented together with a directory of all Chicago companies in the field, a glossary of basic words and phrases, and a brief word picture of each job.

Mrs. Sarah Anne Rynearson, head of the committee of insurance women which has made the survey, and Mrs. Phyllis Boynton, Miss Ethel Elmer, and Miss Edith Sissle, also on the committee, will offer personal counseling at the clinic.

Weddings Announced

The marriage of Miss R. Helen Rogers of Chicago to Norman B. Hickox of Evanston took place on Sept. 6 in the Thorndike Hilton chapel. After a motor trip thru the southeast, Mr. and Mrs. Hickox will be at home in Evanston.

The marriage of Miss Aileen Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thamos Wilson of Chicago, to J. Gordon Henry, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edward A. Henry of Cincinnati, O., took place on Aug. 25 in the University Church of Disciples of Christ. The bride was graduated from the University of Chicago, where Mr. Henry received a degree last June from the law school. Mr. and Mrs. Henry are at home in New York.

Early Season Fashion Show, 1941.

Gray hung walls with decorative cutouts showing high points of the show to follow. Edwardian dog collars, tied at the back with velvet bows. Shoulder length gloves. Colored stockings. Garnet stars. Edwardian purple and rococo pink.

An intake of breath from spectators sitting at small tables sipping coffee and nibbling at tiny sandwiches and cherry tomatoes, as the first model steps onto the stage. Winter shorts in violet wool, worn with long black cotton stockings, black sweater and violet wool jacket. A shako of black jersey and black fox on the model's head and black knitted gloves with black fox edging. No Edwardian costume this. Nor the red silk jersey dress with gold embroidery at the neck, with red silk jersey pants edged with gold embroidery to match.

But the black wool suit with rounded shoulders trimmed with fringe was Edwardian, and the purple and rococo pink evening gowns with shoulder length gloves to match, and the collection of jeweled stars for shoulder ornaments.

Wool suits with fur pocketbook muffs. Jersey daytime dresses with long gloves of contrasting color to match hug-me-tights or hats. Women in the audience wriggled uncomfortably in their summer prints. Our own gray shantung suit suddenly seemed last season and inadequate, and our short white cotton gloves relics. And the diaphramless figure of a model in a perfect wrap-around dress of jersey was cause for not eating another sandwich or a tea cake.

Story.

A Chicagoan back from Hollywood relays the latest Goldwynism. Mr. Samuel Goldwyn called his script writers together and said he wanted a story. A story of such drama as has never been written before. Something that would start with an earthquake and build up to climax, he said.

Women to Open Ticket Sale for Orchestra Next Monday

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE women who count the Chicago Symphony orchestra enough of a personal responsibility to give hours of work to assisting it in balancing its budget each year will start work on Monday to sell new subscriptions for the coming season. They will concentrate on the Thursday night concerts, for they are the ones that have the smallest audiences. Last spring the women obtained sustaining memberships to the amount of $17,725.

Mrs. Telfer MacArthur, chairman of the women's committee, had the first fall meeting of the subchairmen last Tuesday and plans were laid for an intensive four week campaign to obtain new ticket holders for the 51st season, which will open Oct. 16. Mrs. Thomas I. Underwood, Mrs. William N. Eisendrath Jr. and Mrs. Solomon Byron Smith are vice chairmen of Mrs. MacArthur's large committee.

The box office at Orchestra hall opens Monday, and around Oct. 1 the musicians will start to assemble. Dr. Frederick Stock, the conductor, is still at his summer home on the Door peninsula in Wisconsin and will stay there until the last possible moment. Dr. Hans Lange, associate conductor, is on vacation in New Mexico, and will be home around Oct. 1.

Vail Rhodes Bucklin Jr. Being Married Tomorrow.

From Pasadena, Cal., comes news of a wedding to take place tomorrow that is of interest here. The bridegroom-to-be is Vail Rhodes Bucklin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bucklin of Astor street. He and Miss Mary Constance Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert David Matthews of Pasadena, will be married quietly at noon in All Saints' Episcopal church, with a breakfast following at the Matthews home.

Mr. Bucklin, who has been working in California for several months, suddenly was given an opportunity to return to Chicago, so he and his pretty bride will be making their home here after a three week wedding trip to Mexico City. Mr. and Mrs. Bucklin, who just have returned from their summer home in Vermont, are not going west for the ceremony, but their daughter, Mrs. Carl A. Weise, and Mr. Weise of Los Angeles, will be present, and so will the bridegroom's cousin, Mrs. Paul Van Deusen [Helen LaChance] and Mr. Van Deusen, with whom Mr. Bucklin has been making his home.

Miss Matthews, a member of the Pasadena Junior league and of the Spinsters, attended the Marlborough school in Los Angeles, and was graduated from the Ethel Walker school and from the Garland school. Mr. Bucklin prepared at the Boys Latin school and attended Williams college.

Frances Marion Morton's Engagement Announced.

At a tea at home in Lake Shore Drive yesterday afternoon Mrs. Frank R. Morton announced the engagement of her daughter, Frances Marion, to Irving Dickinson Tate, ensign, U. S. N. R., son of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Tate of St. Paul, Minn. Ensign Tate, sometimes known as I. Dick Tate, is stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

Miss Morton is a graduate of the Francis W. Parker school and of Pine Manor. Ensign Tate is a graduate of Phillips Andover academy and of Yale university, class of 1932. He has been engaged in business in St. Louis, but has many friends here. The wedding will take place on Oct. 20 and Ensign Tate and his bride probably will be at home at the Great Lakes.

Miss Barbara Buchanan, the DeWitt Buchanans' daughter, departed Tuesday for Seattle to be a bridesmaid for Miss Nancy Russell of St. Louis when she is married to Timon Trimm on Saturday. Miss Buchanan, the bride-to-be, and her parents, the Guy Russells, and brother, Ned, a Cornell graduate, went west together. Ensign Trimm is stationed at the naval base in Seattle, and a reception will be held at the Officers' club there following the ceremony.

The bride's other attendant will be Mrs. Gilbert H. Scribner Jr., the former Helen Shoemaker, who also is living in Seattle. Miss Russell and Miss Buchanan were roommates at Dobbs Ferry. Miss Buchanan will return to Chicago by way of California. Ned Russell is to come here to take his training in Abbott hall.

Mrs. Robert Pirie to Join Husband in New York.

Mrs. Robert S. Pirie is spending a busy few days in Chicago, for she just returned yesterday from a visit in Beverly, Mass., with her mother, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, and she departs on Monday to join Mr. Pirie in New York. Bobby and Joan Pirie are still with their Grandmother Carpenter and will stay there until their parents are settled in an apartment in East 66th street that they have taken. Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter will remain in the east until early November.

The Robert Hixons and Miss Barbara Hixon are entertaining at the last of the Onwentsia's dinner and dancing parties tonight for Debutante Lana Jelke. The Hixons will serve cocktails at their home before taking their young guests to the club.

Gwendolyn Louise Currier, who will be four in February, will have a new playmate when her parents,

Sunbeam Leaguers Promoting Horse Show

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Patricia Masterson and Miss Jeanne O'Donnell (right) are members of the Sunbeam league, which is having its first fall meeting today at the Stevens hotel. The league, which conducts free kindergartens for crippled and underprivileged children in the Chicago area, will receive the proceeds from a horse show the Town and Country Equestrian association is holding on Sept. 20 and 21 in Harms Woods. Miss O'Donnell is co-chairman with Mrs. Nicholas R. Harrison of the ticket committee.

Designers Let Fancy Run Wild in Autumn Garb

BY REA SEEGER.

Nothing like a preview of an important fall collection to show the way of new fashions, or what enterprising designers right here in Chicago do with such materials as taffeta, dull crêpe, velvet, fine soft jersey, in silk or wool, with old and new decorative trim details, such as jet, fringe, tassels, double ruchings, visibly stitched seams, clever tuck folds, and new ideas in skirt formations.

Impressive ideas culled from a recent show include such breathtaking creations as ball gowns of stiff stand-alone taffeta in dull black. Straight elbow length sleeves to a quaintly old fashioned bodice worn over the skirt made the entire gown nostalgically Victorian, even more so because of the long gleaming jet tassels that trimmed the chest and shoulder-lines.

A madonna blue satin was etched with glittering black sequins in widely spaced butterfly designs on the skirt and a meandering all-over design on the fitted basque bodice. And the heart breaker was black velvet, wide of skirt, skimpy of bodice, with wide double ruched bands of black chiffon running around the skirt at kneeline, the edges of the simple elbow length sleeves and around the off-the-shoulder neckline. These and others of the collection were highlights of the show, worth all the excitement and approval they caused among the audience!

Daytime clothes were unusually elegant, especially those fashioned of dull crêpe, then shadowed in black velvet in flattering designs of flowers or vinelike leaves. They are the kind of deceptively simple looking models, the last word in chic when worn to flatter the body silhouette. Some suavely draped silk jerseys were other star attractions, the jersey luxuriously thick and drapable. Black, a new copper tone called Brazil gold, and a most subtle shade of dull green were featured.

For the suits . . . the snappy new bicycle skirts, the clever and sometimes downright expensive buttons, the smooth cut and fit to all the jackets, or the new loose boxy coats, the dress and jacket duets, and the eye-catching combines of dark and bright color incorporated in the one suit, such as Kelly green with black, russet with a black and white checked vest, and so on. . . , All are important fashion details forecasting the 1941 fashion excitement.

1941 Campaign for Community Fund Launched

The 1941 campaign of the Community Fund of Chicago to raise $3,583,000, all of which is to be expended by charity organizations that do not duplicate the work of public relief agencies, was started last night at a meeting in the Chicago club.

James S. Knowlson.

Industrial, business, and professional leaders who attended were informed that James S. Knowlson, president of the Stewart-Warner corporation, has accepted the post of campaign chairman, and that he will be assisted by Bryan S. Reid and E. P. Brooks.

Reid, general manager of the Socony Vacuum Oil company, will head the sponsors' division, a group of Chicagoans who make personal gifts and solicit donations from liberal givers. Normally the sponsors' division raises about half the annual quota of the fund. Brooks will be chairman of the industrial division, which correlates the work of 73 groups in industry, business, and the professions. Last year this division accounted for 550,000 individual contributions.

Robert A. Gardner, president of the fund, and Reid explained the field covered by the private agencies, of which there are 185 to share the amount raised—Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, and nonsectarian.

This year's budget is $21,000 under that of 1940. Reid said that all the organizations had cut their requirements, altho they are confronted with rising costs and had need of even more money than in past years.

Chairman Knowlson outlined the way in which the spending would be carried out: for relief of families in distress, 32 cents; hospital and clinical care for the indigent, 13 cents; care of hungry and dependent children, 18 cents; education and recreational facilities, 21 cents; nursing services, 3 cents; care of the aged, 2 cents; specialized services, 7 cents, and operation and administration, 4 cents.

The campaign is scheduled to end on Dec. 15.

Good morning!

This is an unremarkable "quickie" based on one of Stewart Edward White's stories.

The tale is about a wanderlust ridden lumberjack [Mr. Fonda] who finally has his feet pinned down for him by a dance hall girl [Joan Bennett] whom he marries. . . .

Filling in the above plot skeleton are men's fights and friendships, the gallantry of another dance hall girl [Ona Munson] and a misunderstanding between the Murdocks which is finally put to naught by—10 little fingers and 10 tiny toes. . . .

The acting's all above reproach, but, otherwise, the piece is pretty trite stuff.

See you soon.

"No Light Came On"

By Alice Ormond Campbell

SYNOPSIS.

Gay Ripley, young American girl, sent by her boss to Paris to buy antiques, runs into her rich and snobbish Cousin Lou Rentrew, who insists Gay go home with her. Almost at once Mrs. Rentrew is taken to a hospital, ill, and Gay is left in the apartment with her cousin's brother-in-law, Horace Rentrew, and her servants, Hortense and Manx. Gay goes to the hospital to visit her cousin and runs into Miles Dorsey, a young Englishman, who is a junior partner in a firm that looks after her cousin's affairs, and Raoul de Chabenil, a charming gigolo. With misgivings, Gay agrees to take Lou's jewel box home and put it in the wall safe.

INSTALMENT IV.

A LIFT.

Hortense could cook, and Manx was a good butler. As for the honesty and so on, well, Cousin Lou must be the judge.

"I still don't like having all this responsibility," I demurred, but she laughed me down.

"Shut up!" Taxi, room, safe. What's wrong about that? And it'll only be a few days till I'm back. Put the cast on that chair. Now let's see what this Hungarian woman's made for me."

The girl I'd last seen strolling in from the garden was standing three feet off in the corridor, stiff as a ramrod, her pale face a mask. She inclined her head proudly, stalked in like an automaton and began undoing her box.

"You are better, madame?"

"Why, Madame Estrella. I never was ill! Needed rest, that's all. Is that the negligee? Shake it out."

The dressmaker extended a long arm like a scimitar and let a robe of supple oyster crêpe shimmer to the floor. She was beautiful. Bone beauty it was, for her coloring was drab, her cheeks faintly hollowed under pronounced cheekbones. Somehow she made me think of olives. It was her skin, I think, because her clothes weren't green. She had on a beige frock and a short jacket of chocolate brown with a draped turban to match.

Cousin Lou was reaching out avidly to claw at the satin crêpe. "Sure this is the material I chose?"

"The same, madame. You are pleased?"

"M-m-m . . . yes, perhaps. Not bad, is it Gay? That'll do, it can go in the wardrobe."

The Hungarian took a padded hanger from the wardrobe. Her back was turned, but I caught her reflection in the glass over the dressing table and got a queer shock down my spine. If ever I'd seen hate! It glared from the long almond shaped eyes, turned the mouth into a cruel red gash. Yet when she faced round it was all gone like breath from a window pane. I must have imagined it, for here she stood, passive and expressionless, beautiful hands at her sides, while Cousin Lou scribbled a check and prattled happily in her best grande dame manner.

"Fancy, Gay, it was Raoul—that's to say Monsieur de Chabenil—who put me on to this clever person. She does lingerie, you know, all from her own designs. This thing was modeled exclusively for me. Not going to copy it, are you, Madame Estrella?"

"Never, madame." The voice was low but suddenly harsh.

"Well, mind you don't. No, don't give me a receipt; mail it to the Avenue Malakoff."

"Thank you, madame. Au revoir, madame."

She was gone.

"These poor refugees," shrugged Cousin Lou. "One must do what one can to help them. O, come in, nurse! Well, Gay, you'll have to be shoved out. Now remember! Taxi straight away. Unless . . . here, did Manx bring you in the car?"

"He did. I sent him away."

"Fine! I mean," she muttered, "the fewer we let in on this the better. Manx! Well, he'd give me hell for not having all this deposited in the bank."

No time to mull over this rather odd remark, altho I did remember in a flash the times I'd seen Manx watching his mistress like a jaundiced hawk—suspicions, disapproving. I recalled, too, how more than once Cousin Lou had flown out at him, and at Hortense, as if these two faithful servants were getting badly on her nerves. It had definitely occurred to me that both of them were riding for a fall, but maybe I was wrong.

I bent over and got two pecks, French fashion, one on each cheek. Then the pointed red nails dug into my hand and Cousin Lou hissed in my ear.

"Listen! The person you found with me was Estrella. Only her. That's for Horace. Understand?"

"I've got you."

I smiled, clutched my jewel loaded beauty case, and went out.

Just outside the door I stumbled against a nicely appointed tray with nothing on it but a cup of cold vegetable puree. The nurse moved the trestle supporting the tray and followed me to the elevator, I suspected in order to have a private word.

"Mrs. Rentrew looks well," I said. "What does the doctor think is the matter with her?"

The plucked brows went up. "Plenty. It's blood pressure. O, yes, right up to the sky!"

"O!" I gasped a little. "I ought to have guessed." I was thinking of how Cousin Lou had suddenly panted and seemed all burned up. "So that's it! I see."

"She won't believe it, you know. Funny, isn't it, how we all shut our eyes to things like that? The fact being she had a stroke. Not a bad one, naturally, but the tests show what her condition is like, and the next one—well, you never know, do you?"

"You mean it—it might kill her?"

"Or leave her paralyzed. Pity. So young in her spirits."

Pity? It was tragedy. I asked what could be done, pretty certain of the answer. My brother Philip's a doctor. He's told me quite a lot.

"O, diet. Rest. No shocks."

"Shocks!"

The nurse's beady lashed eyes met mine significantly. "I know what you're thinking. I thought the same. When that fool yelled fire I rushed straight in. He'd got to her first, tho, and was calming her down like magic. Lucky, in a way."

The elevator had risen. I got inside and sank slowly down.

In the street a number of cars were drawn up, but no taxi. I was just debating whether or not to get the receptionist to ring for one when a firm hand took the beauty case from my hand.

"You, Miss Gay! May I be permitted the pleasure of driving you where you wish to go?"

The dark brown eyes dancing into mine belonged to Cousin Lou's boy friend, Raoul de Chabenil. And there, by the curb, stood his sports car, impudent, spang new.

"Please," he begged, noticing that I hung back. "I'm at a loose end, as you see."

I doubt if any woman under 90 could have withstood his charming persuasiveness, but, flattered tho I was, I hadn't quite let go of the case.

"It's most terribly kind of you, Monsieur de Chabenil. I am going home, but——"

"Then let me drive you there. I rather wanted to speak of your cousin."

"Pardon me," said a dry voice in my ear, and a third hand laid hold of the beauty case. I whipped 'round and saw Manx, with cool authority, heading for a familiar gray sedan.

"Manx," I cried, annoyed. "Didn't I tell you not to wait?"

He was woodenly stowing the case in at the front.

"That is quite all right, Miss," he said, conveying subtle correction. "Home, is it?" He held open the rear door.

It put my back up. I couldn't stand there and haggle, still less explain why I preferred a taxi to a private car. On the other hand, there wasn't a taxi all the length of the street, and to go back and telephone for one would look very peculiar.

It may have been the young Frenchman's eyes, running over with laughter, that tipped the balance. After all, I'd taken a dislike to Manx, who to my mind was both nosy and officious. And with the Frenchman, a "dear friend" of Cousin Lou's, I could keep that case in my lap. . . .

"No, Manx," I said firmly, "I'll have that back if you don't mind. This gentleman is driving me home."

"As you please, Miss."

The length of time Manx took getting the case out and restoring it to me showed he was put out. He had a face that might have been molded in rough concrete—unmoving, deeply grooved, little pitmarks all over it. His thin slit of a mouth tightened, his eyes, too close together and darkly bilious, gave the two of us a long, sour look as we climbed into the sports model and whizzed neatly away.

Over a beautifully tailored shoulder Monsieur de Chabenil glanced back to where the butler still stood beneath the clipped plane trees, eyeing us.

"So that is the celebrated Manx!" A chuckle of gay triumph. "Is he always so like a stern schoolmaster?"

"Or a jailer." I shut up, realizing it wouldn't do to discuss my hostess' employés. "O," I cried, "mind that taxi! Well, of all things! Look who's here."

Bolt upright, in an open taxi whose driver was hurling abuse at us, sat Hortense, Cousin Lou's cook.

"Why?" My companion's sleek head swerved nonchalantly. "Do you know that very respectable mountain of flesh?"

I didn't say that I'd hardly recognize the woman, not because she was dressed up but because her small, pale eyes, usually very merry, had glared forth with such baleful ill-humor. They confirmed my impression of Hortense's being two-faced. I understood why Cousin Lou had called her a devil and on a recent occasion packed her off home.

LOOKING AT HOLLYWOOD

By Ed Sullivan

The Observation Post.

They're on the way, a flood of long awaited and long needed new faces on the screen and on the stage. . . . Red Skelton, Danny Kaye, Abbott and Costello, Joan Leslie, Bette Fields, Dorothy Cumingore, Pat Dane, Laired Cregar, Gene Tierney. . . . The tide is rising. . . . Chief gainers are the patrons, the customers. . . . When an Adele Longmire clicks on Broadway, or a Carol Bruce, it stimulates the profession. . . . When a Gene Kelly drifts on stage and attracts a following, it's good for every one involved. . . . And it is high time, if you don't mind a sotto voice observation, that we are getting some new personalities. . . . The older ones had just about played out their string of tricks and mannerisms. . . . New players around them will freshen up the veterans, too.

There are other youngsters who have been neglected gravely in the movies. . . . Certainly Annabella proved, if proving were needed, at Westport, Conn., this summer, that she is one of the most resourceful technicians of the profession. . . . The first producer who really sits down and prepares a rôle for her will strike pay dirt. . . . Hollywood dismissed her after "The Baroness and the Butler," blaming a bad picture on her, rather than blaming a bad picture for making her appear at a disadvantage. . . . Coming along rapidly is John Wayne. . . . I thought he was very good in "Shepherd of the Hills," despite the laggard gait of that flicker. . . . If Sam Goldwyn is looking for an actor to play the part of Lou Gehrig, Wayne would be pretty nearly ideal [providing he can chuck left handed].

The veterans are fine, but after a performer has been in service for 15 years or 20 years he loses the quality of suspense that is obtained by a performer who is new to you. . . . The reason for the success of foreign pictures, or at least one substantial reason, is that the actors and actresses are new to you. . . . Their mannerisms are piquant, because they haven't been worn thin by repetition. . . . Everything about 'em is exciting because of its freshness. . . . Performers who have been seen for 20 years, or 15 years, lack that advantage of surprise. . . . And it is an important advantage to hold.

If I were a performer going to Hollywood I'd beg my agent to get me any of four types of rôles, [1] the rôle of a mob killer; [2] the rôle of a priest; [3] the rôle of a doctor, and if I were an actress [4] the part of a hard hearted Hannah. . . . Next to those, in preference, would be the part of the country yokel who outwits the city slickers. . . . Each of these rôles is actorproof, and if you think not, regard the history of the movies and of the stage and see if you can find one performer who has flopped if thus cast.

Humphrey Bogart, Jimmy Cagney, Edward G. Robinson, and George Raft have done very handsomely in killer characterizations. . . . Paul Muni first clicked big as a chain gang fugitive. . . . Of these five, Robinson and Muni least needed the aid of actorproof rôles, because each of them is a thoroly skilled performer. . . . Both have shown amazing versatility, and their technical brilliance shines thru any part.

Child Using Hands Stores Up Pleasure

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

One of our columns, on the subject of children learning to use their hands, had appeal for many who read it. Here is one response:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"I have read your recent article, 'Useful Work With Hands Good Spare Time Hobby,' and altho I follow your articles almost daily, this one seems to be so true that I have to comment on it.

"As a very little girl I was always allowed to use a pair of scissors, and became so skilled that I never once even cut myself.

"As I became older most of my recreational time was spent in some handicraft, such as crocheting, knitting, and mending. Even as I became of working age, I still continued that theme. Every spare minute on train, trolley, or bus was spent using my hands.

"I might add that I have a 7 month old son now, and am crocheting and knitting many of the articles he wears. And altho my hands are busy all day taking care of him, my husband, and my house, I still sit down at night and enjoy my hobby, even if it is only for a little while. I do it to relax. The night is long enough to keep your hands still and idle your time away with sleep.

—A MOTHER WHO KNOWS."

This letter illustrates the point I made rather briefly in the article the writer refers to. It was that when children are brought up in a family where the use of one's hands is an accepted procedure, or where the grownups encourage the children doing things that require manual skill, future delight and profit too, are being stored up.

"Articles Children Can Make" and "Christmas Presents Parents Can Make" are available to readers. Send a large stamped addressed envelope for each leaflet. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago, Ill.

Methodists Urge United States to Remain Out of War

Quincy, Ill., Sept. 10 (AP).—The seven district superintendents of the Illinois Conference of the Methodist Church urged today that the "United States should remain out of the present conflict in Europe and the far east, and should assume its full share of responsibility for the creation of a world order offering security and opportunity to all people of the earth."

The report was made at the conference's annual session by Dr. Raye Ragen of the Jacksonville district.

It opposed "continuation of organized liquor traffic."

The Sundet Home for the Aged and the Chaddock Boys' school, both located here, are debt free, Dr. Ragan announced, with Chaddock looking to a building and endowment expansion program.

Announcement was made that Dr. Ivor M. Johnson, pastor of the Grace Methodist church at Decatur, has been transferred to the Rock River conference and will be the new pastor of the Chicago Methodist temple.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

The skin that is more than ordinarily dry and so thin that it blotches when a stiff breeze blows needs much more than casual attention.

Trying to toughen it up is futile. You just have to accept the fact that you're stuck with a skin as fragile and delicate as a rose petal; which is all very well for the poets to sing about but a downright pain in the neck to live with.

Such a skin must be kept exquisitely clean, but it won't stand for stiff measures. Occasionally, no soap and water can be used at all—but such cases are rare. If the water is soft and the soap superfatted the skin can usually be washed at least once a day.

Cleansing cream must be used frequently, since grime is as irritating to the sensitive skin as wind, cold and heat. And it's been our experience that the cleanser must be an extremely rich one that contributes to lubrication as it cleans.

One of the best we have ever found is especially compounded for the sensitive skin; it's a thick, gooey, incredibly rich liquid. It smells oily and feels oily, but pleasantly so, and the parched skin simply laps it up. It goes on smoothly, and should be allowed to remain on the skin for a couple of minutes—it isn't one of those quick-as-a-wink dirt chasers. It's really a treatment cleanser, and a beautiful one, that leaves the skin immaculately clean and comfortably moist and soft.

Much attention has been given to lunches for school children, and rightly, but breakfast is just as important a meal. In some ways breakfast is even more important than lunch, since it comes after the longest period of fasting in the day, and since it must fortify the eater all thru the long morning.

Even at breakfast time it's not wise to serve small children all the foods that an adult might enjoy eating. Hot breads, griddle cakes, and fried foods have no rightful place in the diet of any small child. Up until the time a child is 8 years old most authorities feel his meals should be a variation of his food as a 2 year old rather than an adaptation of adult meals.

Fortunately most of the foods that a small child requires at breakfast time are those which should be included in the adults' diet, so that one meal can be adapted to fit the whole family's needs.

A young child's breakfast should consist of fruit juice or, occasionally, well cooked stewed fruit, a cooked whole grain cereal, very dry toast, or plain buttered bread, and occasionally soft cooked or poached egg.

If citrus or tomato juice isn't included in the breakfast these sources of vitamin C should be included in some later meal. For the sake of including as much vitamin B as possible the cooked cereal should be whole grained or vitamin fortified.

Cod liver oil is included in these breakfasts, since most small children need some during the winter time and breakfast seems the best meal of the day in which to include it. It's just as well for children to think of cod liver oil as a food rather than as a medicine. The exact amount should be determined by your physician.

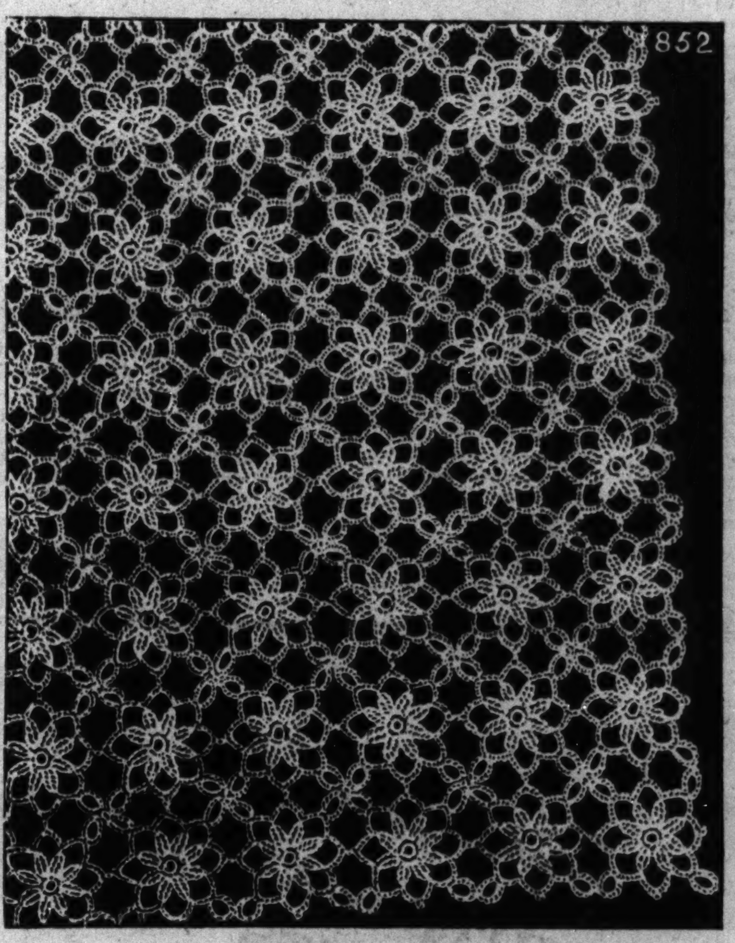
Doily with Petunia Motif



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Petal and cluster stitches are enjoying wide popularity with crochet workers this season. These stitches are by no means new, but are being revived. This original petunia motif is quickly worked up and creates an ideal luncheon doily. Ivory mercerized crochet cotton is the suggested medium for luncheon sets. If runners or dresser scarfs are desired, one of the finer threads may be used.

For instructions in crocheting the petunia motif for a luncheon doily, No. 852, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York City.

Sept. 11, 1941.

Universal day—Watch your step today as the vibrations are high powered and mixed.

Names and numbers—In analyzing the vocation number of Winston Churchill, we find it represented by the number 30, or 3. [Nov 30, 1874.] Remember that Roosevelt's vocation number is also a 30. Here we have two men who certainly can and do use the spoken and written word with all the dexterity and ease that we must expect from a 30 birthdate. Both men love words, love to play with them and make plays on them. You can see the sly enjoyment in Churchill's face when he mouths some of his apt phrases, and we are quite familiar with the joy with which Roosevelt turns a phrase.

There is the number of words, of the expression of ideas and of personality thru words. It is not surprising then that Churchill has so many books to his credit, was and is a brilliant journalist and orator.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

Still in a vacation mood? Hold it! Why not keep those restful summer habits of easy cooking all winter? You can, and serve tasty nourishing meals, too, if you stock your pantry with Canned Meats, ready to heat and eat. But one caution—only quality canned meats can take the place of home-cooked ones. So ask for Wilson's Certified Canned Meats. Certified Corned Beef Hash, for example, is more richly meated, made of choicer ingredients than the ordinary kind. Always keep it on hand.

• Add 2 Clear Brook Eggs (beaten) to a can of the hash; form in a loaf; bake 25 minutes.

• Using the above mixture, fill muffin tins; make a depression in the center of each; break a Clear Brook Egg in each depression; season the eggs and bake.

And here are three other "quick-fix" meats to prolong that vacation feeling:

WILSON'S Certified TAMALES, CHILI CON CARNE and BEEF STEW

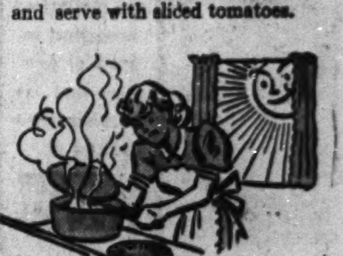
When you don't want to leave the ironing or the cleaning too long to fix lunch, Wilson's Certified Tamales are the answer. Just heat and serve with sliced tomatoes.



Why stew over a Beef Stew?

You'll find that the rich flavor and choice meat of Wilson's Certified Beef Stew hits the right spot even with the most critical family.

APPROVE PLAN TO GIVE THE 'L' USE OF SUBWAY

Council Committee O.K.'s Temporary Permit.

An ordinance granting a temporary permit to the Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated lines] to use Chicago's 8¾ mile subway system, when completed, was recommended to the city council yesterday by the committee on local transportation.

City officials expect the subway tunnels to be completed some time next year. Altho the proposed permit to the "L" includes the entire subway, Bernard J. Fallon, co-trustee of the elevated lines, said the company has insufficient cars to operate the whole system. Consequently, the 455 all-steel cars now used on the "L" will be run thru the State street subway, but operation of the Dearborn street tunnel will be deferred indefinitely—until more cars can be acquired.

The Connections Planned.

The 4½ mile State street tubes will be connected with the north side and south side "L" structures and the Dearborn street tunnel will connect with the Logan Square "L," serving northwest siders.

Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the transportation committee, said the permit ordinance for the "L" will be called up for passage by the council Sept. 22. If passed, it will be submitted to a public referendum vote at the Nov. 4 election, Quinn added.

Ald. Paul H. Douglas [5th] objected to the committee meeting yesterday to the city's failure in the proposed permit to charge the "L" lines compensation for using the subway. Douglas asked Philip Harrington, subway commissioner, how much it is costing to build the subway, and Harrington estimated 63 million dollars. He said the elevated road is financially unable to pay compensation.

"Then I think the title of this ordinance should be 'the 63 million dollar lend-lease ordinance,'" Douglas said.

A Cancelation Clause.

The ordinance, Harrington explained, grants a permit to the "L" which can be canceled by the city on 30 days' notice. It provides transfer privileges between the elevated lines and subway routes, and requires the elevated lines, when financially able, to buy one experimental streamlined subway train at least 300 feet long, and as soon as possible to buy 1,000 new all-metal subway cars. The company is committed by the ordinance to adapt its 455 present steel cars for subway operation at an estimated cost of $130,000.

The Chicago Motor Coach company yesterday began its presentation of evidence before the commerce commission to support its contention that the 10 cent bus fare is not excessive.

INDICT COUNTY EMPLOYE; POSED AS NAVY FLYER

Thomas A. Cotter, 27 years old, son of the late Police Lieut. Sylvester Cotter, was indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury on a charge of having impersonated a naval officer. Lieut. Cornelius Kelly of the naval intelligence department said Cotter had been masquerading as a lieutenant in the naval flying corps since July 1 and had cashed bad checks for $297.

According to Kelly, Cotter gave checks for $97 to a loop tailor for white and blue naval uniforms. Kelly said Cotter was on leave from a civil service job in the county assessor's office.

Cotter, who lives at 6958 Schubert avenue, was released on $1,000 bond by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward. His father was killed in an automobile accident in 1936.

Firemen Fight to Save 2 Children; Win—and Lose

A 5 year old girl, overcome by gas in her home, was revived by a fire department rescue squad yesterday, but another squad was unable to save a 5 week old baby who was smothered when her head was entangled in a blanket. The girl saved is Rosemary Willfinger, 1812 North Kedzie avenue. She became unconscious in her bedroom and her mother, Mrs. Helen Willfinger, summoned firemen. The strangled infant was Janet Louise May of 1942 Potomac avenue. Capt. Joseph Flahive and fire department rescue squad 2 tried in vain to revive her.

LEND-LEASE MILK HIKE DENOUNCED BEFORE COUNCIL

McDermott Rips Policy; Attacked by Bowler.

Government use of lend-lease funds to purchase condensed milk for Britain, which has resulted in a big hike in the price of Chicago's retail milk, was condemned vigorously yesterday by Ald. James J. McDermott [14th]. The alderman, a Kelly-Nash leader and a strong New Dealer, made his remarks at a council meeting.

"The law of nature and necessity comes before any federal marketing agency or the sending of lend-lease food to foreign lands," he declared. "Charity begins at home. Only surplus products should be sent abroad. Until local demands are satisfied the Chicago public should not be punished by having to pay 15½ cents a quart for milk."

The Previous Prices.

Prior to July 1 the delivered quart price was 13 cents. A 1 cent raise was made then. On Sept. 1 the government tied the price paid to farmers supplying milk to Chicago directly to the condensery price, skyrocketing under the impetus of lend-lease buying, and another 1½ cents was added to the consumers' price.

The McDermott protest was made over the opposition of Ald. James Bowler [25th], who said: "I don't like his attack on the government."

Bowler's assertion that McDermott was out of order was overruled by Mayor Kelly, who held that the 14th ward leader had the right to express his opinions.

"Likes and Dislikes."

"Surely likes and dislikes will never prevent an American citizen from speaking his thoughts," declared McDermott. "If the alderman doesn't like what I say he can answer me."

Bowler retorted that McDermott was wasting the council's time.

"Is it a case of wasting time or not liking what I say?" asked McDermott. "I'm as good a citizen as you ever were, are, or will be."

He said that if nothing is done to protect consumers before the next council meeting he will ask adoption of a resolution for a senate investigation of the milk situation.

Fears Higher Prices.

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], chairman of a committee investigating living costs, asserted that he believed the milk price would go to 16½ or 17 cents unless something was done. He asked authority to send to the department of agriculture a recommendation that the purchase of lend-lease condensed milk in the Chicago milkshed be limited as a protection to consumers.

This authority was given without objection. Witnesses at Lindell's committee hearing had testified that the government had a long term policy of foreign aid under lend-lease and intended to keep the farm prices high.

STATE ST. IS HAVING MOST SUCCESSFUL AUTUMN SINCE 1928

State street stores are enjoying their best autumn shopping season since 1928, Elmer T. Stevens, president of the State Street council, reported yesterday.

The report referred not to the weather, but to business bought and sold as Fall Fashion week, sponsored by the stores which front on State street, is being held. All merchants, from drugs to shoes to jewels to department stores, report a highly satisfactory increase in trade. In most instances it is far above expectations, with many luxury items being bought.

Fall Fashion week, sponsored by members of the council for the last four years, is signalized by unusually brilliant window and street displays and special bargain offers. It will continue thru Saturday.

GOV. GREEN BACK; LISTS NEEDED IMPROVEMENTS

Hospital Repairs, Road, Weed Work Planned.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 10 [Special].—Gov. Dwight H. Green returned to Springfield tonight, having completed his first inspection tour of 14 state institutions and parks which took him 1,700 miles within the last nine days. He immediately announced he would visit the remaining hospitals and recreation centers maintained by Illinois before Christmas.

Many repairs on hospitals for the feeble minded and insane will be undertaken shortly by the department of public welfare, the governor said as he reached home, with particular attention to kitchen and dining facilities. Green was obviously not pleased with some of the conditions he found.

Widen Chanute Field Road.

The state will also support the widening of route 45 from Chanute field, Rantoul, for a distance of 15 miles to Champaign, the governor said following a drive over the crowded, narrow highway this morning. With more than 20,000 soldiers quartered in the army ground school at Chanute field, the traffic to Champaign is extremely heavy and accidents are multiplying.

In an interview at Champaign, following his appearance on a radio round table with University of Illinois agricultural experts, Green said the state will increase its weed cutting service on state highway rights of way to help farmers whose crops are hindered with weed seeds blown by the wind.

"State roads in general are in good condition," Green said, "altho some are not adapted to modern travel. When they were built economy rather than safety seemed to have been the watchword. Many are badly in need of repair and widening."

Route 66 to Be Widened.

The governor then said he would give his support to the widening of route 45. In Alton last week he announced that he favored the construction of a four lane highway on route 66, the well used thorofare between Chicago and St. Louis.

Starting from St. Charles on Sept. 2, Green almost traversed the old campaign route from "Galena to Cairo" which politicians have traveled for generations. This was not a political tour, but crowds met the governor everywhere and he spoke briefly dozens of times.

The only prison visited was the southern Illinois penitentiary at Menard, but the governor drove thru two large air fields—Chanute and Scott field near Belleville—and was taken on an inspection of the Rock Island arsenal.

STABS SELF TO DEATH.

Louis Hochheim, 78 years old, stabbed himself in the neck, chest, and abdomen yesterday in his home at 1741 North Tripp avenue. He died in Belmont hospital. His widow said he had been ill.

REVEALS POLICE WERE SUSPENDED OVER RAPE CASE

The suspension of three policemen of the Racine avenue station on Tuesday was ordered, it was revealed yesterday by Police Commissioner Allman, because of the manner in which they investigated the complaint of a young woman that she had been raped. Those suspended are Sergt. John Lynch and Detectives Cornelius Collins and Thomas Carey.

Two young men are in custody and accused by the victim of having raped her three weeks ago. They are Edwin Grudecki, 25 years old, 2244 Iowa street, and Joseph Gorski, 22, of 1417 Division street. A third prisoner, Frank Ganka, 23, of 1443 Thomas street, is being held for investigation.

Commissioner Allman said that the two detectives were assigned to investigate the case when the complaint was made several weeks ago, but made no report. The desk sergeant is charged with failing to record the complaint. No arrests were made until the victim made a second complaint to the commissioner's office on Monday.

N. U. HAS BACKS BUT COULD USE MORE LINEMEN

Wildcats May Not Match 1940 Record.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Lynn Waldorf, head coach of Northwestern's football team, and his number one assistant, Burt Ingwersen, accomplished a neat miracle last year with the Wildcats. Because of this, gridiron prognosticators may be inclined to overrate the 1941 material.

You recall, no doubt, that Minnesota, champion of the Big Nine, defeated Northwestern by only one point, 13 to 12; that Michigan, runner-up to Minnesota, because of another one point victory by the Gophers, defeated Northwestern, 20 to 13, and that the Wildcats then whipped Notre Dame in a brilliant climactic battle, 20 to 0. This excellent record of six victories, two against non-conference competition, and two defeats may not be matched this fall.

A Dark Horse, Maybe.

Northwestern's personnel problem, however, is identical with that of 1940. The Wildcat line must be recast, and if the united efforts of coaches and players are as successful as a year ago, then perhaps the Wildcats can be considered a dark horse in the impending campaign.

The situation is summed up in the prospectus. In the lower left hand corner of the second page is the list of lettermen not returning. These include Dick Richards, quarter back; Ollie Hahnenstein and Paul Soper, half backs; Paul Hiemenz, center; Joe Lokanc, guard; Corne Aarts, tackle; Al Butherus and Jim Smith, ends. In an adjoining column is further evidence in the list of returning lettermen.

Eight Veteran Backs.

There are eight veteran backs, holdovers from the excellent group of 1940. But in the line the only regulars of last year's battles are Alf Bauman, tackle, whose national preëminence rested considerably on his play against Notre Dame, and George Zorich, a guard. There are other lettermen, of course, but these must prove themselves capable of first call assignments.

They include Nick Burke, Buss Heagy, and Paul Kiefer, guards; Leon Cook, whose 230 pounds hit the top weight mark for the squad, and Warren Karlstad, tackles, and Clarence Hasse and Bob Motl, a pair of ends who almost divided playing time last fall with Smith and Butherus.

Northwestern's status in the Big Nine is succinctly stated by Walter Paulison, Wildcat publicist, when he says, "We won't be the worst team in the conference." Northwestern can not be rated with Minnesota, for instance, but should be better than several opponents.

Count on De Correvont.

No small part will be played by Bill De Correvont, who will be the number one left half back. De Correvont finished last season with an excellent game against Notre Dame. Without Red Hahnenstein to share the responsibilities, De Correvont may expect aid from Otto Graham, whose debut last year was delayed by injury, and Don Buffmire, sophomore from Grand Rapids, Minn.

Northwestern's players will have double drills for 11 days, which is the best preseason schedule in recent years. Moreover, the opening game against Kansas State is scheduled Oct. 4, and on the following Saturday Wisconsin opens the conference season in Dyche stadium. Northwestern plays six conference opponents, with Notre Dame coming to Evanston before the final with Illinois.

Move Kruger to Quarter.

The Wildcat squad reported intact except for George Maloney, reserve full back; Alex Sarkisian, sophomore guard, and Russ Wendland, left end. Sarkisian faces a scholastic hurdle.

The Wildcat backs hope to continue the attack that last year netted 170 points for one of the best offensive records in recent Northwestern history. Waldorf, however, still is in-

Northwestern has promising back field material again this season, and among the stars on whom Coach Lynn Waldorf is relying are these four caught yesterday in their first workout of the season at Dyche stadium. Left to right: Bill DeCorrevont, left half back; Don Clawson, full back; Don Kruger, quarter back, and Capt. Floyd Chambers, right half back. (Story in adjoining column.) [TRIBUNE Photo.]

JOHNNY COLAN STOPS VIGH IN EIGHTH ROUND

Johnny Colan, New York boxer, dealt Ernie Vigh the first knockout of his career last night in Chicago Stadium outdoor arena when he stopped the rugged fighter from Newburgh, N. Y., in the eighth round. Vigh's manager, called a halt at the conclusion of the seventh round when he said Ernie no longer could defend himself because of a closed left eye. Referee Johnny Behr concurred in this, but refused to stop the proceedings until after the next round started, making the official ending come in the eighth.

Vigh suffered the injury in the second round after he had absorbed three knockdowns in the previous round. Altho Vigh's ability to avert a clean knockout despite his eye injury, came in for praise, the 4,437 spectators who paid $10,263 received their big thrill in the first round. In that period Vigh, who has a reputation as a heavy hitter, scored with a right to the chin which caused Johnny's knees to sag.

Nick Castiglione, west side 137 pound fighter, scored the most important victory of his career by beating Pete Lello, 1936 Golden Gloves lightweight title holder, in a 10 round slugging match which followed the main event. Castiglione sent his more experienced antagonist to the floor twice in the first round.

SOX BATS BLAZE IN WASHINGTON FOR 12-4 VICTORY

Thornton Lee Coasts to His 19th Triumph.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—The White Sox, facing the danger of having their recent useless bats seized by burocrats to make walking canes for deserving Democrats, this afternoon broke loose with startling fury to beat the Senators, 12 to 4. Thus they saved their slugging instruments and coöperated nobly in the fabrication of Thornton Lee's 19th victory of the season.

Lee, the league's leading southpaw, needs only one more victory to become the first White Sox pitcher since 1936 to win 20 or more games. Vern Kennedy won 21 and lost 9 that season. Lee has lost 10 games. Ted Lyons twice has won 22, the last time in 1930.

Dave Philley, outfielder recently obtained from Monroe of the Cotton States league, made his debut as a starting performer and scored four runs in the first five innings. He figured to be quite a hero until the home fifth, when the Senators sent a couple of fly balls his way. The lad apparently has not been playing where they have grandstands, for he didn't see either ball, his confusion seeming to come from the fact the playing area here is inclosed.

Ten Runs in 3 Innings!

Myril Hoag took Philley's place after the youngster narrowly had escaped serious injury from a drive propelled by George Case. Hoag carried on the distinction of the lead off spot by making two singles.

Nine Sox faced Sid Hudson in the first inning, eight Sox faced Hudson and Wally Masterson in the second inning, and seven faced Masterson in the third. In these three innings the Chicagoans made 10 of their runs and 9 of their 14 hits. Also the Senators helped keep things rolling by commiting five errors in those first three innings.

Taft Wright had a perfect day at bat. He made two singles and a triple in the first three innings, and walked twice later on.

The Senators scored their four runs in the fifth inning in which Jim Webb booted one and Philley had his narrow escape from fly balls. There were only two hits, both singles, in the inning.

Keep Pace With Boston.

The victory ended the Sox's season's relations with the Senators with a ratio of 13 victories for Chicago against nine for Washington.

The success kept the Sox apace with the second place Bostons, whom they continue to trail by a game and a half. The Chicago Sox gained a full game on the fourth place Indians and fifth place Tigers.

The Sox left after the game for Philadelphia, where they will open a three game series tomorrow afternoon. Johnny Rigney will pitch for the Sox, Herman Besse for the Athletics.

You Never Knew.

I shed no tears the day you went away
Lest I should make your last long journey sad,
I smiled and half pretended to be gay
So you might think my heart was truly glad;
It would have filled you with regret to know
That one you loved was sorrowing for you,
And so with a brave smile I watched you go
Into the shadows, and you never knew.

But who shall weigh the sorrow of the years,
The sleepless nights, the starkness of the dawn!
And who shall realize the toll of tears
That I have wept for you since you are gone?
And yet I would not mar your happiness
Even to feel the warmth of your caress.

He doesn't go to church, they say
Nor does he pray [who knows?];
On Sunday he gets in his car,
Tells no one where he goes.

And children he adores;
The old folks are his protégés,
He minds their petty chores;
The mendicant on yonder street

That while he never goes to church
His life is heavenly.

DEFEATS TRIM BROOKLYN LEAD TO SINGLE GAME

Schmitz, Erickson Triumph.

Cards vs. Dodgers

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 10 [Special]. — The Cardinals will open their three game series with the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers tomorrow with Ernie White, their 25 year old southpaw, doing the pitching against the veteran Fred Fitzsimmons. The Cardinals cut the three game lead of the Dodgers to one game today by whipping the Phillies twice. Details on page 22.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The sixth place Cubs jabbed their bats into the National league's pennant pie again yesterday and just about ripped the hearts from the pacemaking Dodgers in Wrigley field.

With almost ghoulish glee Jim Wilson's lads broke loose with a ninth inning splurge to capture the front end of a double header, 5 to 4. Then they went on to another triumph, this one by 5 to 3, to trim Brooklyn's lead to one game over the Cardinals.

If the Dodgers couldn't assemble their wits for the second battle, there was ample reason for it. By consistent hammering of Claude Passeau in the first game they built up a 3 to 0 seven inning lead for their ace, Kirby Higbe. The Cubs put him to rout with stunning suddenness in the eighth and continued to riot against another ace, Whitlow Wyatt, but fell all over themselves by blind base running. But in the ninth they made amends with an assault which swept Wyatt to the sidelines and continued against Larry French until the third and deciding run had been fashioned.

Nicholson Comes to Life.

Bill Nicholson, whose bat hadn't been very prominent in recent Cub affairs, was one of the ringleaders in the din that beat on the Dodgers' ears. Bill helped to save the first game in the eighth with a double. He singled home the winning run in the ninth to fasten down the first big league victory for Rookie Johnny [Lefty] Schmitz, who pitched to only one batter after Bill Lee had tottered as Passeau's rescuer. And after striking out three times before Luke Hamlin in the second struggle, Nicholson came up in the seventh with a two run homer off Johnny Allen, his 25th, to provide Paul Erickson with the winning margin.

The winning ninth inning of the first game started with a single by Bob Sturgeon. Bob Scheffing, batting for Schmitz, who had finished the first half of the inning for Lee, flied to Medwick. Stan Hack cut into the proceedings with a single to center and Lou Stringer then furnished the blow that tied the score. He rammed a double against the left field ivy, Sturgeon and Hack loping home.

This was where French was summoned to the aid of Wyatt. Larry perpetrated a wild pitch on which Stringer took third, then got Cavarretta on a pop up. An instant later Nicholson singled, Stringer scoring, and that was the finish.

FIRST GAME

In one way Passeau was a wizard in the third inning of the first game. He was nailed for five hits, but only one Dodger scored. Reese led off with a single, went to second on Owen's bunt and crossed the plate on Higbe's single. Walker singled to right, but Higbe was thrown out at third by Nicholson. Herman beat out a bunt and Reiser's infield single filled the bases. Then Cavarretta captured Camilli's fly.

The Dodgers made up for their

SMILIN' JACK—THE STAMP OF DISAPPROVAL

INJURED KRIECK MISSES BADGERS' FIRST PRACTICE

Madison, Wis., Sept. 10 [Special].—Ideal football weather greeted Coach Harry Stuhldreher and a squad of 53 Wisconsin players as practice got under way today.

The squad included only 6 seniors, along with 23 juniors, and 24 sophomores. Of the 55 players invited back, the only absentees were Ray Kreick, 195 pound senior end from Milwaukee, and George Vranesh, 200 pound sophomore center from Keewatin, Minn. Kreick, who caught the game winning pass against Purdue last fall, smashed two toes in an accident several days ago and will be on the sidelines for about two weeks. Vranesh is expected to report tomorrow.

The first team included Gene Lyons and Dave Schreiner at the ends, Dick Loepfe and Lloyd Wasserbach at the tackles, Pat Boyle and Harold Koehler at the guards, Dick Thornally at center, Tommy Farris at quarter back, Mark Hoskins and Teddy Damos at the halves, and Bob Ray at full back. Only two of these players, Farris and Damos, are seniors. The only other seniors on the field were Half Backs Don Miller and Bob Willding, end Frank Milauc, and Center Fred Ellis.

Most promising of the sophomores include Robert Hanzlik and Jack Mead, ends; Loepfe and Tom Ross, tackles; Koehler, Boyle, Evan Vogds and Eugene Walgenbach, guards; Frank Granitz, and Leonard [Bud] Seelinger, half backs, and Marlin [Pat] Harder, full back. Seelinger was forced to quit football because of an injury early last fall.

RIGGS DEFEATS KOVACS, 11-9, 6-4, AT SADDLE-CYCLE

Bobby Riggs, who won the national tennis men's singles title by beating Frank Kovacs last Sunday at Forest Hills, N. Y., beat Kovacs again yesterday, 11-9, 6-3, in an exhibition match at the Saddle and Cycle club.

Mrs. Sarah Cooke, the new women's champion, rallied to win the second set 6-4 after losing 8-6 to Pauline Betz in an abbreviated opening singles match. Miss Betz was runnerup to Mrs. Cooke for the national title.

Riggs and Elwood Cooke, the 1939 Wimbledon champions, defeated Kovacs and Don McNeill, 2—6, 6—3, 8—6 in the doubles windup.

Cubs Purchase Pitcher Gornicki from Cardinals

General Manager James Gallagher announced yesterday that the Cubs had purchased Henry Gornicki, a 26 year old right handed pitcher, from the St. Louis Cardinals. Gornicki was with the Cards last spring, later being returned to their Rochester International league farm for the season.

63 Men Turn Out for First Illini Drill

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 10 [Special].—Sixty-three candidates, half of them sophomores, reported to Coach Bob Zuppke today as he started his 29th season at Illinois.

Dave Dillon, senior, who has won two letters and was expected to be a leading candidate for a tackle or end position, has been ordered to report for military service Oct. 1. Dillon already has taken his physical examination. The loss of Dillon leaves only two linesmen of two years' experience. They are Nate Johnson and Bob Cherry.

The two elevens, including the most veterans, lined up as follows:

TEAM A: Ends—Gibbs, McCarthy; tackles—Wallin, Engel; guards—Pawlowski, N. Johnson; center—Cheeley; quarter back—Worban; half backs—Jimmy Smith, Falkenstein; full back—Pfeifer.

TEAM B: Ends—Tregoning, Thomas; tackles—Gervig, Simpson; guards—Wilson, Niedzelall; center—Agase; quarter back—Good; half backs—Griffin, Gould; full back—Butkovich.

Engel, tried at tackle, was an end last year, and McCarthy, used at end, was sub quarter back.

PURDUE'S TEMPO IS FAST.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 10 [Special].—Purdue took advantage of its only day of double drills with morning and afternoon workouts for a squad of 62 candidates today. Classes open tomorrow morning, restricting the Boilermakers to single drill sessions for the remainder of the season.

WET START FOR BUCKEYES.

Columbus, O., Sept. 10 [Special].—Coach Paul Brown and his Ohio State football team got off to a wet start this morning. Brown ran his 41 candidates thru a long drill on blocking and tackling fundamentals despite a muddy field and intermittent showers.

SOPHS PLEASE BIERMAN.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 10 [Special].—Two sophomores among the squad of 64 got considerable attention at Minnesota today. Herman Frickey of Billings, Mont., was installed on the first team. The other sophomore, Vic Kulbitski of Red Wing, alternated with Flick at center.

54 REPORT AT IOWA.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 10 [Special].—A small squad of 54 candidates today greeted Coach Eddie Anderson at Iowa. Anderson said he was afraid the draft had taken Steven Mizen, 200 pound end from Chicago, whom he had counted upon for heavy service this fall. One Hawkeye veteran—Half Back Burdell Gilleard—already is in the army.

IRISH GET OUT EARLY.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 10 [Special].—Notre Dame practice opened this morning. To avoid the heat, Coach Frank Leahy called the squad out at 7:30 for two hours and repeated with another two hours starting at 4:30 this afternoon. Double drills will be in effect only until next Wednesday, when classes start.

Leahy sent the 52 man squad against blocking and tackling dummies. More fundamental work was followed by dummy scrimmage this afternoon.

MICHIGAN SQUAD HAS HEAVY DRILL; ROGERS REPORTS

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 10 [Special].—Hard blocking and tackling workouts were held as Coach Fritz Crisler ran the Michigan football team thru its first practice today. Crisler indicated that he is worried about the opener with Michigan State Sept. 27 and can't waste time bringing the 60 candidates into shape before starting rugged work.

Joe Rogers, veteran end, reported this afternoon. Simultaneously with Rogers' return came the announcement that Crisler learned in a telephone conversation with Cliff Wise Jr., half back, who understudied Tom Harmon last year, that Wise would not be back this fall. Wise's draft board in Jackson, Mich., notified him Tuesday that he has two alternatives, neither of which would permit him to play football. He faces a choice between remaining on his defense job in a Jackson factory or entering the army immediately.

Tom Kuzma, Gary half back, and John Allerdice, half back, and Walter Freihofer, end, both of Indianapolis, were among sophomores who reported.

RAIN HAMPERS HOOSIERS.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 10 [Special].—The Indiana squad went thru practice today with only 43 candidates. Capt. Gene White, veteran guard, and 10 other lettermen hustled thru early morning rain to the stadium, where Coach Bo McMillin outlined the first week's work.

Harry [Tuffy] Brooks, veteran full back who is due to be drafted Sept. 17 did not dress. Kenny Smith, who won a letter two years ago, reported unexpectedly. Smith won his letter at right half back, but Coach McMillin said he would be used at full back. Indiana's opener is with Detroit Sept. 27.

JOCKEY ARCARO SUSPENDED FOR REST OF SEASON

New York, Sept. 10 (AP).—Eddie Arcaro's hopes of riding Whirlaway again this year were squashed today when he was suspended for the remainder of 1941 by the stewards of the Jockey club for foul riding in the Hopeful stakes at Saratoga Springs on Aug. 30.

The 26 year old Newport, Ky., Italian jockey, given much of the credit for Whirlaway's victories in the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, and Belmont stakes, was held responsible for bothering Walter Chrysler Jr.'s Ramillies with Mrs. Payne Whitney's Shut Out during the run down the back stretch of the 2 year old classic.

The stewards held their meeting today between races at Aqueduct and handed down their announcement after hearing the testimony of patrol judges and Jockey Johnny Longden, who rode Ramillies. Longden flew here from California to testify and planned to fly back tonight.

THAT HAIR RE-GROWS

● Pictured above is Mr. Oscar Daly, a Thomas client. He came to us with a scalp condition which he had been told was alopecia areata. Although his hair might have re-grown spontaneously, it is a fact that it did re-grow coincidentally with Thomas treatment. In practically every case of this type accepted by The Thomas' during the past 20 years, hair has grown back in. We find the repetition of such coincidence very flattering.

If you are afflicted with alopecia areata, or if your scalp is covered with itchy scales caused by dandruff, why not consult a Thomas expert? He'll advise you, in private, and will show you other pictures and letters from satisfied Thomas clients. You'll readily see why a quarter-million persons have turned their scalp problems over to Thomas experts. Come in today!

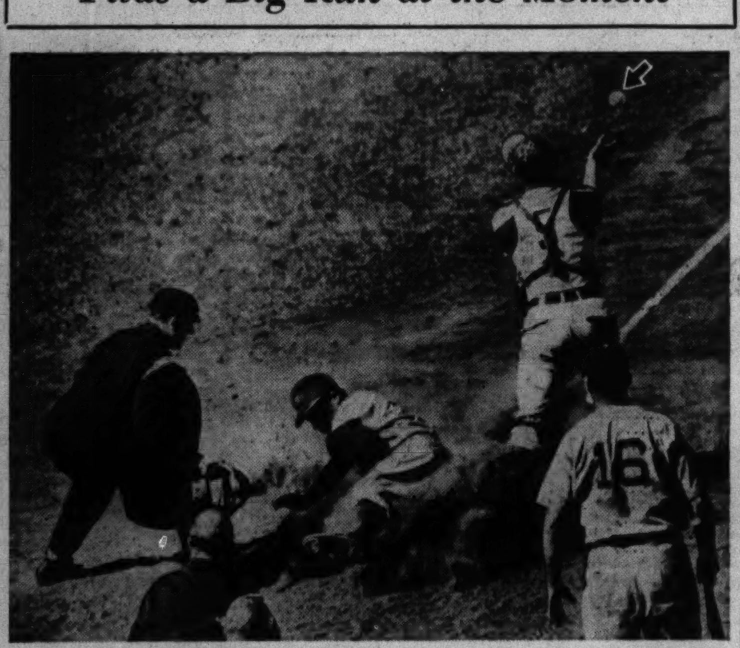
Indians Give Harder Unconditional Release

Cleveland, O., Sept. 10 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians today gave Mel Harder, veteran right hander, his unconditional release. Harder's record this season was five victories against four defeats, and last year he had 12 victories against 11 losses. Harder is 31 and has been having arm trouble.

'Twas a Big Run at the Moment



Joe Medwick, Dodgers' outfielder, sliding into the plate just before ball (arrow) was caught by Clyde McCullough, Cub catcher. The umpire is Beans Reardon. Billy Herman (16), former Cub, awaits his turn at bat. Medwick scored on Dixie Walker's single in the third inning of yesterday's game in Wrigley field. Cubs won it, 5 to 4, with a rally in the ninth.

prodigal waste by getting one run on one hit in the fourth. Stringer assisted by booting Riggs' grounder at the start of the inning. Passeau helped promote the run by walking Medwick. Reese then singled and Riggs registered. Medwick launched the third run by opening the sixth with a single. Reese flied out, Owen walked, and Higbe flied out, after which Walker singled to send Medwick home.

The eighth, which marked the finish of Higbe, began with Cavarretta's triple off the right field wall. He scored on Nicholson's double to left and Wyatt was promptly rushed to the rescue. Whit passed Dahlgren. Dallessandro singled to right, Nicholson scoring. Not satisfied with a single Dallessandro tore for second and was out, Walker to Herman. Meanwhile, Dahlgren was steaming toward the plate and Herman, righting himself after diving to tag Dallessandro, whipped the ball to Owen to kill off the tying run. McCullough then fanned.

SECOND GAME

Erickson's contribution to the Cubs' offense in the second game came in the fifth inning which Scheffing opened with a scratch hit to Riggs. After Scheffing was forced by Sturgeon, Erickson drilled his single into right center, Sturgeon taking third and scoring from there on Hack's fly to Galan.

After Nicholson had fanned for the third time in the sixth, Dahlgren doubled into the left field corner and Dallessandro was purposely passed. Scheffing ruined this maneuver by singling to left, Dahlgren counting. Dallessandro went to third on the hit and scored while Sturgeon was forcing Scheffing.

Camilli led off in the seventh with a double to right. Riggs' single scored Dolph, but Erickson weathered the next two batters. Franks, who had made the only hit off the Cub rookie in the first six innings, singled to right. Coscarart took over the running for Franks and Reiser was sent forth to bat for Hamlin. Before a ball was pitched, tho, Reiser was withdrawn in favor of Medwick, who fouled to Nicholson for the third out.

Johnny Allen retired two Cubs in the home seventh before handing free passage to Cavarretta. His next pitch was the one Nicholson arched into the right field seats for the last two Cub runs. This gave Erickson just enough to nullify the worth of the two ninth inning Dodger tallies which grew from a double by Camilli, a pass to Reese and a hit by Mickey Owen.

Hawaiians Get Down to Work in CYO Center

BY FRANK MASTRO.

The Hawaiian amateur boxers went to work in earnest yesterday afternoon in Catholic Youth organization center for their matches with Chicago CYO standard bearers in Soldiers' field next Wednesday night.

Each of the 10 members was sent thru a four round boxing session by Coach Jackie Wright. After the workout officials said the boys were much stronger than the 1940 aggregation.

In last summer's meet Chicago beat the Hawaiians, 8 to 3. Coach Wright maintains the team has been strengthened by the acquisition of four newcomers, including Timothy Cruz, middleweight, and Pane Meatoga, heavyweight.

Meatoga was singled out yesterday by Charles Luis, delegate in charge of the invaders, for special praise. During a workout with Ray Quintal, captain of the Hawaiian team last year, Pane demonstrated he is superior to George Medeiros, 1940 heavyweight color bearer.

Hubert Hood, who defeated Quintal in the previous tournament as a light heavyweight; Ed Adamoitis and Emerick Mitchell, the latter two contestants in last spring's city Golden Gloves tournament in the Coliseum, are fighting it out at the CYO training camp at Palos park for the assignment against Meatoga.

Chapin & Gore Bourbon
CHICAGO'S OWN FAMOUS WHISKEY

We want to introduce all September visitors and new residents to "C&G"—Chicago's own famous whiskey—one of the finest Bourbons ever barrelled and bottled.

Chicago taprooms, restaurants, hotels and liquor stores are cooperating by making a special feature of "C & G" throughout the month—by the bottle and by the drink.

Don't miss this great Bourbon. As much a part of Chicago as the Loop itself, "C & G" whiskey has been a favorite since 1865. Chicagoans will proudly tell you it's the "best in the world."

WHY "C & G" COSTS YOU LESS
Thanks to the fact it's a local Chicago brand, "C & G" costs you substantially less than many other Bourbons of comparable age. Every drop of "C & G" is genuine "sour mash" Bourbon...smooth, mellow, and delicious...full 5 years old.

MORDECAI WINS LINCOLN PURSE AT HAWTHORNE

Beats Pink Gal; Bob's Way Takes Third.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Mordecai, the horse which couldn't win in the $1,500 claiming class while running under the Arcturus colors, beat one of that stable's best horses, Pink Gal, in the Lincoln Purse yesterday at Hawthorne.

Mordecai, which was claimed from Arcturus for $1,500 by F. W. Cairy during the Washington Park meeting, withstood his former stablemate thru a long, hard stretch drive and held an advantage of three-quarters of a length at the end of this mile and 70 yard run. Bob's Way came up to take third place from the weary Winamac, who had set the pace to the head of the stretch.

Mordecai went to the post at the surprising odds of more than 11 to 1 despite the fact that he already had won twice for his new owners and had been running consistently good races. Pink Gal was the even money favorite. Mordecai paid off at $25, $7, and $4.20.

Four Horses in Spill.

The two races which figured in the daily double were marked by a disqualification and a four horse spill. The disqualification occurred in the first after John Hunnicutt had swerved out sharply, bumping Charlamar as they were charging thru the last sixteenth. John Hunnicutt held a margin of a neck over his rival as they crossed the finish line. After brief deliberation, the stewards placed Charlamar first and John Hunnicutt second.

This was the second time in two days that the officials had occasion to employ the new rule permitting the stewards to use their discretion in the placing of a disqualified horse. Buss had been put second after fouling Innuendo in the last race on Tuesday. Under the old rule, the horse committing the foul would have been placed last even tho he interfered with none of the other contestants.

Jockey Don MacAndrew, who was aboard John Hunnicutt, was cleared of blame for the foul as the colt has a marked tendency toward swerving erratically.

Two Eventful Afternoons.

MacAndrew has had two eventful afternoons. On Tuesday he had ridden four consecutive winners out of five mounts. Then came his victory on John Hunnicutt in yesterday's first race and a few minutes later he figured in the spill on the clubhouse turn in which four riders were pitched to the ground.

The accident in the second race occurred as the field, closely bunched, was heading into the clubhouse turn. Turkey Hash fell and then Bufflehead and The Object tumbled over her. Ava Delight stumbled but managed to retain her footing tho she pitched off her rider.

Three of the boys—MacAndrew, Wilbur Borton and Eddie Wielander—got up without assistance, but Al Ebberts, who had been on Turkey Hash, was taken off the track in the ambulance. He incurred abdominal injuries.

MARKETS FALL ON COLLISION IN FEDERAL POLICY

Cabinet Men Aim for Opposite Goals.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The head-on collision over price policy between two members of the President's cabinet spread confusion thru the commodity markets yesterday.

The Boston, Mass., speech of Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., urging immediate release of surplus farm commodities to prevent further price inflation had a telling effect on all commodity markets. Prices fell, but there was an expansion in the volume of trading in a few commodities.

The effect of Morgenthau's speech was the more striking because it followed by only 24 hours the appeal to farmers by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard calling for increased output of many farm products. Wickard backed his appeal with a promise that high prices would be maintained by the government to encourage increased production.

Ponder Weight of Warning.

How seriously the Morgenthau warning should be taken was not immediately clear to traders. It was recalled that Morgenthau had stood out against prevailing administration policy on earlier occasions. He was the first within the ranks of the administration to call for a reversal of the New Deal's spending policy. His warnings of the consequences to flow from the spending program did not change the course of the administration policy.

Without conclusive information on what administration policy will be, the markets were caught between conflicting forces and the trend of prices, while generally downward, was not decisively so. If the Morgenthau program for checking prices is not immediately applied, traders agreed, a rush to buy would be the normal effect of a warning of the type given by the treasury head.

Urges Release of Surpluses.

In characterizing as "sheer folly" the lifting of prices above the reach of most consumers, Morgenthau called attention particularly to cheese, butter, eggs, beef, and pork. He urged release of the stored up "surpluses" of these products.

These are the products in which the government has concentrated its buying under the lend-lease program. This buying has brought about advances in prices. Furthermore, these are the same commodities the production of which the department of agriculture is seeking to increase and for which continued high prices are promised.

One of the most surprising of Morgenthau's proposals was the relaxation of the import quotas on Canadian wheat. Grain statisticians called attention to the tremendous supply of wheat in this country—enough to meet all domestic requirements for two years. The high domestic price level, grain men said, is based on the loan value fixed by the government. It is the loan program, they said, that is holding surpluses of wheat and other commodities off the market.

SOY BEANS TUMBLE

Soy bean futures, which had advanced the permissible daily limit of 8 cents a bushel on the two preceding days, fell 5½ cents on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday before the tide of selling was stemmed. Wheat's maximum loss was 3 cents, and other grains fell 2 cents or more.

Commodity markets in other cities felt the effect of selling prompted by traders' fears of what would happen to prices should government stocks of certain staples be dumped on the market and imports of Canadian wheat permitted, as proposed by Morgenthau as a check on inflation.

Selling in the Chicago grain market was heaviest in the first hour of trading and prices closed above their lows. Soy beans, holding their final losses within a range of 1⅛ to 4⅛ cents, were still the highest on record, except for Tuesday. October soy beans closed at $1.83½.

Wheat and Corn Decline.

Wheat lost 2 to 2⅝ cents net with December at $1.22; corn, 1¼ to 1⅛ cents; oats, 1⅜ to 1⅞ cents; and rye, 1⅜ to 2⅛ cents. Lard futures were 15 to 20 cents per hundred pounds lower at the close.

The recovery from the lowest marks in grains was attributed to some traders' conviction that the national administration would be unwilling to abandon its program for supporting farm prices in favor of the Morgenthau proposal.

Among other commodities, lower quotations were posted for butter, eggs, cotton, wool, and sugar. The value of commodities sold on the Chicago Mercantile exchange again exceeded 5 million dollars, it was estimated. Transactions in potato futures involved 419 carlots and prices, contrary to the trend, advanced $2.58 to $3.55 a hundred pounds. Sales included 139 cars of butter at 36.55 to 37.10 cents a pound, and 277 cars of eggs at 30.10 to 31 cents a dozen.

Cotton Futures Fall.

In New York cotton futures broke nearly $2 a bale and cottonseed oil lost about ¼ cent a pound. Closing cotton sales were at prices ranging from 17.58 to 18.06 cents a pound and cottonseed oil from 13.54 to 13.84 cents.

Wool tops declined about ½ cent a pound with prices at $1.248 to $1.288 a pound at the close. Profit taking and hedging sales lowered world sugar prices 3½ to 4½ cents a hundred pounds with final sales at $2.07 to $2.08¾ per hundred.

Mehl Calls Futures Market Best Price Making Medium

Trading on organized futures markets under proper regulation and supervision affords the largest possible measure of competition in price making and provides the surest protection against monopoly control of prices, J. M. Mehl, chief of the Commodity Exchange administration, said last night.

J. M. Mehl.

Mehl spoke at a dinner given in the Palmer House by the Chicago Mercantile exchange for officials of the nation's organized commodity markets, leaders of organized agriculture, and futures brokers and traders.

"If we could eliminate speculation in commodities by the simple process of eliminating futures trading, I would say 'eliminate it,'" Mehl said. "Unfortunately the problem is not that simple.

Risks Must Be Borne.

"Large risks are inherent in the production and distribution of farm products. Long production periods, uncertainties of weather and other rapidly changing supply and demand factors inevitably create large risks and price uncertainties.

"The risk is there; it must be carried by some one. It gets down to a question of who will do it.

"It seems to me that, theoretically at least, there is only one answer to that question. Let these large risks be broken up into small parts. Let them be carried by competent and willing risk carriers thru the medium of the futures market, under proper regulation and supervision. Make the rules such as to insure fair play and prevent abuses.

"Trading under such conditions probably affords the largest possible measure of competition in price making and provides the surest protection against price making by private monopoly."

Mehl said that just because farm policy for the last eight years has been pointed toward crop control, commodity loans, surplus marketing and other adjustment measures this is no sign the farmer has lost interest in marketing costs and efficiency in distribution.

Predicts Swing in Interest.

"Having won their battle in the larger field, or at least so it seems today, farmers' interest will swing back to the marketing system," he said. "They will seek economies, stability, and security of markets. They will be interested in the commodity exchanges and the economic services they perform."

Due to the changed conditions in marketing as a result of the war and the farm program, Mehl said the futures market cannot hope to be reestablished on the foundation of large public participation and world-wide speculative interest. Instead they must find their opportunity for growth and service "in the fuller and more balanced use by trade interests—those engaged in the business of marketing, merchandising and processing."

PERMIT RUBBER TRADING.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10 [Special].—Leon Henderson, price administrator, today approved a proposal by the Commodity Exchange, Inc., New York, for resumption of trading in rubber futures for the sole purpose of liquidating outstanding contracts. He specified that trading, to begin Monday, must be conducted under a price ceiling of 22½ cents a pound. Trading was suspended Aug. 13. The 22½ cent figure is the base price fixed by the Rubber Reserve company, an agency of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, for sale of crude rubber to manufacturers.

Arrange U. S. Financing for Metals Plants

Completion of arrangements to finance aluminum and magnesium producing facilities costing nearly 72 million dollars and capable of turning out 142 million pounds of the metals annually was announced yesterday by Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator.

A company new to the aluminum field, Olin corporation of Alton, Ill., figured in the aluminum plant financing. Jones said Defense Plant corporation, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, will finance a $3,900,000 plant at Tacoma, Wash., to be operated by Olin corporation. The plant will produce 30 million pounds of aluminum annually.

Two Magnesium Plants.

Jones said Defense Plant corporation also had agreed to finance two magnesium producing plants which will cost a total of 68 million dollars and will have a combined capacity of 112 million pounds annually.

One of the plants will be built at a cost of 52 million dollars near Freeport, Tex. Its capacity will be 72 million pounds annually. Dow Chemical company will operate it.

The other magnesium plant, to be at Painesville, O., will cost 16 million dollars. Its annual capacity will be 36 million pounds. Diamond Alkali corporation of New York, will operate it.

274 Million Pounds Anually.

Jones outlined the number of magnesium producing plants in operation or in prospect and said that their aggregate annual production would be 274 million pounds. Negotiations are under consideration for some additional capacity by other manufacturers, he added.

He said that the new aluminum plant would boost the annual productive capacity to 1 billion 130 million pounds and that he was "shooting at" a capacity of 1 billion 500 million pounds.

Sears Leases Warehouse Building on Indiana Ave.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. yesterday leased from the Northern Trust company the six story warehouse building at 1538-52 Indiana avenue, containing 100,000 square feet of floor space, thru Dibblee & Manierre, representing the lessor. The average annual rental is $13,500 over a term of years. Philip Levit represented Sears.

Production of the 500,000th shell for the army at Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company's Butler, Pa., plant will be celebrated today at a ceremony in Butler to be attended by army officers and heads of the British purchasing and inspection boards.

C. A. Liddle, president of Pullman-Standard, will present the high explosive shell to Brig. Gen. Burton O. Lewis, of the ordnance department. A representative of Britain and Canada will be presented with shell No. 500,001.

The company announced in Chicago that 296 subcontractors and 41 suppliers of raw materials are participating in its armament production program.

AGREE ON PLAN TO END STRIKE IN MICHIGAN CITY

The defense mediation board announced in Washington yesterday that an agreement had been reached for settlement of a strike at the Pullman Standard Car company, Michigan City, Ind. Details were not disclosed pending ratification by the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America [AFL]. About 1,800 workers have been on strike since Aug. 17.

Employés of the Foote Brothers Gear and Machine company, 5301 South Western boulevard, have authorized a strike of their local of the CIO Machine Tool and Dye union. Louis Torre, organizer, said the company has agreed to wage increases of 10 cents an hour, but has refused to meet several other union demands.

Keeshin Named Chairman of Truckers' Labor Group

John L. Keeshin, president of Keeshin Freight Lines, Inc., yesterday was elected chairman of a committee which represents interstate trucking companies in the handling of labor disputes in about a dozen states, including Illinois. John O'Brien, American Federation of Labor representative, was appointed chairman of a group which negotiates with the employers. The two committees will meet in Chicago Sept. 22.

VITAMIN PRODUCTS.

I've been considering buying some stock in International Vitamin corporation, but recently I learned another company might take it over. Has International Vitamin been making money? What about dividends?

S. L. D.

Answer: Stockholders of International Vitamin corporation at a special meeting Sept. 15 will be asked to approve the offer of American Home Products corporation to acquire the property of the vitamin company thru an exchange of stock. The offer provides, in effect, for the exchange of eight shares of International Vitamin stock for one share of American Home. There are 204,000 shares of $1 par capital stock of the former outstanding, so the exchange would involve 25,500 shares of American Home.

International Vitamin, which manufactures and distributes vitamin products, has had a steady increase in sales in recent years and relatively stable profits. Dividends have been paid since the initial distribution in 1936. This year, three 7½ cent distributions have been authorized, the latest payable Sept. 30, and 30 cents was paid in 1940 and 1939.

Sales and earnings for fiscal years ended June 30 follow:

	Net sales.	Net income.	Per share.
1941	*	$119,606	$0.59
1940	$2,125,556	120,052	0.59
1939	1,514,682	97,694	0.48
1938	1,164,138	106,652	0.52
1937	970,177	115,045	0.56

*Not available.

EIGHT ON ARREARS.

How many arrears dividends has the A. M. Byers company paid so far this year? What do arrears total?

F. G.

Answer: Seven dividends of $1.75 each, plus interest, have been paid on the 7 per cent preferred stock and an eighth of the same amount is payable Sept. 30 on stock of record Sept. 13. With the latter dividend, accumulations will amount to $22.75 and interest a share.

OBJECTION DEADLINE.

What is the deadline for filing objections to the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway reorganization plan? L. B. F.

Answer: The federal court at Chicago has set Sept. 30 as the deadline.

SCANT U. S. GAIN SEEN IN BRITISH EXPORT PLEDGE

Expect Little Change in Empire Trade.

Pact Pleases British

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A white paper issued today, explaining the new lend-lease pact with the United States as curtailing British exports, was interpreted by many as meaning that more automobiles, bicycles, stockings, and other goods which formerly were sent abroad will be available for home consumption.

Besides releasing more goods for the British market, the agreement is expected to have another vital effect. It will enable the board of trade to go ahead with the concentration of industry scheme.

Women especially were pleased, as it looks as if they will be able to get more silk stockings, the manufacture of which for the home market has been banned since Dec. 1. Now the factories will be permitted to release quantities for British sale.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—Official quarters today viewed skeptically a British memorandum promising lend-lease goods will not be misused and that exports will be curtailed so as not to interfere with American interests.

The prevailing opinion was that this memorandum meant little change in future trade operations of the British empire, and particularly the United Kingdom, which already has restricted exports of certain goods which it now promises not to increase. The memorandum was presented by British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden to American Ambassador John G. Winant and released simultaneously in Washington and London.

Preliminary reports on the British agreement carried enthusiastic interpretations that the English would restrict steel exports to 40 per cent of the prewar level and take other drastic steps. The facts instead show that English steel exports are already well below that level.

British Policy Outlined.

The memorandum stated this policy of the British government:

1. To use all lend-lease materials for prosecution of war and to prevent diversion of lend-lease goods for private gain.

2. To refrain from exporting lend-lease goods which have reached England. [There have been persistent reports of lend-lease materials being reëxported to Latin America in competition with American producers, who are drastically curtailed by priority and export restrictions.]

3. Not to build up new world markets at the expense of American exporters by using materials similar to those supplied under the lend-lease act.

4. Exports have been more and more confined to [1] those for the supply of vital requirements of overseas countries, particularly in the sterling area, and [2] those shipped abroad for the acquisition of foreign exchange, particularly in the western hemisphere. The latter point has been the principal British argument for exports to the United States now larger than before the war.

Hull Is Unimpressed.

Even Secretary of State Cordell Hull, one of the most enthusiastic advocates of intervention and aid to Britain, was unimpressed by the memorandum.

Hull told his press conference that there appeared to be nothing very new in the lend-lease statement by Eden. The memorandum was drawn up, he said, because the two governments have undertaken to coöperate with each other in handling the exporting of lend-lease materials and redistribution. Hull said he thought British exports had been reduced tremendously.

Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.], who has called upon President Roosevelt to provide a statement on uses to which lend-lease funds have been put, especially because of evidence of misuse by British officials in Washington, declared "I would expect him [Eden] to deny it."

Viewed as Window Dressing.

Critical opinion was the Eden statement was mostly a job of window dressing to offset criticism of the uses to which lend-lease funds have been put, including purchases of alcohol, farm machinery, fertilizer, etc., and to counteract the suspicions that Britain is capitalizing on the war situation and American generosity to feather her own foreign trade nest.

New G. M. Cars Vie with War Plane at Show

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 10.—Five makes of new 1942 automobiles shared honors with 458 mile an hour military airplanes today as the General Motors corporation demonstrated the part it is taking in rearming the nation and helping to maintain the national economy on a stable basis.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the board, and C. E. Wilson, president, with other key executives, outlined in detail at a meeting at the company's proving grounds what General Motors already has accomplished and its objectives. Armaments come first, they said, but continued effort will be put forth to maintain the vast dealer organization on a sound financial basis as car production is cut.

Does Much Subcontracting

Wilson, saying that big business has its headaches and difficulties as well as small business, emphasized the efforts being made by the corporation to help small business thruout the nation thru the letting of subcontracts.

"Thru all our operating divisions we have probably had more experience in subcontracting than any other concern in the United States," Wilson said. "We buy hundreds of millions of dollars worth of parts and supplies from thousands of small companies thruout the country. We have appreciated the services of these suppliers for many years and we will continue to do business with them."

Wilson said the big corporations are in a better position to take care of subcontracting quickly and efficiently—an activity which promises relief for small business—than the procurement divisions of the army and navy which lack experience in this work.

Deprecates Metal Shortages.

Commenting on the reported materials shortages, including steel, Wilson said that there is undoubtedly a lack of some, but basic materials should be available, after all armament requirements, in quantities sufficient to maintain a minimum replacement of the so-called consumer durable goods, such as automobiles.

He said the corporation has received orders for 1 billion 200 million dollars of arms material, has shipped approximately 225 millions to date, and that about 200 millions more will be produced this year. He said the company should be able to handle almost twice its present orders.

The proving grounds were the scene of a thrilling military show. First Mark Heaney, test pilot for Bell Aircraft, put a 400 mile an hour Airacobra, powered with an Allison liquid cooled engine, thru breathtaking maneuvers.

Allison Speeds Engine Output.

Later six 458 mile an hour Lockheed "Lightning" interceptors, three more Airacobras, and several other pursuit craft zoomed and dived over a simulated battlefield. Officials disclosed that the Allison division of General Motors is now producing 700 engines a month and expects to be producing 1,000 a month by the end of the year.

Connected with the air show was an exhibition of other arms being produced by the corporation, including machine guns, anti-aircraft cannon, shells, and airplane parts.

Then the new Buick, Cadillac, Chevrolet, Oldsmobile, and Pontiac models were shown. All are much changed in appearance from the 1941 models. They are lower, the front ends are broader and there is an abundance of shiny materials for decorative purposes.

AUGUST BUILDING AWARDS AGAIN TOP HALF BILLION

New York, Sept. 10 [Special].—August engineering construction awards topped the half billion dollar mark for the third consecutive month and reached the fourth highest volume ever reported by Engineering News-Record, the magazine announced today. The total, $529,561,000, averaged $132,390,000 for each of the four weeks, and was 67 per cent above the average for the five weeks of August, 1940, but 31 per cent under the all-time high average week for July, 1941.

Private awards on the weekly average basis, were 10 per cent above August of last year and 6 per cent over July, 1941. Public construction was 82 per cent higher than a year ago, but 35 per cent lower than in July.

August volume brings 1941 construction to $4,329,627,000, a 103 per cent increase over the eight month total of 1940 and 8½ per cent higher than the $3,987,243,000 for all of last year.

ANGLO-AMERICAN AID FOR CHINESE DOLLAR; MAY HAMPER JAPAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG, Sept. 10.—Manuel A. Fox and his colleagues on the Chinese currency stabilization board today succeeded in persuading the Anglo-American banks to coöperate with the board's policy, as a result of which China has finally managed to have its currency virtually controled by the Anglo-American treasuries.

The blocking of China's dollar follows the Anglo-American credits freezing orders, the effects of which, however, were retarded while the banks remained willing to sell exchange in the "black [illegal] market" in Shanghai.

The board's decision means that the Japanese will be unable to manipulate the Chinese currency. Only approved persons may obtain foreign exchange for limited imports.

Board Named in Rail Crisis Meets Monday

President Roosevelt yesterday appointed a five-man fact-finding board, headed by Dean Wayne Lyman Morse of the University of Oregon law school, to investigate issues in the threatened strike of 1,250,000 railroad workers. The announcement was made at the President's Hyde Park, N. Y., home. Other members of the board:

Thomas Reed Powell, Harvard law professor; James Cummings Bonbright, professor of finance at Columbia university; Joseph Henry Willits, director of social sciences for the Rockefeller Foundation, and Huston Thompson, Washington, D. C., attorney.

Call Chicago Meeting.

The national railway mediation board announced in Washington that the board would meet in the Palmer House on Monday to decide in what city the proceedings of the emergency fact-finding board will be held, and to set a date and place for commencing the formal investigation designed to head off a strike.

After the President had issued a proclamation declaring an emergency and ordering the fact finding commission created, five of the 19 unions involved in the wage dispute—known as the big five operating brotherhoods—ordered an indefinite postponement of the strike which they had called to begin next Monday.

The other 14 nonoperating unions had scheduled their strike for today.

Law Provides Long Delays.

Under the law no actual strike can begin for at least 60 days. The commission has 30 days in which to hold hearings and report to President Roosevelt. After that, 30 more days must elapse before a strike can begin.

The national mediation board had attempted but failed to settle the controversy in conferences held here.

President Roosevelt, in his proclamation, said that the dispute between the labor unions and the roads "now threatens substantially to interrupt interstate commerce to a degree such as to deprive the country of essential transportation service."

People and Events

George H. Goessele has been elected cashier of the Industrial National Bank of Chic[illegal]go, of which he was formerly assistant cashier. Edwin J. Tietz, vice president, temporarily held the post of cashier.

Chester L. Jones, Terre Haute, Ind., has been elected a director of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad to fill a vacancy.

R. D. Cahn of the planning department of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE will speak on inflation at a luncheon meeting today of the Kiwanis club in the Hotel Sherman.

L. W. Downey has been appointed superintendent of automotive equipment of the Rock Island Lines. In this newly created post he will be responsible for the maintenance of all the company's Diesel and automotive equipment.

LITTLE BUSINESS FIGHTS BACK; DEMANDS TRUTH ON SHORTAGES

HALLECK TO SEEK AID AT ONCE FOR PRIORITY VICTIMS

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 10.—Representative Charles A. Halleck [R., Ind.] today said he will act at once to lay before congressional leaders the testimony given at an exploratory hearing here yesterday by small business men of Indiana who have felt the impact of the priorities of the national rearmament program.

Rep. C. E. Halleck.

Small manufacturers and business men of many lines from all over the state thronged the hearing to protest over the priorities. Many said they face ruin soon unless they can obtain raw materials.

The hearing was conducted by Representative Halleck as chairman of a committee of 20 congressmen appointed to inquire into the plight of small business.

Testimony to Be Published.

Halleck said steps will be taken to have the testimony published in pamphlet form so it may be distributed not only to his committee members, but to other congressional leaders and to executives of the Office of Production Management.

"This situation is critical," Halleck said. "Despite all I had heard from individuals, I had no idea of the seriousness nor the magnitude of the priorities' effects. There must be action at once!"

In addition to bringing to light concrete examples of reduced pay rolls, increased costs, loss of business, and actual shutdowns, the hearing revealed significant facts about Indiana's industrial structure. Because of the vast plants of Gary, Hammond, Whiting, and the Lake county district, many think of Indiana as a state of large industries. The opposite is true.

Backbone of Small Plants.

If the Lake county area be divorced, the great remainder of the state stands a stronghold of small manufacturers. They are the backbone of the state's industrial prosperity, it was stated recently after a survey.

Of the state's industries, 96.8 per cent employ less than 500 persons; 78.5 per cent employ fewer than 100, and almost 25 per cent have only a dozen or so names on their pay rolls, the survey showed. Thus their plight is much the same as that found in Illinois in a state department of labor survey: They are too small to equip for extensive arms contracts.

The other congressmen on Halleck's committee represent manufacturing states from coast to coast and yesterday's hearing may become the forerunner of scores of others.

TRADE BARRIERS TO BE DISCUSSED BY TWO GROUPS

Plans for eliminating trade barriers adversely affecting Illinois business interests will be discussed today at a joint meeting in the Palmer House of the trade barriers committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce and the Illinois legislative commission on intergovernmental coöperation. State manufacturers will be given an opportunity to present their problems to the commission.

The state group is headed by Bernice T. Van der Vries. The chamber of commerce committee is headed by Louis E. Leverone, vice president of Stein, Hall Manufacturing company. Delegations of state officials and state department heads are expected from Wisconsin, Indiana, Ohio, and other nearby states.

HOLIDAY WEEK'S DROP IN POWER LESS THAN USUAL

Last week's output of electric power in the United States was 3,095,746,000 kilowatt hours, a drop of 4 per cent from the preceding week's level but an increase of 19.4 per cent over that of the corresponding 1940 week. The decline reflected the Labor day holiday, but was less than seasonally expected, the Edison Electric Institute reported.

The Commonwealth Edison group of companies in the Chicago area reported an output of 142,529,000 kilowatt hours, a 14 per cent increase over the corresponding 1940 week.

Fears Federal Rule Will Force Many Firms to Close.

The Small Business Man's department will be found on page 27.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

A counterattack by small business against government edicts which threaten to snuff out thousands of little factories and shops was started yesterday by 500 representatives of small Illinois enterprises. They met at a luncheon of the Illinois division of the National Small Business Men's association in the Palmer House.

The group unanimously adopted a resolution which will be presented to Illinois' senators and representatives in congress Sept. 15 asking the appointment of a joint congressional fact-finding committee to determine the truth about the alleged shortages of materials. The resolution was submitted by Frederick A. Virkus, president of the Illinois division of the association.

The militant wording of the resolution was cheered by the business men in the first mass demonstration in the state against the encroachment of federal controls over material supplies.

Submitted Thru Brooks.

The small business men's petition will be submitted thru Senator Wayland Brooks to the Illinois delegation of 27 representatives and to the senior senator, Scott W. Lucas, Virkus said. Similar petitions are expected from other state groups of the association.

The resolution calls a fact finding committee to:

"1. Ascertain the facts about production, imports and exports, armament priorities, and surpluses of strategic materials for civilian uses.

"2. Ascertain the quantities of strategic and critical materials heretofore exported and earmarked for export in the future under the lend-lease act to England, Canada, China, Russia, and other countries.

"3. Ascertain what becomes of these materials. What proportions are used for the purpose intended [production of armaments], and what proportions are manufactured into consumers goods and offered for sale at home or abroad.

"4. Ascertain the extent of hoarding and bootlegging of materials."

Tell How to End Chaos.

The resolution concluded:

"Take the absolutely necessary step to get order out of the confusion and chaos in the administration of the armament program by insisting on a single head of the program with full authority and responsibility, and eliminating overlapping bureaus, commissions, and red tape."

The resolution began with a recital of the situation facing small business. It stated government spokesmen have admitted that a large proportion of smaller plants are doomed "because of the so-called shortage of materials" resulting from the needs for arms.

"There are about 470,000 small corporations thruout the land, of which number approximately 145,000 are now vitally affected by metals shortages due to the armament program to such an extent that a majority of these will be compelled to close their plants within a few months at the most if they cannot obtain armament orders or materials for essential civilian production," the statement said.

Holds Shortages Exaggerated.

"There is ample reason to believe, if the true condition were known, that shortage of materials is greatly exaggerated, and that for many of the materials at least, it will be found so if all the facts are disclosed."

Expressing skepticism of government assertions on the scarcity of materials, Virkus referred to a letter from Walter S. Tower, president of the American Iron and Steel institute.

"Full future requirements of the defense program are not predictable with any finality of exactness, and estimates are constantly changing," Tower's letter said. "But nothing has happened to date to dispute the fact that the steel industry has a capacity to supply the needs of defense several times over."

The Illinois division of the National Small Business Men's association today will conduct a "personal contact clinic" in the Palmer house. Small manufacturers will be enabled to meet representatives of large companies having government contracts and willing to share their work.

Tomorrow the group will participate in a meeting in the Morrison hotel called by the Midwest Conference of Mayors in the Morrison hotel. Unemployment caused by priorities will be discussed.

STOCKS RESUME RECESSION WITH FALL IN STAPLES

Buyers Are Frightened by Inflation Warning.

New York, Sept. 10 (AP).—The bull market in commodities today was halted by heavy selling and stocks, after feeble recovery efforts at the start, resumed the retreat that has marked most sessions since the beginning of September.

The Boston, Mass., speech of Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. received wide attention in Wall street. Traders noted the treasury official stressed the danger of inflation, warned, too, against heavier taxes and suggested stronger controls over bank credit and capital expenditures.

Closing Prices Near Lows.

Prices were up generally at the opening, but unimpressive action of the leaders brought a shift to the downside and closing prices were near the lows. Off 1 to 2 or more points were Union Pacific, du Pont, American Can, Douglas, Consolidated Aircraft, and Eastman.

Down fractions were many of the steels, motors, oils, and rails. Rubbers were resistant. International Nickel established a 1941 high.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite dipped .2 of a point at 43.8. It has recorded no advance since Sept. 2. Dealings were 524,260 shares, against 873,280 yesterday.

CHICAGO PRICES FALL.

Prices dropped on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Of 93 issues traded 60 declined, 17 advanced, and 16 remained unchanged. Transactions totaled 19,000 shares.

Volume leaders were Libby, 1,350 shares, unchanged at 5¾; Commonwealth Edison, 1,250 shares, off ¼ to 25½; Curtiss Wright, 900 shares, off ⅝ to 9⅝; United States Rubber, 900 shares, up ⅛ to 25⅝, and Swift, 550 shares, off ⅛ to 24.

In the last half hour, after the close of the New York exchange, two dually traded stocks changed in price. General Motors advanced ⅛ and United States Rubber declined ⅛.

STOCK OF HARRIS BANK PLACED ON $12 ANNUAL BASIS

Directors of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago yesterday voted to place the bank stock on a regular dividend basis of $12 per year, instead of the $10 annual dividend and the $2 extra payment formerly made. A quarterly dividend of $3 was authorized payable Oct. 1. This brings to $12.50 the amount paid this year, which includes three quarterly payments of $2.50 each and an extra payment in January of $2. The bank paid $12 in 1940.

Grumman Aircraft Engineering corporation, however, declared a dividend of 50 cents against a preceding payment of 75 cents in December, 1940. The Coca-Cola Bottling company of New York voted a $1 dividend against a $2 payment made in December, 1940.

SOY BEAN CROP TO SET RECORD, U. S. PREDICTS

Total Placed at Over 110 Million Bushels.

With all planting restrictions removed to provide additional sources for domestic oils, the department of agriculture predicted yesterday that the soy bean crop would be the largest on record. It said the production of this bean, which has come to the fore as a major farm product only in the last decade, would be close to 110,884,000 bushels. Soy bean oil is used both industrially and in manufacture of certain food products.

The government's estimate was the first indication the grain trade has had of the size of this year's soy bean crop. The forecast yield, based on Sept. 1 conditions, exceeded trade guesses by five to 6 million bushels. Last year the United States harvested 79,837,000 bushels of beans.

Corn Crop Above Forecasts.

That adverse weather conditions hadn't damaged the corn crop near to the extent many crop observers had predicted was revealed in the government's forecast of a crop of 2,523,964,000 bushels. This was more than 28 million bushels above trade estimates.

A month ago the department had predicted a 2,587,574,000 bushel corn crop against 2,449,200,000 bushels last year and a ten year [1930-'39] average of 2,307,452,000 bushels.

Winter wheat production this year, the preliminary estimate shows, was 684,966,000 bushels compared with 589,151,000 last year and 569,417,000 the 10 year average.

Lifts Spring Wheat Estimate.

The department raised its estimate of spring wheat production to 272,597,000 bushels from 265,987,000 forecast a month ago. Production last year was 227,547,000 bushels and the ten-year average 178,090,000 bushels. This raised the total supply of wheat available for consumption in the United States this year to more than 1,350,000,000 bushels, far more than is needed on the average for two years.

The indicated production on Sept. 1 of other crops compared with 1940 yields, follow in thousands of bushels:

	Est. 1941.	1940.
Oats	1,129,575	1,235,268
Barley	349,596	309,235
Rye	46,462	40,601

Canadian Harvest Small.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 10 (AP).—The dominion bureau of statistics today estimated Canada's total wheat production in 1941 at 306,459,000 bushels, a reduction of 244,931,000 bushels from 1940.

Small BUSINESS MAN'S Department

This department is prepared to help the small business man who is seeking information on priorities, substitute materials, and related subjects. Inquiries should be directed to the Small Business Man's department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. All inquiries will be given careful attention. Letters on subjects of broad interest will be published and commented on.

MORE BELT TIGHTENING.

Small business men will have to fight aggressively to keep their enterprises going, it is agreed, as the full implications of an armament economy become clearer.

Competent business analysts who have watched closely the new developments in the armament program predict growing severity of government clamps on nonessential and less essential civilian business.

Shutdowns Believed Certain.

Business dislocations, shutdowns, shortages are expected to become more grave, more disturbing in the remaining months of this year.

Business men not now troubled with restrictions on their supplies should look ahead to determine whether shortages are developing.

Purchasing agents should make repeated checks with their suppliers and keep constantly informed on factors affecting the flow of materials into their plants.

The seemingly trivial materials should not be overlooked because the lack of one small part may block the completion of an entire assembly.

Seek to Spread Work.

The OPM and the army and navy contracting officers are promoting the recently developed program of spreading contracts and subcontracts among small factories, especially in one-industry towns and where unemployment hardships may occur.

If you are producing military or essential civilian goods [there is no clear cut line between essential and less essential and nonessential, as yet] you may be able to obtain assistance from the priorities division of the OPM.

1,000 MORE MADE IDLE.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 10 (AP).—Two plants of the American Car and Foundry company, working on orders for hundreds of railroad freight cars, were closed today after the management had posted notices ascribing the shutdown to a shortage of materials. One thousand employés were affected, 400 in a steel plant and 600 in a woodworking plant. The Madison, Ill., plant of the company, which employs 800 men, has been closed for several weeks because of a shortage of materials.

ZENITH PROFITS CUT BY INABILITY TO GET MATERIAL

Shipments Fall Despite Increased Demand.

Inability to obtain sufficient raw materials for radio production resulted in a 50 per cent cut in the earnings of Zenith Radio corporation in the three months ended July 31, first quarter of the company's fiscal year, E. F. McDonald Jr., president, reported yesterday.

"Shipments during the first two months of the quarter were limited," McDonald said, "because of inability to get sufficient quantities of certain materials. This situation was somewhat relieved during the third month. However, total shipments for the quarter were below those of a year ago."

McDonald said the materials problem is the only limiting factor in supplying a demand for the company's products, "which has greatly exceeded that of any previous year."

Shipping Arms Materials.

He said shipments have started on rearmament contracts and it is expected "they will be sufficient at least to take up any slack that may develop in the production of regular products due to possible curtailments of materials for civilian use."

The Zenith company, which has main offices and its principal plant in Chicago, earned $302,956 before federal income and excess profits taxes during the quarter. This compared with $651,136 before federal taxes in the corresponding 1940 period. The company estimated federal income taxes for the 1941 period at $91,000.

Western Union Telegraph company reported a July net income of $603,959, compared with $63,623 in July last year. Its profits for the seven months ended July 31 were $4,039,858, or $1.51 a share, in the corresponding 1940 period.

President A. N. Williams said that if the improvement is maintained thruout the remainder of the year, Western Union's business for the entire year will be its best since 1930.

BIG REFUNDING ISSUE VOTED BY A. T. & T. BOARD

Asks SEC to Speed 90 Million Program.

American Telephone and Telegraph company's directors yesterday authorized officers of the company to file with the Securities and Exchange commission a registration statement and prospectus covering an issue of 90 million dollars of 35 year 2¾ per cent debentures.

The company asked the SEC to rush the registration so that it can invite competitive bids at an early date. The company plans to sell the huge issue of notes to get funds with which to redeem on Nov. 1 this year its 20 year sinking fund 5½ per cent gold debenture bonds due Nov. 1, 1943. About 94 million dollars of the bonds are outstanding.

Plan Chemical Stock Sale.

Victor Chemical Works, Chicago, announced it has arranged with F. Eberstadt & Co., Inc., for the underwriting and distribution of 54,000 shares of its authorized but unissued common stock. August Kochs, president of the chemical company, said a special meeting of stockholders will be called shortly to vote on proposed issuance of the new shares.

The proceeds of the sale would be used to retire a long term bank loan and to provide additional working capital needed for expansion, it was said.

Midvale Increases Stock.

At a special meeting in Philadelphia stockholders of the Midvale company approved the proposed increase in authorized shares without par value from 200,000 to 600,000 shares. Two additional shares for each share held will be distributed to stockholders of record Oct. 10.

Halsey Stuart & Co., Inc., was the successful bidder on $1,260,000 of 2 per cent Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad equipment trust certificates. Reoffering will be made subject to Interstate Commerce commission approval at prices to yield .40 and 2.50 per cent, according to maturity.

STEEL INDUSTRY SETS RECORD IN AUGUST OUTPUT

American steel mills broke all previous production records for like periods during August and during the first eight months of this year, the American Iron and Steel institute announced yesterday.

August production of ingots was 7,000,967 net tons, 13 per cent more than the 6,186,383 tons which set the previous August record in 1940.

Output during the first eight months of the year climbed to 54,731,182 net tons, more than 32 per cent above the 41,316,410 net tons turned out in the like 1940 period. The previous record for the eight months was 44,137,164 tons, produced in 1929.

Subsidiaries of United States Steel corporation reported August shipments of finished steel totaled 1,753,665 net tons, a new all-time record for a single month. This compared with 1,455,604 tons in August, 1940, and 1,666,667 tons in July, 1941. The previous monthly record was 1,745,295 tons, produced this year in May.

Shipments for the first eight months, an all-time high for the period, totaled 13,473,209 tons, compared with 9,040,889 in the corresponding 1940 period and 12,187,424 in the previous peak period in 1929.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Blue Heron Routed.

Sept. 10, 1941.

THE white swans which have their own private pool on the Du Page county farm do not display any "welcome" signs around their home, judging by the way they treated a blue heron this week. The pool occupied by the big white birds [in the center of one of the farm fields] is one of several small ponds visited by various species of water birds from spring until late fall. A few days ago a long-legged blue heron lazily flew from the large farm pond to the one which belongs to the swans. The visitor dropped down near the water's edge to look for frogs and other food.

No sooner had this bird settled down than the swans revealed their aggressive, inhospitable dispositions. They gave the surprised bird a gang rush and drove him from the pond. The harassed bird took off and headed for one of the other farm pools where the ducks, sandpipers, and other birds are more friendly.

Bird Walks into Trap.

The herons seem to be covering a lot of ground this fall. Shortly before this big blue heron was attacked by the swans a black crowned night heron [another common farm visitor] found itself in trouble when it walked into a wire trap. On the largest pond there is a pretty good sized wire trap which was built last year for the purpose of catching waterfowl.

It was installed after the government fish and wild life service issued a permit for this purpose. Extremely low water last fall made it impossible to operate this trap but it's still near the edge of the pond. And the entrance of the wire enclosure is open.

Easy to Get Out.

When we walked around the pond a few days ago we were surprised to see a bird in this trap. It was a black crowned night heron. Our first thought was to get a pair of hip boots in order to wade out and release the inquisitive bird. But with the entrance open we figured that this heron ought to get out all right. As soon as we came close to the trap the heron looked for an exit, walked thru it, flew to the far end of the pond and calmly went about his business of making life miserable for frogs, small bullheads, crawfish, and other foods.

Besides blue and night herons, we usually have a few egrets visiting the farm ponds at this time of the year. So far we haven't seen one of the beautiful snow white egrets on any of the ponds. It's likely that the birds have access to so many pools and small ponds created during the heavy rains in recent weeks that they do not need to come to the farm to get food.
